Narrative Modes In Czech Literature:

Narrative Modes in Czech Literature Lubomir Dolezel, 1973-12-15 In this study of the study of the linguistic approach to narrative structures the author examines the question of point of view in fiction drawing examples from Czech literature He applies the methods of structural linguistics and literary studies as developed by the Prague Linguistic School and the modern methodology of semiotics and text theory This approach widely used in Czechoslovakia and elsewhere in Europe is not as well known as it should be in the English speaking world The essays may be read without any knowledge of the Czech language or Czech literary history All Czech examples and materials are translated into English preserving traits of the original texts which are relevant for structural analysis the original Czech of all examples appears in an appendix While the examples serve as documentation for theoretical statements they also serve to familiarize the English speaking reader with some of the major works of Czech fiction especially those of Komenský Comenius Rais apek Van ura Pujmanov Olbracht and Kundera These works demonstrate the continuous bond between Czech fiction and European literary traditions and offer original and profound insights into the cultural social and political experience of the Czech nation Of particular interest to specialists in Slavic studies general linguistics poetics and text theory and to students of general and comparative literature Narrative Modes in Czech Literature deals with a significant problem of poetics and makes an original constructive contribution to the theory of literature in the English language

Narrative Modes in Czech Literature Lubomir Dolezel, Handbook of Diachronic Narratology Peter Hühn, John Pier, Wolf Schmid, 2023-07-24 This handbook brings together 42 contributions by leading narratologists devoted to the study of narrative devices in European literatures from antiquity to the present Each entry examines the use of a specific narrative device in one or two national literatures across the ages whether in successive or distant periods of time Through the analysis of representative texts in a range of European languages the authors compellingly trace the continuities and evolution of storytelling devices as well as their culture specific manifestations In response to Monika Fludernik's 2003 call for a diachronization of narratology this new handbook complements existing synchronic approaches that tend to be ahistorical in their outlook and departs from postclassical narratologies that often prioritize thematic and ideological concerns A new direction in narrative theory diachronic narratology explores previously overlooked questions from the evolution of free indirect speech from the Middle Ages to the present to how changes in narrative sequence encoded the shift from a sacred to a secular worldview in early modern Romance literatures An invaluable new resource for literary theorists historians comparatists discourse analysts and linguists

Narratology Susana Onega, Jose Angel Garcia Landa, 2014-09-19 This text provides an excellent introduction and overview of Narratology a rapidly growing field in the humanities Literary narratologists have provided many key concepts and analytical tools which are widely used in the interdisciplinary analysis of such narrative features as plot point of view speech presentation ideological perspective and interpretation The introduction explains the central concepts of narratology their historical development and draws together contemporary trends from many different disciplines into common focus. It offers a compendium of the development of narratology from classical poetics to the present. The essays are all prefaced by individual forewords helping the reader to place each individual selection in context. Recent developments are assessed across disciplines highlighting the mutual influences of narratology and deconstruction, psychoanalysis, feminism, film and media studies.

The Prague School and Its Legacy Yishai Tobin, 1988-01-01. Many of the fundamental ideas of the classical Prague School have guided or inspired much of the interdisciplinary post World War II research in linguistics, literary theory, semiotics, folklore and the arts. The Prague School promoted a humanistic and functional Leitmotiv of language as an open, flexible, adaptable and abstract system of systems used by human beings to communicate. This homage to the Prague School presents papers in five areas of research: Prague School phonology and its theoretical and methodological implications; The Prague School and functional discourse analysis; The Prague School and aspects of literary criticism; The sociological and ethnographical concerns of the Prague School; The Prague School's semiotic approach to the arts.

The Narrator Sylvie Patron, 2023. The narrator, the answer to the question who speaks in the text, is a commonly used notion in teaching literature and in literary criticism, even though it is the object of an ongoing debate in narrative theory. Do all fictional narratives have a narrator or only some of them? Can narratives thus be narratorless? This question divides communicational theories based on the communication between real or fictional narrator and narratee and noncommunicational or poetic theories which aim to rehabilitate the function of the author as the creator of the fictional narrative. Clarifying the notion of the narrator requires a historical and epistemological approach focused on the opposition between communicational theories of narrative in general and noncommunicational or poetic theories of the fictional narrative in particular. The Narrator offers an original and critical synthesis of the problem of the narrator in the work of narratologists and other theoreticians of narrative communication from the French, Czech, German and American traditions and in representations of the noncommunicational theories of fictional narrative. Sylvie Patron provides linguistic and pragmatic tools for interrogating the concept of the narrator based on the idea that fictional narrative has the power to signal by specific linguistic marks that the reader must construct a narrator when these marks are missing; the reader is able to perceive other forms and other narrative effects specially sought after by certain authors.

