Lost from View Nina Biehal, Fiona Mitchell, Jim Wade, 2003 Thousands of people are reported missing each year yet very little is known about who they are why they disappear and what happens to them Although the predicament of runaways and other missing children has a higher profile the issue of missing adults has been neglected in research and policy Drawing on almost 2000 missing persons cases the report explores vbTab who goes missing vbTab why people choose to go missing and how people can become missing in other circumstances vbTab the experiences of missing people while they are away and the risks that they may encounter vbTab how missing episodes are resolved vbTab how further developments in policy and practice may assist missing people and their families This highly topical report demonstrates that the social problems underpinning the missing issue cut across many areas of social policy This book will therefore be essential reading for policy makers practitioners and academics in the fields of criminal justice child and family welfare health and social work

English Speech from an Historical Point of View N. Bøgholm, 2025-03-03 First published in 1939 English Speech from an Historical Point of View presents the history of the English language under three major components Old English Middle English and Modern English Each of these divisions with the partial exception of Modern English treats English with regard to phonology morphology and syntax The author argues that it has not always been found practical to stick exclusively to the 3 periods in dealing with some phenomenon which may have had its full development within one particular period while it had its origin or faded away in another Particular regard has been had to Shakespearean English Otherwise a selection has been made of Middle English and Old English texts which are most representative This is an important historical work for students of English language A Room with a View, Where Angels Fear to Tread E.M.
