Dorothea Lange Linda Gordon,2010-09-21 Dorothea Lange s photographs define how we remember the Depression generation now an evocative biography defines her creative struggles and enduring legacy We all know Dorothea Lange s iconic photos the Migrant Mother holding her child the gaunt men forlornly waiting in breadlines but few know the arc of her extraordinary life In this sweeping account renowned historian Linda Gordon charts Lange s journey from polio ridden child to wife and mother to San Francisco portrait photographer to chronicler of the Great Depression and World War II Gordon uses Lange s life to anchor a moving social history of twentieth century America re creating the bohemian world of San Francisco the Dust Bowl and the Japanese American internment camps She explores Lange s growing radicalization as she embraced the democratic power of the camera and she examines Lange s entire body of work reproducing more than one hundred images many of them previously unseen and some of them formerly suppressed Lange reminds us that beauty can be found in unlikely places and that to respond to injustice we must first simply learn how to see it Labor's Canvas

Laura Hapke,2009-03-26 At an unprecedented and probably unique American moment laboring people were indivisible from the art of the 1930s By far the most recognizable New Deal art employed an endless frieze of white or racially ambiguous machine proletarians from solo drillers to identical assembly line toilers Even today such paintings particularly those with work themes are almost instantly recognizable Happening on a Depression era picture one can see from a distance the often simplified figures the intense or bold colors the frozen motion or flattened perspective and the uniformity of laboring bodies within an often naive realism or naturalism of treatment In a kind of Social Realist dance the FAP s imagined drillers haulers construction workers welders miners and steel mill workers make up a rugged industrial army In an unusual synthesis of art and working class history Labor s Canvas argues that however simplified this golden age of American worker art appears from a post modern perspective The New Deal s Federal Art Project FAP under the aegis of the Works Progress Administration WPA revealed important tensions Artists saw themselves as cultural workers who had much in common with the blue collar workforce Yet they struggled to reconcile social protest and aesthetic distance Their canvases prints and drawings registered attitudes toward laborers as bodies without minds often shared by the wider culture In choosing a visual language to reconnect workers to the larger society they tried to tell the worker from the work with varying success Drawing on a wealth of social documents and visual narratives Labor s Canvas engages in a bold revisionism Hapke examines how FAP iconography both chronicles and reframes working class history She demonstrates how the New Deal s artistically rendered workforce history reveals the cultural contradictions about laboring people evident even in the depths of the Great Depression not the least in the imaginations of the FAP artists themselves Men of Steel, Women of Wonder Alejo

Benedetti,2019-02-01 Saturated in patriotic colors Superman and Wonder Woman are about as American as baseball and apple pie Superman created in 1938 materialized as the brawny answer to the Great Depression and when Wonder Woman arrived three years later she supported her adopted country by fighting alongside Allied troops in World War II As the proverbial mother and father of the superhero genre these icons appeared to a society in crisis as unwavering beacons of national morality a quality that lent them success on the battlefield and on the newsstand As new crises arise our comic book champions continue to be called into action They adapt and evolve but remain the same potent if flawed symbols of the American way The artists in Men of Steel Women of Wonder an exhibition organized by Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art wrestle with Wonder Woman s standing as a feminist icon position Superman as a Soviet era weapon and question the immigration status of both characters Featuring more than seventy artworks that range from loving endorsements to brutal critiques of American culture this exhibition catalog reveals the enduring presence of these characters and the diverse ways artists employ them

Reclaiming the Americas Tatiana Reinoza,2023-04-18 Tatiana Reinoza examines how geography immigration and art all converged as deepening interests for Latinx graphic artists specifically those working in different forms of printmaking By highlighting the work of four artists based out of four distinct studios in East LA Tempe Austin and East Harlem she is able to uncover how their work these past three decades has transcended the more defined lines of scholarship that focus on specific ethnic groups Chicano Puerto Rican etc She makes a case for how spatial projects allow for a more collective critique of anti immigrant discourse visualize immigrant lives and articulate the ways in which printmaking has been historically complicit in the colonizing of the Americas

Art for the Millions Allison Rudnick,2023-09-05 American art in the 1930s intertwined with the political social and economic tumult of an era not so unlike our own engaged with the public amid global upheaval This publication examines the search for artistic identity in the United States from the stock market crash of 1929 that began the Great Depression to the closure of the Works Progress Administration in 1943 with a focus on the unprecedented dissemination of art and ideas brought about by new technology and government programs During this time of civil economic and social unrest artists transmitted political ideas and propaganda through a wide range of media including paintings and sculptures but also journals prints textiles postcards and other objects that would have been widely collected experienced or encountered Insightful essays discuss but go beyond the era s best known creators such as Thomas Hart Benton Walker Evans Marsden Hartley and Georgia O Keeffe to highlight artists who have received little scholarly attention including women and artists of color as well as designers and illustrators Emphasizing the contributions of the Black Popular Front and Leftist movements while acknowledging competing visions of the country through the lenses of race gender and class Art for the Millions is a timely look at art in the United States made by and for its people

