Nagara And Commandery:

The Cambridge History of Southeast Asia Nicholas Tarling, 1999 Volume 2 discusses Southeast Asia's interaction with foreign countries during the period c 1500 to c 1800 Pelagic Passageways Rila Mukherjee, 2011 Due to the frontierization of nation states maritime historians have tended to ignore the northern Bay of Bengal Yet this marginal region now dispersed over the four nation states of India China Myanmar and Bangladesh was not marginal in the past Until recently however historians have concentrated largely on the big four the Gujarat Malabar Coromandel and western Bengal coasts Extreme eastern South Asia Bengal and the lands to its north east fanning into Burma and China or modern India's north east and beyond is the focus of Pelagic Passageways This regional unit including diverse topographic features plains forests estuaries deltas rivers mountains lakes plateaus and remote passes oscillates between unity and fragmentation between centrality and marginality in the larger space of the Bay of Bengal To attempt a history of this space is indeed challenging There is not one but two deltas here the western delta corresponding to present West Bengal in India and centred now on Kolkata and the south eastern delta in present Bangladesh centred on Dhaka and running into Arakan Not merely in terms of location but on a historical axis too the two deltas are vastly different as they have followed disparate trajectories dictated in part by their geographies Pelagic Passageways therefore questions the conventional fault line located on the south eastern Bengal delta between the historiography of South and South East Asia Concentrating on commodity and currency flows travel trade routes and interactive networks Pelagic Passageways visualizes the cultural space of the northern Bay of Bengal as embracing upland landlocked areas Ava Yunnan the Tripuri Dimas and Ahom states not usually seen as part of maritime history This collection of essays suggests that they too were a part of the social and commercial networks of the Indian Ocean While these countries literally fell off the map this volume proposes that we see these areas instead as crossroads mediating flows between the land dwelling and aquatic worlds The Emporium of the World Angela Schottenhammer, 2021-08-04 This volume by offering a score of new insights derived from a wide variety of recent archaeological and textual sources bring to life an important overseas trading port in Southeast Asia Quanzhou During the Song and Yuan dynasties active official and unofficial engagement in trade had formative effects on the development of the maritime trade of Quanzhou and its social and economic position both regionally and supraregionally In the first part subjects such as the impact of the Song imperial clan and the local elites on these developments the economic importance of metals coins paper money and changes in the political economy are amply discussed The second part concentrates on the quantitative and qualitative analysis of archaeological data and materials the investigation of commodities from China their origins distribution and final destinations the use of foreign labour and the particular role of South Thailand in trade connections thus supplying the hard data underlying the main argument of the book A History of Early Southeast Asia Kenneth R. Hall, 2010-12-28 This comprehensive history provides a fresh interpretation of Southeast Asia from 100 to 1500 when major social and economic developments foundational to modern societies took place on the mainland Burma Thailand Cambodia and Vietnam and the island world Indonesia Malaysia and the Philippines Kenneth R Hall explores this dynamic era in detail which was notable for growing external contacts internal adaptations of nearby cultures and progressions from hunter gatherer and agricultural communities to inclusive hierarchical states In the process formerly local civilizations became major participants in period s international trade networks Incorporating the latest archeological evidence and international scholarship Kenneth Hall enlarges upon prior histories of early Southeast Asia that did not venture beyond 1400 extending the study of the region to the Portuguese seizure of Melaka in 1511 Written for a wide audience of non specialists the book will be essential reading for all those interested in Asian and world history

Urban Anthropology in China Gregory Eliyu Guldin,Aidan Southall,2023-07-24 This book is based on the papers that were presented at the First International Urban Anthropology Conference which was opened in Beijing on December 28 1989 It contains twenty two papers and six introductory contributions dealing with the following subjects Comparative Urbanism Socialist and Asian Cities Chinese Urbanization Chinese Urban Ethnicity Chinese Urban Culture and Life Cycle These papers are written by Chinese and non Chinese authors The conference of 1989 1990 marked the beginning of urban anthropology in China Before this the objects of ethnological sociological and anthropological research in China were rural rather than urban Besides the attention of scholars was mostly directed towards the ethnic minorities in China In the late 1970 s however contacts with Western anthropologists helped in redirecting part of Chinese anthropology towards the study of urban conglomerations The congress of 1989 90 marked the acceptance of this new approach in China

