Pahlman,1987 Creating Interdisciplinarity Lisa R. Lattuca,2001 Interdisciplinarity a favorite buzzword of faculty and administrators has been appropriated to describe so many academic pursuits that it is virtually meaningless With a writing style that is accessible fluid and engaging Lisa Lattuca remedies this confusion with an original conceptualization of interdisciplinarity based on interviews with faculty who are engaged in its practice Whether exploring the connections between apparently related disciplines such as English and women s studies or such seemingly disparate fields as economics and theology Lattuca moves away from previous definitions based on the degrees of integration across disciplines and instead focuses on the nature of the inquiry behind the work She organizes her findings around the processes through which faculty pursue interdisciplinarity the contexts institutional departmental and disciplinary in which faculty are working and the ways in which those contexts relate to and affect the interdisciplinary work Her findings result in useful suggestions for individuals concerned with the meaning of faculty work the role and impact of disciplines in academe today and the kinds of issues that should guide the evaluation of faculty scholarship

International Perspectives On Psychological Science, II: The State of the Art Paul Bertelson,Paul Eelen,Gery d'Ydewalle,2013-05-24 The essays appearing in these two volumes are based on Keynote Vol 1 and State of the Art Vol 2 Lectures delivered at the XXVth International Congress of Psychology in Brussels July 1992 The Brussels Congress was the latest in a series of conferences which are organized at regular intervals under the auspices of the International Union of Psychological Science IUPsyS the main international organization in the field of Scientific Psychology The first of those meetings took place in Paris in 1889. An important function of the International Congresses is to promote communication between different specializations in Psychology. Speakers were therefore asked to present lectures and discussions in their own fields of study in a way that would be accessible to fellow psychologists active in other fields. State of the Art lecturers were specifically asked to prepare a tutorial review on a topic which in the view of the Program Committee had recently given rise to particularly important developments. These contributions are included in Volume Two. Keynote lecturers were left free to address whatever subject they felt was of greatest interest. The chapters in Volume 1 are preceded by the Presidential Address by Mark R. Rosenzweig.
