Courville, 2011-10-20 Edward Said's Rhetoric of the Secular provides an important new reading of Edward W Said's work emphasizing not only the distinction but also the fuzzy borders between representations of the religious and the secular found within and throughout his oeuvre and at the core of some of his most customary rhetorical strategies Mathieu Courville begins by examining Said's own reflections on his life before moving on to key debates about Said's work within Religious Studies and Middle Eastern Studies and his relationship to French critical theorists Through close attention to Said's use of the literal and the figurative when dealing with religious national and cultural matters Courville discerns a pattern that illuminates what Said means by secular Said's work shows that the secular is not the utter opposite of religion in the modern globalized world but may exist in a productive tension with it

society They demonstrate how production within hybrid contexts requires the negotiation of different languages within the self generating powerful experiences from crisis to liberation and texts that offer key insights into our increasingly globalized culture

Hart,2016-09-23 This book focuses on how we perceive know and interpret culture across disciplinary boundaries The study combines theoretical and critical contexts for close readings in culture through discussions of literature philosophy history psychology and visual arts by and about men and women in Europe the Americas and beyond (M)Other Tongues Juliane Prade,2020-05-15 M Other Tongues Literary Reflexions on a Difficult Distinction examines a key problem of literary criticism the differentiation between languages is at the same time necessary and impossible It is indispensable in order to read a text yet literary texts are precisely those that question this distinction articulating the link between languages and cultures as well as the inherent strangeness of even one's own mother tongue M Other Tongues explores texts from the 16th century to the 21st century focusing on different aspects of one main feature of literary texts formally as well as semantically they transcend the rules and conventions of the language they speak Crossing cultural borders is commonly discussed in historical social linguistic and psychoanalytical terms whether it be as post colonialism exilic or diasporic identities creoles or the displaced other within the own M Other Tongues argues that rather than being mere evidence in the theoretical analysis of cultural transitions literary texts are a unique medium to reflect such processes as they challenge and modify the notion of language itself The book discusses texts written mainly in English French and German but also in Spanish and the complex formerly known as Yugoslavian M Other Tongues shows that such distinctions between languages are precise since they can be exemplified with an indefinite number of words and rules and still remain uncertain because they cannot be abstracted from these examples What separates the mother tongue from other tongues is indeed precise uncertainty Life as a Bilingual François Grosjean,2021-06-03 About half the world's population knows and uses two or more languages in everyday life and an increasing number of parents are raising their children bilingual This makes a resource on what it means to become and be bilingual all the more necessary This book brings together a selection of posts from the author's highly successful Psychology Today blog grouped by topic into 15 chapters The topics covered include among others what it means to be bilingual the extent of bilingualism how someone becomes bilingual how bilingualism is fostered in the family the bilingual mind and brain and bilingualism across the lifespan It also includes the author's lively interviews with other experts delving into their research and their own experience as bilinguals Written in a highly engaging readable style this book is suitable for anyone who wants to better understand those who live with two or more languages

Memory Speaks Julie Sedivy, 2021-10-12 From an award winning writer and linguist a scientific and personal meditation on the phenomenon of language loss and the possibility of renewal As a child Julie Sedivy left Czechoslovakia for Canada and English soon took over her life By early adulthood she spoke Czech rarely and badly and when her father died unexpectedly she lost not only a beloved parent but also her firmest point of connection to her native language As Sedivy realized more is at stake here than the loss of language there is also the loss of identity Language is an important part of adaptation to a new culture and immigrants everywhere face pressure to assimilate Recognizing this tension Sedivy set out to understand the science of language loss and the potential for renewal In Memory Speaks she takes on the psychological and social world of multilingualism exploring the human brain's capacity to learn and forget languages at various stages of life But while studies of multilingual experience provide resources for the teaching and preservation of languages Sedivy finds that the challenges facing multilingual people are largely political Countering the widespread view that linguistic pluralism splinters loyalties and communities Sedivy argues that the struggle to remain connected to an ancestral language and culture is a site of common ground as people from all backgrounds can recognize the crucial role of language in forming a sense of self Distinctive and timely Memory Speaks combines a rich body of psychological research with a moving story at once personal and universally resonant As citizens debate the merits of bilingual education as the world's less dominant languages are driven to extinction and as many people confront the pain of language loss this is badly needed wisdom

Worldwide Women Writers in Paris Alison Rice, 2021-12-16 Worldwide Women Writers in Paris examines a new literary phenomenon consisting of an unprecedented number of women from around the world who have come to Paris and become authors of written works in French It takes as its starting point a series of filmed interviews conducted in the French capital a set of recorded conversations motivated by a desire to pay homage to these discrete voices and images at a moment characterized by impressive diversity Their individual paths to France and to French are noteworthy and these authors of different generations and varying places of origin emphasize their singularity However the juxtaposition of their reflections reveals that many have faced similar difficulties when learning the French language adapting to life in France and many have encountered forms of prejudice in the publishing world related to their ethnicity or gender These challenges have led them each in an idiosyncratic manner to tackle tough topics in their work and to respond to adversity by finding effective creative expressions Taken together the innovations and interventions in oral and written form of these authors collectively contribute to significant change in the specialized scene that is the Parisian literary landscape Hélène Cixous Algeria Zahia Rahmani
