,1923 Snake Identification in the Ancient Egyptian Brooklyn Medical Papyrus Nicholas R. Casewell,Edmund S. Meltzer,Gonzalo M. Sanchez,Gordon W. Schuett,Wolfgang Wuster,2024-04-15 This book is about snakebite and snake identification in ancient Egypt The authors in a remarkable collaboration between the fields of Egyptology medicine herpetology biology and ecology offer a new examination of the Brooklyn Medical Papyrus better known as the Snakebite Papyrus a pragmatic medical treatise concerned with snake identification snakebite and treatment Dating to sometime in the seventh through fourth centuries BCE the document is the first known structured treatise on snakebites from antiquity The preserved paragraphs name 24 snakes and one chameleon providing a brief description of the snake sometimes its habits the appearance of its bite and the effects on the victim The papyrus was intended to enable the ancient physician to identify the snake from the description given by the patient in order to give appropriate prognosis and treatment As there was little effective treatment for snake bites in ancient Egypt sometimes the physician resorted to magical incantations to invoke divine assistance The Snakebite Papyrus was first translated into French by Serge Sauneron and published posthumously in 1989 Major advances in fields such as biogeography climate and niche modeling and linguistics in the past thirty years have brought new perspectives The authors provide a review of Sauneron's and more recent studies and bring their own investigations results and comparisons to further clarify this remarkable historical document The Power of the Bull

Michael Rice,2014-02-25 Everyone has heard of the Minotaur in the labyrinth on Crete and many know that the Greek gods would adopt the guise of a bull to seduce mortal women But what lies behind these legends The Power of the Bull discusses mankind's enduring obsession with bulls The bull is an almost universal symbol throughout Indo-European cultures Bull cults proliferated in the Middle East and in many parts of North Africa and one cult Mithraism was the greatest rival to Christianity in the Roman Empire The Cults are divergent yet have certain core elements in common Michael Rice argues that the ancient bulls were the supreme sacrificial animal An examination of evidence from earliest prehistory onwards reveals the bull to be a symbol of political authority sexual potency economic wealth and vast subterranean powers In some areas representations of the bull have varied little from earliest times in others it has changed vastly over centuries This volume provides a well illustrated and accessible analysis of the exceptionally rich artistic inheritance associated with the bull

Archaeology Meets Science Holley Martlew, Martin Jones, 2008-03-14 The Archaeology meets Science project is currently transforming our understanding of the Minoan and Mycenaean civilisations through the in depth application of state of the art scientific analyses to ceramic artefacts and skeletal material This book is the fruit of this acclaimed research which was carried out between 1997 and 2003 and presented in an exhibition in a number of museums across Europe and the United States starting with the National Archaeological Museum in Athens Moving beyond the standard archaeological format of illustrations with descriptions of contexts the book analyses each object from the inside and consequently each has a different story to tell Organic residue and stable isotope analysis has extended our knowledge beyond anything previously gleaned through conventional archaeological research and we now have a much better understanding of the food and drink consumed by ordinary people in Bronze Age Greece There are some fascinating insights such as the origin of modern Greek retsina which was traced first to the time of Agamemnon then to Crete in the 17th century BC and finally to the Early Minoan Period c 2000 BC The book provides the primary scientific evidence on which the world renowned scientists who have carried out this work have based their conclusions
