Rhetoric, History, and Women's Oratorical Education

David Gold, Catherine L. Hobbs, 2013-05-02 Historians of rhetoric have long worked to recover women's education in reading and writing but have only recently begun to explore women's speaking practices from the parlor to the platform to the varied types of institutions where women learned elocutionary and oratorical skills in preparation for professional and public life This book fills an important gap in the history of rhetoric and suggests new paths for the way histories may be told in the future tracing the shifting arc of women's oratorical training as it develops from forms of eighteenth century rhetoric into institutional and extrainstitutional settings at the end of the nineteenth century and diverges into several distinct streams of community embodied theory and practice in the twentieth century. Treating key rhetorical genres, settings, and movements from the early republic to the present, these essays collectively challenge and complicate many previous claims made about the stability and development of gendered public and private spheres, the decline of oratorical culture, and the limits of women's oratorical forms such as elocution and parlor rhetorics, and women's responses to rhetorical constraints on their public speaking. Enriching our understanding of women's oratorical education and practice, this cutting-edge work makes an important contribution to scholarship in rhetoric and communication.

Scottish Philosophy of Rhetoric Rosaleen Keefe, 2014-03-25 The popular and successful rhetorical textbooks produced by the 18th-century Scottish philosophical tradition, such as George Campbell's The Philosophy of Rhetoric (1776), Hugh Blair's Lectures on Rhetoric and Belles Lettres (1783), and Alexander Bain's English Composition and Rhetoric (1877), have been widely accorded a role in the trajectories of 19th- and 20th-century literary theory. Scholars have generally overlooked them, however, as philosophical works. The selected writings chosen for this volume show how these rhetorical textbooks were a practical extension of the philosophy of language developed by 18th-century Scottish philosophers Francis Hutcheson, Adam Smith, Thomas Reid, Adam Ferguson, Alexander Gerard, and Henry Home, Lord Kames, advanced a radically new paradigm of language as an inherently mediated practice directed simultaneously to personal and social, moral and aesthetic uses. This Scottish philosophy of rhetoric powerfully influenced the teaching of language and literacy as tools for social and educational innovation. This volume, the first of its kind, offers a wide variety of writings on rhetoric and rhetorical theory selected in a way that reveals their intimate connection with the Scottish philosophical tradition.

Fracking and the Rhetoric of Place Justin Mando, 2021-10-19 Fracking and the Rhetoric of Place investigates the rhetorical strategies of speakers at public hearings on hydraulic fracturing (fracking) in order to understand how places shape and are shaped by citizens as they engage in their democracy. As an important argumentative resource in environmental controversy, the rhetoric of place helps citizens situate themselves within local contexts and raise their voices in times of social conflict. Justin Mando uses rhetorical analysis, discourse analysis, and corpus analysis to offer scholars of place-based rhetoric and environmental communication a heuristic approach to studying their own sites. This approach reveals that place-based arguments are a ubiquitous rhetorical resource in the dispute over hydraulic fracturing that shapes how the issue is perceived. Pro-frackers and anti-frackers use rhetoric of place in striking ways that reveal their values, motivations, strengths, and weaknesses. Place functions as an interface of potential common ground that connects the local to the global, what is here to what is there. Scholars and students of rhetoric, communication, and environmental studies will find this book particularly interesting.

The Selected Writings of John Witherspoon

Thomas P. Miller, 2015-10-07 Considered the first significant teacher of rhetoric in America John Witherspoon also introduced Scottish moral philosophy to this country and as president of Princeton University reformed the curriculum to give emphasis to both studies He was an active pamphleteer on religious and political issues and a signer of the Declaration of Independence Editor Thomas P Miller argues that Witherspoon s career exemplifies the Ciceronian ideal and the eight selections Miller presents from the 1802 American edition of the Works corroborate that claim This paperback edition includes a new preface by the editor that surveys the scholarship published on Witherspoon over the past twenty five years and discusses how Miller s own perspective on Witherspoon has changed during that time

Contemporary Composition Studies Edith Babin, Kimberly Harrison, 1999-12-30 Composition studies is a rapidly growing and constantly changing field At present however graduate students new to the field and writing teachers who want to make new connections between theory and practice have little choice of current reference works that define key terms in composition studies and provide information about the scholars and researchers who have shaped and are shaping the discipline This book supplies this information in an easily accessible format and places both scholars and terms in the context of the field s development Included are alphabetically arranged entries for 108 individuals who have developed the field and 128 terms central to the discipline The first part of the book provides entries for leaders in composition studies Each entry identifies the areas in which the scholar has contributed most influentially to the field and provides both a chronological overview of the person s contributions and a bibliography of representative works The second part includes entries for terms that are problematic both for newcomers and for those already familiar with the discipline The entries for the terms show how the disciplinary context has shaped the ways in which they have been used The entries also indicate how established thinkers in composition studies and other disciplines have explained or defined the terms provide examples of the terms in context and list scholars often associated with them An appendix includes entries for scholars from other disciplines who have contributed to the field

