Bucuvalas,1980 Reporting of Social Science in the National Media Carol Weiss,Eleanor Singer,1988-08-04 Policy makers as well as the general public are often unaware of social science research until a story about it appears in the national media Even in official Washington a staffer s report on social research may go unnoticed while a report in the Washington Post receives immediate attention This study takes a systematic and revealing look at social science reporting How do journalists hear about social science and why do they select certain stories to cover and not others How do journalistic standards for selection compare with social scientists own judgments of merit How do reporters attempt to ensure accuracy and how freely do they introduce their own interpretations of social science findings How satisfied are social scientists with the selection and accuracy of social science news In Part I Carol H Weiss addresses these questions on the basis of personal interviews with social scientists and the journalists who wrote about their work Part II by Eleanor Singer is based on an analysis of media content itself and compares social science reporting over time between

1970 and 1982 and across media newspapers newsmagazines television These two complementary perspectives combine to produce a thorough realistic assessment of the way social science moves out of the academy and into the world of news

Ebook: Research Design and Methods: A Process Approach Kenneth Bordens, Bruce Barrington Abbott, 2014-10-16 Research Design and Methods A Process Approach takes students through the research process from getting and developing a research idea to designing and conducting a study through analyzing and reporting data Information on the research process is presented in a lively and engaging way highlighting the numerous decisions both big and small that must be made when designing and conducting successful research The Humanities, the Social Sciences and the University Harry Redner, 2023-05-31 The Humanities the Social Sciences and the University is an intellectual history of research in the humanities and social sciences It scrutinizes the priorities values objectives and publishing agendas of the modern university in order to assess the institutional pressures on research in major disciplines such as literature history sociology and economics It argues that all these disciplines are currently experiencing a deep malaise though to different degrees due to loss of faith in the Enlightenment project which entailed the pursuit of knowledge through reason Extreme scepticism promoted since the 1970s by French Theory which regards knowledge as an instrument of power is a major factor in this disorientation Overall the book concludes that though universities have grown stronger wealthier and more powerful in the last century the quality and seriousness of the research they typically produce are weaker and intellectually less important and the institution is in danger of losing its way An accessible and compelling read this book will appeal to scholars of sociology education and intellectual history with interests in higher education policy and academic life Bibliometrics in Social Work Gary Holden, Gary Rosenberg, Kathleen Barker, 2013-01-11 Bibliometrics in Social Work examines the cross disciplinary field of bibliometrics including the multiple techniques and applications that have been described in the scholarly literature Moving beyond this general overview the authors examine applications of bibliometrics in social work Subsequent chapters detail how the technique can be used to demonstrate the eventual impact on the field of publications in selected journals These analyses are conducted using the bibliometric technique referred to as citation analysis The authors then move on to present what will be a controversial proposal to some in the field using bibliometrics techniques in making academic personnel decisions The authors propose that hiring retention tenure and promotion decisions could be made more uniform and fair by using citation analysis A series of experts in bibliometric analyses then critically respond to these initial chapters The authors conclude by weaving their responses to these commentators with new scholarship on bibliometrics that has recently appeared This unique book is a valuable aid for social work scholars Drawing on broad interdisciplinary streams of scholarship from around the world the collection illuminates a field that is not well known to social workers While cautiously advocating for a number of applications of the technique the authors balance this position by presenting a comprehensive summary of the criticisms of the technique and by the inclusion of a series of critical commentaries by the leading experts on these issues in the field of social work Bibliometrics in Social Work both summarizes what we know and pushes the field to think about how social work professionals can use this approach to improve our scholarship and the evaluation of scholars Bibliometrics in Social Work addresses theoretical and methodological issues pros and cons from the view of numerous bibliometric scholars bibliometrics outside of social work applications within social work previously reported in the literature estimates that have been reported in the literature of how much social workers publish and how much impact those publications have had how citation analysis can be used to analyzed a selection of publications in a single journal and their subsequent impact how citation analysis might be used to improve academic employment decisions concerns regarding self citation and multiple authorship measurement issues in bibliometrics e g age adjustments concentration citedness and uncitedness the Price Index lag times persistence synchronous and diachronous self citations the Multiple Author Qualifier Bibliometrics in Social Work critically examines these methods and their applications in social work The book will be an enlightening read for social work scholars and those academic administrators involved in the evaluation of social work scholars as well as academic librarians that support social work programs Psychology in
