Teaching Writing Genres Across the Curriculum Susan Lee Pasquarelli, 2006-06-01 This volume showcases the efforts of real teachers using the teaching events from real middle school classrooms. Included is the work of eight hard working middle school teachers who are convinced that the form and function of genre is a way to teach writing across the middle school curriculum. Each chapter contains sample lessons, protocols, classroom instructional materials and assessment tools to provide middle school teachers with an approach to explore rigorous expository writing instruction in their own classrooms.

Teaching Writing Christina Russell McDonald, Robert L. McDonald, 2002 Teaching Writing Landmarks and Horizons edited by Christina Russell McDonald and Robert L. McDonald is designed to present an overview of some of the major developments in the establishment of composition studies as a field during the past thirty five years. The essays are theoretically grounded but are focused on pedagogy as well. Divided into two parts, the first presents nine landmark essays selected and introduced by distinguished composition scholars and the second brings together eight new essays by emerging scholars.

Handbook for Planning an Effective Writing Program, K-12 DIANE Publishing Company, 1996-02 This popular handbook is designed to provide teachers, curriculum specialists, school administrators, parents and students with a standard for assessing existing writing programs and a tool for helping them design new programs. It includes information to help them identify the strengths and weaknesses of existing or proposed writing programs and to select strategies for change. Addresses both the content and teaching methodology of a writing program that is what ought to be taught and how it should be taught.