Southeast Asian Modern Peter Rowe,Yun Fu,2022-04-19 Southeast Asian modernity an overview Peter Rowe and Yun Fu s second volume on the modernization of architecture in the Far East deals with Southeast Asia and Austronesia including the 12 nation states of Vietnam Cambodia Laos Myanmar Thailand Malaysia Singapore Indonesia Brunei East Timor Philippines and Taiwan as well as the ocean peoples of Polynesia Melanesia and Micronesia The modern architecture of these culturally and nationally heterogenous regions echoes local vernacular traditions and colonial as well as postcolonial hegemonies from both the East and the West The book tells the stories of these separate roots and their culmination into contemporary architectural production analyzing the distinctiveness and quality of approx 65 building projects that have emerged in the past half century Second volume of the history of Modern architecture in the Far East Excellent photographic presentations of approx 65 buildings Important contribution on the globalization of architecture

Money, Markets, and Trade in Early Southeast Asia Robert S. Wicks,2018-05-31 This substantial work explores the impact of monetization in premodern Southeast Asia from the third century BCE to the rise of Maleka in the early fifteenth century The author explores why concepts of money developed unevenly throughout the region He considers trade policies price controls exchange ratios monopolies variant standards of value and the administrative structures required to support such a complex economic innovation

The Politics of Planting Shaul Ephraim Cohen,1993-06 On the open landscape of Israel and the West Bank where pine and cypress forests grow alongside olive groves tree planting has become symbolic of conflicting claims to the land Palestinians cultivate olive groves as a vital agricultural resource while the Israeli government has made restoration of mixed growth forests a national priority Although both sides plant for a variety of purposes both have used tree planting to assert their presence on and claim to disputed land Shaul Ephraim Cohen has conducted an unprecedented study of planting in the region and the control of land it signifies In The Politics of Planting he provides historical background and examines both the politics behind Israel's afforestation policy its consequences Focusing on the open land surrounding Jerusalem and four Palestinian villages outside the city this study offers a new perspective on the conflict over land use in a region where planting has become a political tool For the valuable data it presents collected from field work previously unpublished documents and interviews and the insight it provides into this political struggle this will be an important book for anyone studying the Israeli Palestinian conflict

Raiding, Trading, and Feasting Laura L. Junker, 1999-09-01 As early as the first millennium A D the Philippine archipelago formed the easternmost edge of a vast network of Chinese Southeast Asian Indian and Arab traders Items procured through maritime trade became key symbols of social prestige and political power for the Philippine chiefly elite Raiding Trading and Feasting presents the first comprehensive analysis of how participation in this trade related to broader changes in the political economy of these Philippine island societies By combining archaeological evidence with historical sources Laura Junker is able to offer a more nuanced examination of the nature and evolution of Philippine maritime trading chiefdoms Most importantly she demonstrates that it is the dynamic interplay between investment in the maritime luxury goods trade and other evolving aspects of local political economies rather than foreign contacts that led to the cyclical coalescence of larger and more complex chiefdoms at various times in Philippine history A broad spectrum of historical and ethnographic sources ranging from tenth century Chinese tributary trade records to turn of the century accounts of chiefly feasts of merit highlights both the diversity and commonality in evolving chiefly economic strategies within the larger political landscape of the archipelago The political ascendance of individual polities the emergence of more complex forms of social ranking and long term changes in chiefly economies are materially documented through a synthesis of archaeological research at sites dating from the Metal Age late first millennium B C to the colonial period The author draws on her archaeological fieldwork in the Tanjay River basin to investigate the long term dynamics of chiefly political economy in a single region Reaching beyond the Philippine archipelago this study contributes to the larger anthropological debate concerning ecological and cultural factors that shape political economy in chiefdoms and early states It attempts to address the question of why Philippine polities like early historic kingdoms elsewhere in Southeast Asia have a segmentary political structure in which political leaders are dependent on prestige goods exchanges personal charisma and ritual pageantry to maintain highly personalized power bases Raiding Trading and Feasting is a volume of impressive scholarship and substantial scope unmatched in the anthropological and historical literature It will be welcomed by Pacific and Asian historians and anthropologists and those interested in the theoretical issues of chiefdoms

Early Civilizations of Southeast Asia Dougald J. W. O'Reilly, 2007 Using the archaeological record O'Reilly traces the rise of the state in Southeast Asia in a general synthesis Bagan and the World Goh Geok Yian, John Miksic, Michael Aung-Thwin, 2017-10-30 The archaeological site of Bagan and the kingdom which bore its name contains one of the greatest concentrations of ancient architecture and art in Asia Much of what is visible today consists of ruins of Buddhist monasteries While these monuments are a major tourist attraction recent advances in archaeology and textual history have added considerable new understanding of this kingdom which flourished between the 11th and 14th centuries Bagan was not an isolated monastic site its inhabitants participated actively in networks of Buddhist religious activity and commerce abetted by the site's location near the junction where South Asia China and Southeast Asia meet This volume presents the result of recent research by scholars from around the world including indigenous Myanmar people whose work deserves to be known among the international community The perspective on Myanmar's role as an integral part of the intellectual artistic and economic framework found in this volume yields a glimpse of new themes which future studies of Asian history will no doubt explore

