Crossing Gender in Shakespeare James W. Stone,2010-02-25 In this book Stone effects a return to gender after many years of neglect by Twenty First Century critics via a methodology of close reading that foregrounds moments of sexual decentering and disequilibrium within the text and in the interstices of the dialogue between Shakespeare and his critics. Issues addressed range from the cross dressing of Viola and Imogen to the cross gartering of Malvolio, the sound of un and the uncanny lyric narcissism of Richard II, Hamlet's misogyny androgyny and the poison of marital political union, Othello's fears of impotence, rumors of Antony's emasculation versus the militant yet nurturing triumphalism of Cleopatra's suicide and Posthumus's hysterical reaction to the woman's part in himself and his compensatory fantasies of parthenogenesis. Stone unpacks ideologically powerful but unsustainable male claims to self identity and sameness set over against man's type gendering of women as the origin of divisive sexual difference, discord and the dissolution of marriage. Men who blame women for the difference that divides and weakens their sense of unity and sameness to oneself are unconscious that the uncanny feminine is not outside the masculine, its reassuring canny opposite, it is inside the masculine, its uncanny difference from itself.

Transgressive Itineraries Marc Maufort, 2003. The fast growing body of postcolonial drama is progressively gaining its just recognition in the twentieth century canon of English language plays. From the vantage point of various samplings along the Trans Pacific axis linking English Canada, Australia and New Zealand, this monograph seeks to document the significance of this emerging postcolonial theater. More specifically, it examines the myriad ways in which over the last two decades representative mainstream ethnic and First Nations playwrights have dramatized Europe's Other in its multiple guises. In their efforts to match new content with innovative form, these artists have followed transgressive itineraries, redrawing the boundaries of conventional Western stage realism. Their new aesthetics often relies on techniques akin to Homi Bhabha's notions of hybridity and mimicry. The present study offers detailed analyses of the modes of hybridization through which Judith Thompson, Louis Nowra, Tomson Highway, Jack Davis, Hone Kouka and other prominent writers have articulated subtle forms of psychic grotesque and mythic magic realism. Their legacy will undoubtedly affect the postcolonial dramaturgies of the twenty first century.
