Children of Fire Thomas C. Holt, 2011-09-27 Simply brilliant The first survey of African American history to rival John Hope Franklin and Evelyn Brooks Higginbotham s From Slavery to Freedom Henry Louis Gates Jr Ordinary people don t experience history as it is taught by historians The same people who lived through the Civil War and the eradication of slavery also dealt with the hardships of Reconstruction so why do we almost always treat them separately In Children of Fire renowned historian Thomas C Holt challenges this form to tell the story of generations of African Americans through the lived experience of the subjects themselves with all of the nuances ironies contradictions and complexities one might expect Holt captures the entire African American experience from the moment the first twenty African slaves were sold at Jamestown in 1619 Each chapter focuses on a generation of individuals who shaped the course of American history hoping for a better life for their children but often confronting the ebb and flow of their civil rights and status within society Many familiar faces grace these pages Frederick Douglass W E B DuBois Martin Luther King and Barack Obama but also some overlooked ones Figures like Anthony Johnson a slave who bought his freedom in late seventeenth century Virginia and built a sizable plantation only to have it stolen away from his children by an increasingly racist court system Or Frank Moore a WWI veteran and sharecropper who sued his landlord for unfair practices but found himself charged with murder after fighting off an angry white posse Taken together their stories tell how African Americans fashioned a culture and identity amid the turmoil of four centuries of American history Provocative readable passionate Publishers Weekly

The Body of Property Chad Luck, 2014-09-15 What does it mean to own something How does a thing become mine Liberal philosophy since John Locke has championed the salutary effects of private property but has avoided the more difficult questions of property's ontology Chad Luck argues that antebellum American literature is obsessed with precisely these questions Reading slave narratives gothic romances city mystery novels and a range of other property narratives Luck unearths a wide ranging literary effort to understand the nature of ownership the phenomenology of possession In these antebellum texts ownership is not an abstract legal form but a lived relation a dynamic of embodiment emerging within specific cultural spaces a disputed frontier a city agitated by class conflict Luck challenges accounts that map property practice along a trajectory of abstraction and virtualization The book also reorients recent Americanist work in emotion and affect by detailing a broader phenomenology of ownership one extending beyond emotion to such sensory experiences as touch taste and vision This productive blend of phenomenology and history uncovers deep seated anxieties and enthusiasms about property across antebellum culture

Africans of the Diaspora Vincent Bakpetu Thompson, 2000 A study of the evolution and role of African people in the social and political structures of the Americas Particular emphasis is placed on the evolution of leadership within the United States

Recovering the Black Female Body Michael Bennett, Vanessa D. Dickerson, 2001 Recovering the Black Female Body recognizes the pressing need to highlight through scholarship the vibrant energy of African American women's attempts to wrest control of the physical and symbolic construction of their bodies away from the distortions of others

Animal Narratology Joela Jacobs, 2020-12-15 Animal Narratology interrogates what it means to narrate to speak speak for on behalf of and to voice or represent life beyond the human which is in itself as different as insects bears and dogs are from each other and yet more as individual as a single mouse horse or puma The varied contributions to this interdisciplinary Special Issue highlight assumptions about the human perception of attitude toward and responsibility for the animals that are read and written about thus demonstrating that just as the animal does not exist neither does the human In their zoopoetic focus the analyses are aware that animal narratology ultimately always contains an approximation of an animal perspective in human terms and terminology yet they make clear that what matters is how the animal is approximated and that there is an effort to approach and encounter the non human in the first place Many of the analyses come to the conclusion that literary animals give readers the opportunity to expand their own points of view both on themselves and others by adopting another's perspective to the degree that such an endeavor is possible. Ultimately the contributions call for a recognition of the many spaces, moments and modes in which human lives are entangled with those of animals, one of which is located within the creative bounds of storytelling. Bookseller and the Stationery Trades' Journal, 1891