The Emerging Asian City Vinayak Bharne, 2012-11-12 The Asian urban landscape contains nearly half of the planet's inhabitants and more than half of its slum population living in some of its oldest and densest cities It encompasses some of the world's oldest civilizations and colonizations and today contains some of the world's fastest growing cities and economies As such Asian cities create concomitant imagery polarizations of poverty and wealth blurred lines between formality and informality and stark juxtapositions of ancient historic places with shimmering new skylines This book embraces the complexity and ambiguity of the Asian urban landscape and surveys its bewildering array of multifarious urbanities and urbanisms Twenty four essays offer scholarly reflections and positions on the complex forces and issues shaping Asian cities today looking at why Asian cities are different from the West and whether they are treading a different path to their futures Their combined narrative spanning from Turkey to Japan and Mongolia to Indonesia is framed around three sections Traditions reflects on indigenous urbanisms and historic places Tensions reflects on the legacies of Asia's East West dialectic through both colonialism and modernism and Transformations examines Asia's new emerging utopias and urban aspirations The book claims that the histories and destinies of cities across various parts of Asia are far too enmeshed to unpack or oversimplify Avoiding the categorization of Asian cities exclusively by geographic location south east Middle East or the convenient tagging of the term Asian on selective regional parts of the continent it takes a broad intellectual view of the Asian urban landscape as a both and phenomenon as a series of diverse confluences geographic historic and political extending from the deserts of the Persian Gulf region to the Pearl River Delta Arguing for

Asian cities to be taken seriously on their own terms this book represents Asia as a fount of extraordinary knowledge that can challenge our fundamental preconceptions of what cities are and ought to be

Secondary Cities and Urban Networking in the Indian Ocean Realm, c. 1400-1800 Kenneth R. Hall, 1955-01-01 With the closure of the overland Silk Road in the fourteenth century following the collapse of the Mongol empire the Indian Ocean provided the remaining vital link for wider cultural political and societal integrations prior to the Western colonial presence Collectively these studies explore the history of non metropolitan urban settings c 1400 1800 in the Indian Ocean realm from the Ottoman Empire and the African coastline at the mouth of the Red Sea in the west to China in the east This was an age of heightened international commercial exchange that predated the European arrival which in the Indian Ocean paired Islamic expansionism and political authority and alternately in the case of mainland Southeast Asia partnered Buddhism with new centralizing monarchies While grounded in multidisciplinary urban studies literature the twelve studies in this collection explore secondary center networking as this networking distinguishes secondary cities from metropolitan centers which have traditionally received the most scholarly attention. The book features the research of international scholars whose work addresses the representative history of small cities and urban networking in various parts of the Indian Ocean world in an era of change, allowing them the opportunity to compare approaches, methods, and sources in the hopes of discovering common features as well as notable differences. This volume is the result of a 2007 conference on The Small City in Global Context hosted by the Center for Middletown Studies at Ball State University, Muncie, Indiana, intended to expand the field of urban studies by encouraging scholars of diverse global interests and specializations to explore the history of non-metropolitan urban settings.

Asia in the Making of Europe, Volume III: A Century of Advance. Book 4 Donald F. Lach, Edwin J. Van Kley, 2022-07-29. This monumental series, acclaimed as a masterpiece of comprehensive scholarship in the New York Times Book Review, reveals the impact of Asia's high civilizations on the development of modern Western society. The authors examine the ways in which European encounters with Asia have altered the development of Western society in art, literature, science, and religion since the Renaissance. In Volume III, A Century of Advance, the authors have researched seventeenth-century European writings on Asia in an effort to understand how contemporaries saw Asian societies and peoples.

Southeast Asian Urbanism Hans-Dieter Evers, Rüdiger Korff, 2000. This book is based on the results of over two decades of field research on cities and towns of Thailand, Sri Lanka, Indonesia, Malaysia, the Philippines, and Singapore. The connections between micro and macro processes between grassroots interactions and urban structures between social theory and empirical data are analysed to provide a vivid picture of the great variety of urban forms, the social creativity in the slums of Bangkok, Manila, or Jakarta, the variety of cultural symbolism, and the political and religious structuration of urban space. The book is written in the tradition of German or European sociological research from Marx and Weber to Habermas and Bourdieu. It will be of interest to urban anthropologists, political scientists, and sociologists; to students of Southeast Asian history, culture, and society; to urban planners and policy makers.