The Fictions of Language and the Languages of Fiction Monika Fludernik, 2003-12-16. Monika Fludernik presents a detailed analysis of free indirect discourse as it relates to narrative theory and the crucial problematic of how speech and thought are represented in fiction. Building on the insights of Ann Banfield's Unspeakable Sentences, Fludernik radically extends Banfield's model to accommodate evidence from conversational narrative, non-fictional prose and literary works from Chaucer to the present. Fludernik's model subsumes earlier insights into the forms and functions of quotation and aligns them with discourse strategies observable in the oral language. Drawing on a vast range of literature, she provides an invaluable resource for researchers in the field and introduces English readers to extensive work on the subject.

in German as well as comparing the free indirect discourse features of German French and English This study effectively repositions the whole area between literature and linguistics opening up a new set of questions in narrative theory

Transmedial Narratology and Contemporary Media Culture Jan-Noël Thon, 2016-08-01 It has become something of a cliché within the field of narratology to assert the commercial aesthetic and sociocultural relevance of narrative representations but the fact remains that narratives are everywhere Whenever we read a novel or a comic watch a film or an episode of our favorite television series or play the latest video game we are likely to engage with narrative media Similarly the intermedial adaptations and transmedial entertainment franchises that have become increasingly visible during the past few decades are at their core narrative forms Since a significant part of contemporary media culture is defined by the narratives we tell each other via various media the media studies discipline needs a genuinely transmedial narratology Transmedial Narratology and Contemporary Media Culture focuses on the intersubjective construction of storyworlds as well as on prototypical forms of narratorial and subjective representation It provides not only a method for the analysis of salient transmedial strategies of narrative representation in contemporary films comics and video games but also a theoretical frame within which medium specific approaches from literary and film narratology from comics studies and game studies and from various other strands of media and cultural studies may be employed to further our understanding of narratives across media Jan No l Thon is a research associate in the Department of Media Studies at the University of T bingen Germany He is the coeditor of a number of books on narrative and media studies including From Comic Strips to Graphic Novels Contributions to the Theory and History of Graphic Narrative and Storyworlds across Media Toward a Media Conscious Narratology Nebraska 2014

many earlier treatments The book closes with a comprehensive bibliography on reported discourse of about 1 000 entries

Lost in the Shadow of the Word Benjamin Paloff, 2016-12-15 2018 AATSEEL Prize for Best Book in Literary Scholarship
Scholars of modernism have long addressed how literature painting and music reflected the radical reconceptualization of space and time in the early twentieth century a veritable revolution in both physics and philosophy that has been characterized as precipitating an epistemic trauma around the world In this wide ranging study Benjamin Paloff contends that writers in Central and Eastern Europe felt this impact quite distinctly from their counterparts in Western Europe For the latter the destabilization of traditional notions of space and time inspired works that saw in it a new kind of freedom However for many Central and Eastern European authors who were writing from within public discourses about how to construct new social realities the need for escape met the realization that there was both nowhere to escape to and no stable delineation of what to escape from In reading the prose and poetry of Czech Polish and Russian writers Paloff imbues the term Kafkaesque with a complexity so far missing from our understanding of this moment in literary history Slavic Poetics Roman Jakobson, Cornelis H. van Schooneveld, Dean S. Worth, 2014-11-18 No detailed description available for Slavic Poetics

What Is Narratology? Tom Kindt, Hans-Harald Müller, 2008-08-22 What Is Narratology sees itself as contributing to the intensive international discussion and controversy on the structure and function of narrative theory The 14 papers in the volume advance proposals for determining the object of narratology modelling its concepts and characterising its status within cultural studies Modern Czech Literature: Writing in Times of Political Trauma Andrew M.

Drozd, 2025-05-20 Modern Czech culture has experienced a series of political traumas starting in the 1930s Despite the difficult shifting conditions Czech writers have not only managed to contend with the situation but have produced many fine literary efforts This volume consists of seven articles by an international team of authors who are specialists in Czech literature The first four chapters treat very well known writers There is one chapter on Karel apek and his play The White Plague There are three chapters on Milan Kundera the internationally best known Czech writer with one of these chapters covering both Kundera and Bohumil Hrabal The last three chapters deal with more recent and or lesser known writers One chapter treats the Brothers Topol and the music underground one chapter treats Czech literary responses to the period of the Normalization and the final chapter treats Eda Kriseov This volume presents new perspectives on Czech literature and will be of interest to specialists in Czech literature and history Central European literature and history Nazism and Communism For example although much has been written about Kundera the three articles provide further treatments of three different aspects of his work his ties to Russian literature his misogyny and the philosophical content of his novels Specialists interested in the period of the Normalization and after will find the last three chapters particularly useful The chapters are suitable for classroom use in courses in both Czech literature and Czech or Central European history All material from Czech language sources presented in the chapters is given in English translation Unspeakable Sentences

(Routledge Revivals) Ann Banfield, 2014-07-17 First published in 1982 this title grew from a series of essays on various aspects of narrative style the result is a finished product that melds literary theory with linguistic methodology It is argued that where linguistic theory intersects with literary theory it is narrative that provides the crucial experiment for deciding between a communication and a non communication theory of language and by extension of literature Chapters discuss such areas as subjectivity in direct and indirect speech the absence of the narrator and the development of narrative style With a detailed introduction to the subject this reissue will be of value to students of linguistics and literature with a particular interest in narrative style and linguistic theory     The Place of Space in Narration Joost van Baak, 2024-09-02     Milan Kundera Harold Bloom, 2009 Presents a collection of critical essays about the work of Milan Kundera
