Death, Loss, and Grief in Literature for Youth Alice Crosetto, Rajinder Garcha, 2012-11-21 All human beings encounter loss and death as well as the grief associated with these experiences. It is therefore important for children and adolescents to understand that such events are inevitable and to learn how to accept loss and cope with their emotions. In order to help children through their pain, parents and caregivers need access to the proper resources that will help them discuss these topics and educational professionals need reliable resources for creating courses of study on these subjects. In Death, Loss, and Grief in Literature for Youth, Alice Crosetto and Rajinder Garcha identify hundreds of resources that will help educators, professionals, parents, siblings, guardians, and students learn about coping with the loss of a loved one and the grief process. These resources include books, Internet sites, and media titles aimed at students and those helping them through the grieving process. Chapters in this volume include fiction and non-fiction titles about the loss of a family member, a friend, and a pet, as well as general reference resources, curricular resources, and websites. Annotations provide complete bibliographical descriptions of the entries, and each entry is identified with the grade levels for which it is best suited. Reviews from recognized publications are also included wherever possible. Anyone interested in locating helpful resources regarding death and grieving will find much of value in this essential tool.

Home for Dinner Anne Fishel, 2015-01-07 Has your family dinner table become a landing spot for junk mail, homework, and bills? Is scheduled dinnertime in your home 6:00 for mom, 7:00 or later for dad, and are the kids even home tonight, or do they have another activity to get to? Because with sports activities, long hours, and commutes, family dinners seem to have gone the way of the dinosaur. And it's time to bring them back before it's too late. Studies have tied shared family meals to increased resiliency and self-esteem in children, higher academic achievement, a healthier relationship to food, and even reduced risk of substance abuse and eating disorders. Written by a Harvard Medical School professor and mother Home for Dinner makes a passionate and informed plea to put mealtime back at the center of family life and supplies compelling evidence and realistic tips for getting even the busiest of families back to the table Parents looking to make family dinnertime more than just a fantasy will find inside this invaluable life saving resource highly relatable stories new research recipes and friendly advice to help them Whip up quick healthy and tasty dinners Get kids to lend a hand without any grief Adapt meals to the needs of everyone from toddlers to teens Inspire picky eaters to explore new foods Keep dinnertime conversation stimulating Reduce tension at the table And more Both parents and kids need a family mealtime environment that allows them to unwind and reconnect from the pressures of school and work More than just offering them nutrition and energy for another intense day of jet setting about the incalculable family therapy provided for all will far surpass the small sacrifices it took to gather around the table for a short time Christian Rememberancer.
