Nan The Life Of An Irish Travelling Woman:

Nan Sharon Bohn Gmelch, 1991-05-01 Margaret Mead Award finalist Nan Donohoe was an Irish Travelling woman one of Ireland's indigenous gypsies or tinkers. Traditionally they traveled the countryside making and repairing tinware sweeping chimneys selling small household wares and doing odd job work. Over time they came to live on the roadside in trailers and in government built camps. Told largely in her own voice, Nan's saga begins in 1919 with her birth in a tent in the Irish Midlands; it follows her life in Ireland and England in countryside and city slums through adversity and adventure. Gmelch brings to her task not only the resources of anthropology but the skill of a sensitive writer and a warmth that allows her to see Nan as a person not a subject. What emerges is a human story filled with cruelty and compassion, sorrow and humor, bad luck and good

Nan: The Life of an Irish Travelling Woman Sharon Gmelch, 1991      Nan Nan Donahue, Sharon Gmelch, 1986      Irish Travellers Jane Leslie Helleiner, 2000-01-01 Helleiner's study documents anti Traveller racism in Ireland and explores the ongoing realities of Traveller life as well as the production and reproduction of contemporary Traveller collective identity and culture      Irish Travellers Sharon Bohn Gmelch, George Gmelch, 2014-10-23 Anthropologists George and Sharon Gmelch have been studying the quasi nomadic people known as Travellers since their fieldwork in the early 1970s when they lived among Travellers and went on the road in their own horse drawn wagon. In 2011 they returned to seek out families they had known decades before, shadowed by a film crew and taking with them hundreds of old photographs showing the Travellers' former way of life. Many of these images are included in this book alongside more recent photos and compelling personal narratives that reveal how Traveller lives have changed now that they have left nomadism behind      Jeannie Robertson James Porter, Herschel Gower, 1995 Combining biography, folklore, oral history and ethnomusicology, this book explores the life and repertoire of the Scottish traditional singer Jeannie Robertson, 1908-1975, an artist whom Alan Lomax hailed as a monumental figure in twentieth century folksong. Utilizing numerous quotations from Robertson's own oral accounts of her life, James Porter and Herschel Gower trace her career as a member of the marginal nomadic group in Northeast Scotland known as travellers whose origin is obscure. They explain the importance of traditional song in Robertson's family and community and include eighty of her songs complete with musical notation      Double Passage George Gmelch, 2025-10-01 Double Passage presents in their own words the lives and experiences of thirteen men and women from the island of Barbados who emigrated to North America and Britain and then years later returned home. They tell of their decisions to leave the familiarity and security of home for an uncertain future in cities of the industrial world; they explain what it is like to be black and immigrant in the predominantly white societies they settled in and they reveal their struggles to find work and decent housing, to develop new relationships and to save enough money to be able to return home and assume the affluent lifestyle expected of returnees. Double Passage is an extraordinary book that is able both to inform and to entertain.

Esperanza Speaks Gloria Rudolf, 2021-04-07 Esperanza Speaks examines a century long process of socioeconomic change in rural Panama through the experiences of one woman Esperanza Ruiz and four generations of her family The intimate narrative shows how ordinary people through their choices and actions are affected by and in turn can affect how history unfolds Readers see Esperanza's family as both victims and protagonists in their own histories Born into rural poverty with limited options they still find small openings to try to improve their lives Sometimes successful sometimes not they survive by drawing on their only abundant resource each other Based on twenty field visits over the course of fifty years Esperanza Speaks is the result of a dedicated anthropologist's long term engagement with the individuals of a single community and a beautiful example of ethnographic storytelling Romani Writing Paola Toninato, 2013-12-17 The Roma commonly known as Gypsies have largely been depicted in writings and in popular culture as an illiterate group However as Romani Writing shows the Roma have a deep understanding of literacy and its implications and use writing for a range of different purposes While some Romani writers adopt an oral use of the written medium which aims at opposing and deconstructing anti Gypsy stereotypes other Romani authors use writing for purposes of identity building Writing is for Romani activists and intellectuals a key factor in establishing a shared identity and introducing a common language that transcends linguistic and geographical boundaries between different Romani groups Romani authors acting in between different cultures and communication systems regard writing as an act of cultural mediation through which they are able to rewrite Gypsy images and negotiate their identity while retaining their ethnic specificity Indeed Romani Writing demonstrates how Romani authors have started to create self images in which the Roma are no longer portrayed as objects but become subjects of written representation The Dogs of Avalon: The Race to Save Animals in Peril Laura Schenone, 2017-08-22 Named a Best Book of the Year by The Bark magazine After adopting an Irish sight hound Laura Schenone discovers a remarkable and little known fight to gain justice for dogs and for all animals Greyhounds bred to be the fastest racing dogs on earth are streaks of lightning Beautiful astonishing creatures countless numbers of them disappear each year once they can no longer compete and win The Dogs of Avalon introduces us to the strong willed Marion Fitzgibbon born in rural Ireland where animals are valued only for their utility But Fitzgibbon believes that suffering is felt by all creatures and she champions the cause of strays baffling those around her including her family as she and a group of local women rescue any animal in need and taking on increasingly risky missions When Fitzgibbon becomes head of the Irish Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and focuses on the cause of the greyhound she faces an entrenched racing industry protected by money and power She joins forces with an American greyhound activist a foxhunter's wife a British lady and an influential German animal rescuer to create an international network to find these animals homes confront the racing industry and provide safe havens where animals can live in peace The Dogs of Avalon brings forward the people on the other side of the tracks Irish Travellers a people whose Celtic history goes back centuries dogmen who hope to win big together with a host of animals on two continents circus tigers in Ireland wild monkeys in the Yucatan dolphins in a marine animal park in Florida and one very special Irish sight hound in New Jersey named Lily In this potent David and Goliath story Schenone's journey helps us understand our deep connection to animals and gives us inspiration in the form of the unforgettable Fitzgibbon who grapples with compassion and activism and shows the difference we are all capable of making in the world

