Energy Abstracts for Policy Analysis, 1989 Commodity and Resource Policies in Agricultural Systems Richard E. Just, Nancy Bockstael, 2012-12-06 Agricultural natural resource and environmental problems are becoming increasingly interdependent For example soil erosion is largely determined by agricultural land use Both water use and water contamination depend on land use and technology choice in agriculture In many areas the fertilizers and pesticides used in agriculture are major pollutants of ground and surface water having adverse effects on drinking water and fisheries Agricultural pollutants such as pesticides also produce adverse health effects for agricultural workers and the consuming public On the other hand the availability of water resources and the value of competing land uses influence agricultural production Additionally regional air quality problems may affect crops and global environmental trends may have long term implications for farming Agriculture natural resources and environmental quality are all heavily regulated in the U S but they are done so by a vast array of competing or unrelated agencies within the U S Departments of Agriculture Interior and Commerce the Environmental Protection Agency and numerous state agencies Considering the large number of bureaucratically remote public agencies involved and the pervasive interdependencies between agriculture natural resources and the environment policies develop which are at best uncoordinated and at worst conflicting and counterproductive These policies have become sources of controversy as different interest groups struggle to affect their implementation as different agencies have fought for administrative control and as legislative bodies have attempted to enact piecemeal changes

Productivity Effects of Cropland Erosion in the United States Pierre R. Crosson, 2016-03-17 In the 1970 s agriculture in the United States seemed to be booming With an extra demand for crops extra acres were taken on to increase production which was predicted to increase further with an ever growing population However concerns were beginning to be raised over the adequacy of land for crops as potential croplands began to be converted into urban areas as well as the effects of soil erosion decreasing the quality of these croplands Originally published in 1983 this study investigates the threats to crop productivity in the U S with a focus on human made problems This title will be of interest to students of environmental studies Agricultural Resources and Environmental Indicators, Agriculture Handbook No. 712, 1996-97, 1997

Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies

Appropriations for 1997 United States. Congress. House. Committee on Appropriations Subcommittee on Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies, 1996 Using the Agricultural, Environmental, and Food Literature Barbara S. Hutchinson, Antoinette Paris-Greider, 2002-07-17 This text discusses a wide range of print and electronic media to locate hard to find documents navigate poorly indexed subjects and investigate specific research topics and subcategories It includes a chapter on grey and extension literature covering technical reports and international issues

Towards greener urbanization: Resource environmental effects and sustainable land use Guanghui Jiang, Yanbo Qu, Wenqiu Ma, Dingyang Zhou, 2023-04-11 Current Issues in Natural Resource Policy Paul R. Portney, 2016-03-17 This volume offers an objective view of some of the most critical issues in natural resources Written in nontechnical language it uses ideas drawn from economics to look at the issues examine how government laws and policies have caused some of them arise and to find ways in which problems can be lessened Originally published in 1982 this is a valuable resource for students interested in environmental studies and public policy The Environmental Effects of Reforming Agricultural Policies OECD, 1998-02-24 Through examining concrete policy experiences from OECD countries this study concludes that agricultural policy reforms can improve the environment provided they are accompanied by appropriate environmental measures

Food Security In The United States William B. Lacey, Lawrence M. Busch, 2021-01-07 Despite the fact that every year it produces a larger surplus of agricultural products than any other country in the world the U S still must contend with a number of important but often unaddressed issues related to food security including problems of soil erosion water supply energy availability nutrition farm worker health and safety and product distribution This book containing contributions from authorities in both the natural and social sciences expands the range of issues pertinent to the security of the U S food system taking into account the adequacy and sustainability of the food supply equity in access to food by the entire population the nutritional quality of food and the costs and benefits social economic and health of the food system as it is presently organized Each of the authors considers an aspect of U S food security from the point of view of a specific discipline as well as in terms of broader policy implications Science in the Mission Agencies and Federal

Aesthetics and the Environment Allen Carlson, 2005-08-08 Traditional aesthetics is often associated with the appreciation of art Allen Carlson shows how much of our aesthetic experience does not encompass art but nature in our response to sunsets mountains or horizons or more mundane surroundings like gardens or the view from our window He argues that knowledge of what it is we are appreciating is essential to having an appropriate aesthetic experience and that scientific understanding of nature can enhance our appreciation of it rather than denigrate it Soil & Water

Conservation News ,1983 The Vanishing Farmland Crisis John Baden,2021-10-08 Newspapers seem to be telling us that every cornfield is threatened by a Dairy Queen This media barrage about the crisis of our shrinking farmland can be traced to the 1979 publication of Where Have All the Farmlands Gone by the National Agricultural Lands Study The NALS report to which eleven federal agencies contributed argued that land use planning and control must be employed to protect valuable farmland from urban sprawl This volume a collection of essays by a distinguished group of economists including Theodore W Schultz Julian L Simon and Pierre Crosson takes issue with the belief that croplands need governmental protection In opposition the collection as a whole supports two theses 1 shrinking farm acreage is not a serious problem and 2 individual choices by landowners in a market setting result in better organized land use than would governmental land use planning and regulation Published for the Political Economy Research Center Bozeman Montana Role of Educational

A Framework for Assessing Effects of the Food System National Research Council,Institute of Medicine,Board on Agriculture and Natural Resources,Food and Nutrition Board,Committee on a Framework for Assessing the Health, Environmental, and Social Effects of the Food System,2015-06-17 How we produce and consume food has a bigger impact on Americans well being than any other human activity The food industry is the largest sector of our economy food touches everything from our health to the environment climate change economic inequality and the federal budget From the earliest developments of agriculture a major goal has been to attain sufficient foods that provide the energy and the nutrients needed for a healthy active life Over time food production processing marketing and consumption have evolved and become highly complex The challenges of improving the food system in the 21st century will require systemic approaches that take full account of social economic ecological and evolutionary factors Policy or business interventions involving a segment of the food system often have consequences beyond the original issue the intervention was meant to address A Framework for Assessing Effects of the Food System develops an analytical framework for assessing effects associated with the ways in which food is grown processed distributed marketed retailed and consumed in the United States The framework will allow users to recognize effects across the full food system consider all domains and dimensions of effects account for systems dynamics and complexities and choose appropriate methods for analysis This report provides example applications of the framework based on complex questions that are currently under debate consumption of a healthy and safe diet food security animal welfare and preserving the environment and its resources A Framework for Assessing Effects of the Food System describes the U S food system and provides a brief history of its evolution into the current system This report identifies some of the real and potential implications of the current system in terms of its health environmental and socioeconomic effects

along with a sense for the complexities of the system potential metrics and some of the data needs that are required to assess the effects The overview of the food system and the framework described in this report will be an essential resource for decision makers researchers and others to examine the possible impacts of alternative policies or agricultural or food processing practices Alternative Agricultural and Food Policies and the 1985 Farm Bill Gordon C. Rausser, Kenneth R. Farrell, 2016-03-17 In 1985 the U S Congress confronted the difficult and complex task of developing a 5 year omnibus legislation allowing for lower commodity prices But policies predicated on the concept of agriculture as a unique sector of the economy became less and less appropriate to the highly interdependent open agricultural economy throughout the 1980s First published in 1985 this collection of 16 papers and related discussions contained in these proceedings is an important contribution toward understanding the issues options and dilemmas in U S agricultural policy This is an ideal title for students interested in environmental studies agriculture and national policy