Pre-Colonial Africa in Colonial African Narratives Donald R. Wehrs, 2016-04-08 In his study of the origins of political reflection in twentieth century African fiction, Donald Wehrs examines a neglected but important body of African texts written in colonial English and French and indigenous Hausa and Yoruba languages. He explores pioneering narrative representations of pre-colonial African history and society in seven texts: Casely Hayford's Ethiopia Unbound 1911, Alhaji Sir Abubaker Tafawa Balewa's Shaihu Umar 1934, Paul Hazoum's Doguicimi 1938, D. O. Fagunwa's Forest of a Thousand Daemons 1938, Amos Tutuola's The Palm Wine Drinkard 1952 and My Life in the Bush of Ghosts 1954, and Chinua Achebe's Things Fall Apart 1958. Wehrs highlights the role of pre-colonial political economies and articulations of state power on colonial era considerations of ethical and political issues and is attentive to the gendered implications of texts and authorial choices. By positioning Things Fall Apart as the culmination of a tradition rather than as its inaugural work, he also reconfigures how we think of African fiction. His book supplements recent work on the importance of indigenous contexts and discourses in situating colonial era narratives and will inspire fresh methodological strategies for studying the continent from a multiplicity of perspectives.

Who Abolished Slavery? Seymour Drescher, Pieter C. Emmer, João Pedro Marques, 2021-01-11 The past half century has produced a mass of information regarding slave resistance ranging from individual acts of disobedience to massive uprisings. Many of these acts of rebellion have been studied extensively, yet the ultimate goals of the insurgents remain open for discussion. Recently several historians have suggested that slaves achieved their own freedom by resisting slavery, which counters the predominant argument that abolitionist pressure groups, parliamentarians and the governmental and anti-governmental armies of the various slaveholding empires were the prime movers behind emancipation. Marques, one of the leading historians of slavery and abolition, argues that in most cases it is impossible to establish a direct relation between slaves uprisings and the emancipation laws that would be approved in the western countries. Following this presentation, his arguments are taken up by a dozen of the most outstanding historians in this field. In a concluding chapter, Marques responds briefly to their comments and evaluates the degree to which they challenge or enhance his view. Lewis

Carroll Among His Books Charlie Lovett, 2015-01-09 Charles Lutwidge Dodgson, known better by his pseudonym Lewis Carroll, was a 19th century English logician, mathematician, photographer and novelist. He is especially remembered for his children's tale Alice's Adventures in Wonderland and its sequel Through the Looking Glass. By the time of Dodgson's death in 1898, Alice, the integration of the two volumes, had become the most popular children's book in England. By the time of his centenary in 1932, it was perhaps the most famous in the world. This book presents a complete catalogue of Dodgson's personal library, with attention to every book the author is known to have owned or read. Alphabetized entries fully describe each book its edition its contents its importance and any particular relevance it might have had to Dodgson The library not only provides a plethora of fodder for further study on Dodgson but also reflects the Victorian world of the second half of the 19th century a time of unprecedented investigation experimentation invention and imagination Dodgson s volumes represent a vast array of academic interests from Victorian England and beyond including homeopathic medicine spiritualism astrology evolution women s rights children s literature linguistics theology eugenics and many others The catalogue is designed for scholars seeking insight into the mind of Charles Dodgson through his books Books and Pamphlets, Including Serials and Contributions to Periodicals Library of Congress. Force, Religion, and the Quest for African American Justice Daniel A. Morris,2025-06-26 This study argues that Black calls for force in the struggle against white supremacy have echoed concepts and principles in the Western just war tradition After establishing that just war theory has ignored Black calls for force and that the Trans Atlantic Slave Trade relied on just war ethics for its justification this book turns to African American resistance rhetoric in three crucial periods of U S history In the antebellum period the Civil Rights movement and the era of mass incarceration African American thinkers have drawn on ideas and forms of logic that run parallel to just war ethics This makes Black rhetoric of forceful resistance morally normal rather than radical or extremist Figures in the Black just war tradition such as David Walker Henry Highland Garnet Harriet Tubman Huey Newton Bree Newsome and others should be included in the discipline of just war ethics and white American Christians should recognize that their endorsements of force are consistent with widely accepted moral positions

Editing Lives Jesse G. Swan,2013-12-12 Central to all post Renaissance scholarship textual studies continues to evolve both in its techniques and methods as well as in the illumination it affords all other areas of modern knowledge The life of our fellow human beings and how we know and tell lives is one such area of modern knowledge that is foundationally affected by theories and practices of textual creation transmission and apprehension This collection of new essays and studies by internationally acclaimed scholars along with a select few who are less acclaimed but of distinct promise provides a view into the contemporary state of scholarship in textual and biographical studies The collection also means to be of especial interest to scholars of the British eighteenth century by concentrating its evidence and argument on topics and subjects important to contemporary eighteenth century studies The volume is inspired by the extensive contributions to the fields by the late O M Brack Jr
