Typological Studies in Negation Peter Kahrel, René van den Berg, 1994-01-01 This collection of articles offers descriptions of the negation system in 16 languages As not much is known about negation systems in non European languages the first aim of the volume is to provide data on various aspects on negation for all articles these data were collected on the basis of the same questionnaire Most work on this subject deals with syntactic aspects of negation this volume attempts to include pragmatic and semantic issues as well such as the expression of negative indefinites interaction of negation and quantifiers the scope of negation and the choice of a particular form of negation in cases where there are several ways to express this For a number of less known languages descriptions offering a wealth of data are presented here and in the articles about well studied languages new data and analyses of more complicated issues are provided

Romeo and Juliet William Shakespeare, 1734 Tangible Things Laurel Thatcher Ulrich, Ivan Gaskell, Sara Schechner, Sarah Anne Carter, Samantha van Gerbig, 2015-02-06 In a world obsessed with the virtual tangible things are once again making history Tangible Things invites readers to look closely at the things around them ordinary things like the food on their plate and extraordinary things like the transit of planets across the sky It argues that almost any material thing when examined closely can be a link between present and past The authors of this book pulled an astonishing array of materials out of storage from a pencil manufactured by Henry David Thoreau to a bracelet made from iridescent beetles in a wide range of Harvard University collections to mount an innovative exhibition alongside a new general education course The exhibition challenged the rigid distinctions between history anthropology science and the arts It showed that object centered inquiry inevitably leads to a questioning of categories within and beyond history Tangible Things is both an introduction to the range and scope of Harvard's remarkable collections and an invitation to reassess collections of all sorts including those that reside in the bottom drawers or attics of people's houses It interrogates the nineteenth century categories that still divide art museums from science museums and historical collections from anthropological displays and that assume history is made only from written documents Although it builds on a larger discussion among specialists it makes its arguments through case studies hoping to simultaneously entertain and inspire The twenty case studies take us from the Galapagos Islands to India and from a third century Egyptian papyrus fragment to a board game based on the twentieth century comic strip Dagwood and Blondie A companion website catalogs the more than two hundred objects in the original exhibition and suggests ways in which the principles outlined in the book might change the way people understand the tangible things that surround them
