National Magazine Arthur Wellington Brayley, Joe Mitchell Chapple, 1904      Babynomics Madeline Thomas, 2010-05-17
Children cost a bomb but there's no escaping it is there One estimate puts the cost of bringing up a child from 0-21 years at GBP90 000 which is terrifying for any new parent But does it really cost this much to raise a child and how can you as a parent cut this down to manageable money Babynomics brings you practical and realistic advice on saving money without meaning you have to compromise on the lifestyle of your family Babynomics teaches parents what costs you can cut and ways to pay for those bills you can't avoid when raising a family Find out How to save money on baby equipment How to make the most of government funding for your family The wonderful world of children's toys Santa peer pressure and buying for birthdays Memorable holidays without the price tag When to start saving money for university Babynomics shows you how much money you can save at each stage of your child's life and prove that having a happy family doesn't have to cost you the earth

At Home and under Fire Susan R. Grayzel, 2012-01-09 Although the Blitz has come to symbolize the experience of civilians under attack Germany first launched air raids on Britain at the end of 1914 and continued them during the First World War With the advent of air warfare civilians far removed from traditional battle zones became a direct target of war rather than a group shielded from its impact This is a study of how British civilians experienced and came to terms with aerial warfare during the First and Second World Wars Memories of the World War I bombings shaped British responses to the various real and imagined war threats of the 1920s and 1930s including the bombing of civilians during the Spanish Civil War and ultimately the Blitz itself The processes by which different constituent bodies of the British nation responded to the arrival of air power reveal the particular role that gender played in defining civilian participation in modern war