 Richard Leo Enos, David Beard, 2007-12-15 Advances in the History of Rhetoric The First Six Years is a comprehensive collection of 29 scholarly essays published during the first phase of the journal's history. Research from prominent and developing scholars that was once difficult to acquire is now offered in a coherent and comprehensive collection that is complemented by a detailed index and unified bibliography. This collection covers a range of periods and topics in the history of rhetoric including Greek and Roman rhetoric, rhetoric and religion, women in the history of rhetoric, rhetoric and science, Renaissance and British rhetorical theory, rhetoric and culture, and the development of American rhetoric and composition. The editors Richard Leo Enos and David E. Beard provide a preface and afterword that synthesize the mission and meaning of this work for students and scholars of the history of rhetoric.

Lectures on Rhetoric and Belles Lettres, 2005 This new edition of Hugh Blair's Lectures on Rhetoric and Belles Lettres edited by Linda Ferreira Buckley and S. Michael Halloran answers the need for a complete, reliable text. The book seeks to generate a renewed interest in Blair by provoking new inquiries into the tradition of belletristic rhetoric and by serving as both aid and incentive to others who may join in the project of improving understanding of this landmark rhetorical scholarship. This edition contains forty-seven lectures and remains faithful to the text of the 1785 London edition. The editors contextualize Hugh Blair's motivations and thinking by providing in their introduction an extended account of Blair's life and era. The bibliography of works by and about Blair is an invaluable aid surpassing previous research on Blair. Although the extent of its influence cannot be measured fully, Blair's Lectures on Rhetoric and Belles Lettres was undoubtedly a primary vehicle for introducing many eighteenth and nineteenth-century scholars to classical rhetoric and French belletristic rhetoric; its success due in part to the ease with which the lectures combine neoclassical and Enlightenment thought, accommodating emerging social concerns. Ferreira Buckley and Halloran's extensive treatment revives the tradition of belletristic rhetoric, improving the understanding of Blair's place in the study of eighteenth and nineteenth-century discourse while finding him relevant in the twenty-first century.

Encyclopedia of Language & Linguistics E. K. Brown, 2006 Rhetoric in the European Tradition Thomas Conley, 1994 Rhetoric in the European Tradition provides a survey for the basic models of rhetoric as they developed from the early Greeks to the twentieth century. Discussing rhetorical theories in the context of the times of political and intellectual crisis that gave rise to them, Thomas Conley chooses carefully from the vast pool of rhetorical literature to give voice to those authors who exercised influence in their own and succeeding generations.

Twentieth-Century Rhetorics and Rhetoricians Michael G. Moran, Michelle Ballif, 2000-08-30 Rhetoric and rhetorical theory have been gaining in prominence throughout the 20th century. As leaders in all fields give careful attention to issues in communication, rhetoric becomes increasingly central to a range of disciplines. Many of these leaders have shaped rhetorical theory through their work in other fields, and rhetoric becomes more and more difficult to define and delimit. This reference is a guide to major trends and developments in rhetoric and rhetorical theory during the last 100 years Included are alphabetically arranged entries for major and minor rhetoricians such as Mikhail Bakhtin Roland Barthes Wayne Booth Paul de Man Jacques Derrida Peter Elbow and Linda Flower Each entry is written by an expert contributor and includes a brief biography an analysis of the figure s rhetorical theory and a current bibliography of primary and secondary sources The figures included represent a range of rhetorical schools An extensive introduction discusses these schools and the volume concludes with extensive bibliographical material

Adam Smith Stephen J. McKenna,2006-01-01 Students Writing in the University Carys Jones,Joan Turner,Brian Street,2000-01-15 This volume aims to raise awareness of the underlying complexities concerning student writing in the universities The authors address a series of theoretical as well as practical questions regarding the literacies required of students in Higher Education from the perspective of both students themselves and of their tutors The research described here intends to move beyond the narrow confines of current policy debates and the quick fix solutions of writing manuals to explore the epistemological cultural historical and theoretical bases of such writing Issues addressed include the nature of competing epistemologies that underlie the writing process and the varying degrees of explicitness about what academic writing entails ways of challenging the institutional marginalisation of academic writing as teaching learning and research practice what counts as knowledge and how far it is mediated by the rhetorical conventions of one culture to what extent the challenging of such rhetorical conventions is itself a crucial epistemological issue Writing in this volume then is addressed in terms of academic literacy practices involving relations of power issues of identity and theories of knowledge