In the Field Prof. George Gmelch, Prof. Sharon Bohn Gmelch, 2018-05-11 This book offers an invaluable look at what cultural anthropologists do when they are in the field Through fascinating and often entertaining accounts of their lives and work in varied cultural settings the authors describe the many forms fieldwork can take the kinds of questions anthropologists ask and the common problems they encounter From these accounts and the experiences of the student field workers the authors have mentored over the years In the Field makes a powerful case for the value of the anthropological approach to knowledge

The Field Day Anthology of Irish Writing Seamus Deane, Andrew Carpenter, Angela Bourke, Jonathan Williams, 1991

Divided Society Paul Hainsworth, 1998 The ongoing troubles in Northern Ireland have largely overshadowed the presence of over 40 ethnic and religious minority groups in the Province This study of these groups focuses on the issues of racism anti racism sectarianism representation in the media and the law

Approaches to a "new" World Literature Lorely French, Marina Ortrud M. Hertrampf, 2023-11-20 The history of written Romani literature is only about 100 years old and thus Romani literatures are still being defined and consolidated At least two special features characterize this young literature on the one hand it is a multilingual diasporic world literature that often can be characterized as engaged literature and tries to deconstruct various age old stereotypes of the minority On the other hand female authors play a strikingly prominent role Female authors frequently achieve visibility with their texts on the national book markets Some authors appear in their own texts as committed feminists and or human rights activists For other authors sexuality and gender play a less prominent role in their works Additionally women often also play very central roles in texts by male authors Therefore this volume aims to explore the different facets of Romani literatures on two interrelated axes First the essays explore the status of several diverse works as transnational world literature Second the contributions examine the significance of writing as a form of social engagement and self empowerment What emerges is the observation that mainly women authors have been speaking out and standing up for their rights as women and Romnys With contributions from Oksana Marafioti Ana Bel n Mart n Sevillano Martin Shaw Kirsten von Hagen Marina Ortrud M Hertrampf Emilia Kledzik Florian Homann Paola Toninato Sidonia Bauer Lorely French Viola Parente Capkov

Fetal Subjects, Feminist Positions Lynn M. Morgan, Meredith Wilson Michaels, 2016-11-11 Selected as the Most Enduring Edited Collection by the Council on Anthropology and Reproduction Since Roe v Wade there has been increasing public interest in fetuses in part as a result of effective antiabortion propaganda and in part as a result of developments in medicine and technology While feminists have begun to take note of the proliferation of fetal images in various media such as medical journals magazines and motion pictures few have openly addressed the problems that the emergence of the fetal subject poses for feminism Fetal Subjects Feminist Positions foregrounds feminism's effort to focus on the importance of women's reproductive agency and at the same time acknowledges the increasing significance of fetal subjects in public discourse and private experience Essays address the public fascination with the fetal subject and its implications for abortion discourse and feminist commitment to reproductive rights in the United States Contributors include scholars from fields as diverse as anthropology communications political science sociology and philosophy

The Garland Encyclopedia of World Music Timothy Rice, James Porter, Chris Goertzen, 2017-09-25 Here in one volume is a comprehensive look at the folk and traditional musics of the European continent from Ireland to the new republics of Georgia and Belarus In over seventy articles by sixty one contributors from around the world this encyclopedia explores musical life from historical and ethnographic perspectives and provides extensive analysis of songs and instrumental music

Anthropology and Migration Caroline B. Brettell, 2003-09-08 Brettell's new book provides new insight into the processes of migration and transnationalism from an anthropological perspective It has been estimated at the turn of the millennium that 160 million people are living outside of their country of birth or citizenship The author analyzes macro and micro approaches to migration theory utilizing her extensive fieldwork in Portugal as well as research in Germany Brazil France the United States and Canada Key issues she discusses include the value of immigrant incorporation vs assimilation models the impacts on individual household and community as well as institutions and states the role of ethnicity and ethnic groups the effects of clandestine or illegal immigration the differing commitments to host vs sending communities the shift from city enclaves to suburban areas the constraints and opportunities that lead to ethnic entrepreneurship the role of religion in transnational linkages and the differing experiences of men and women as migrants Brettell also explores the relevance of life histories and oral narratives in understanding the immigration process and the mediation of boundaries in a new society This book provides a fresh perspective on the contemporary experience of migration and will be indispensable to instructors and researchers in anthropology race and ethnic studies immigration studies urban studies sociology and international relations