The Jewish Metropolis Daniel Soyer,2021-05-04 The Jewish Metropolis New York City from the 17th to the 21st Century covers the entire sweep of the history of the largest Jewish community of all time It provides an introduction to many facets of that history including the ways in which waves of immigration shaped New York s Jewish community Jewish cultural production in English Yiddish Ladino and German New York s contribution to the development of American Judaism Jewish interaction with other ethnic and religious groups and Jewish participation in the politics and culture of the city as a whole Each chapter is written by an expert in the field and includes a bibliography for further reading The Jewish Metropolis captures the diversity of the Jewish experience in New York New Deal Art in Arizona Betsy Fahlman, 2016-05-26 Arizona's art history is emblematic of the story of the modern West and few periods in that history were more significant than the era of the New Deal From Dorothea Lange and Ansel Adams to painters and muralists including Native American Gerald Nailor the artists working in Arizona under New Deal programs were a notable group whose art served a distinctly public purpose Their photography paintings and sculptures remain significant exemplars of federal art patronage and offer telling lessons positioned at the intersection of community history and culture Art is a powerful instrument of historical record and cultural construction and many of the issues captured by the Farm Security Administration photographers remain significant issues today migratory labor the economic volatility of the mining industry tourism and water usage Art tells important stories too including the work of Japanese American photographer Toyo Miyatake in Arizona's internment camps murals by Native American artist Gerald Nailor for the Navajo Nation Council Chamber in Window Rock and African American themes at Fort Huachuca Illustrated with 100 black and white photographs and covering a wide range of both media and themes this fascinating and accessible volume reclaims a richly textured story of Arizona history with potent lessons for today

Framing the Audience Isadora Helfgott, 2015-10-15 Framing the Audience explores the cultural politics of the Great Depression and World War II through the prism of art appreciation Isadora Helfgott interrogates the ideological and political motivations for breaking down barriers between fine art and popular culture She charts the impact that changes in art appreciation had on the broader political social cultural and artistic landscape Framing the Audience argues that efforts to expand the social basis of art became intertwined with and helped shape broader debates about national identity and the future of American political economy Helfgott chronicles artists' efforts to influence the conditions of artistic production and display She highlights the influence of the Federal Art Project the impact of the Museum of Modern Art as an institutional home for modernism in America and as an organizer of traveling exhibitions and the efforts by LIFE and Fortune magazines to integrate art education into their visual record of modern life In doing so Helfgott makes critical observations about the changing relationship between art and the American public Marion Greenwood Joanne B. Mulcahy, 2025 This book is the first biography of a woman whose star blazed through the twentieth century art world Born in Brooklyn in 1909 artist Marion Greenwood attended and thrived at now storied institutions and arts centers The Art Students League the studio of German modernist Winold Reiss the Woodstock Colony and Yaddo In 1933 she catapulted to international fame as the first woman to paint a public mural in Mexico and was celebrated by Diego Rivera as one of the world's greatest living women mural painters Greenwood traveled the globe to create award winning portraits of people from diverse backgrounds crossing racial cultural and class lines to reflect her vision for a more just world Based on a decade of research and interviews biographer Joanne B Mulcahy integrates Greenwood's adventuresome personal life with her journey to artistic glory. Mulcahy deftly contextualizes Greenwood's participation in the heady art scenes of 1920s and 1930s Mexico, New York City, and Paris, and her role as one of two women artist correspondents during World War II. After social realism and portraiture fell from favor, Greenwood doggedly stuck with the human thing in art. Her freewheeling romantic life defied expectations for women, and she fought sexist critics who mixed acclaim for her work with commentary on her stunning beauty. A feminist pioneer, she made a living as an artist in a time when few women did. In following Greenwood's maverick path and artistic achievements, this book carves out a central place for her in the pantheon of history's remarkable women artists.

Branding the American West Marian Wardle, Sarah E. Boehme, 2016-02-17 Artists and filmmakers in the early twentieth century reshaped our vision of the American West. In particular, the Taos Society of Artists and the California-based artist Maynard Dixon departed from the legendary depiction of the Wild West and fostered new images or brands for western art. This volume, illustrated with more than 150 images, examines select paintings and films to demonstrate how these artists both enhanced and contradicted earlier representations of the West. Prior to this period, American art tended to portray the West as a wild frontier with untamed lands and peoples. Renowned artists such as Henry Farny and Frederic Remington set their work in the past, invoking an environment immersed in conflict and violence. This trademark perspective began to change, however, when artists enamored with the Southwest stamped a new imprint on their paintings. The contributors to this volume illuminate the complex ways in which early twentieth-century artists, as well as filmmakers, evoked a southwestern environment not just suspended in time but also permanent rather than transient. Yet, as the authors also reveal, these artists were not entirely immune to the siren call of the vanishing West, and their portrayal of peaceful yet exotic Native Americans was an expansion rather than a dismissal of earlier tropes. Both brands cast a romantic spell on the West, and both have been seared into public consciousness. Branding the American West is published in association with the Brigham Young University Museum of Art, Provo, Utah, and the Stark Museum of Art, Orange, Texas.

Painting a Hidden Life Mechal Sobel, 2009-03-15 Born into slavery on an Alabama plantation in 1853, Bill Traylor worked as a sharecropper for most of his life. But in 1928 he moved to Montgomery and changed his life, becoming a self-taught lyric painter of extraordinary ability and power. From 1936 to 1946 he sat on a street corner, old, ill, and homeless, and created well over 1,200 paintings. Collected and later promoted by Charles Shannon, a young Montgomery artist, his work received star placement in the Corcoran Gallery's 1982 exhibition Black Folk Art in America. From then on, the spare and powerful radical modernity of Traylor's work helped place him among the rising stars of twentieth-century American artists. Most critics and art historians who analyze Traylor's paintings emphasize his extraordinary form and evaluate the content as either simple or enigmatic narratives of black life. In Painting a Hidden Life, historian Mechal Sobel's trenchant analysis reveals a previously unrecognized central core of meaning in Traylor's near-hidden symbolism: a call for retribution in response to acts of lynching and other violence toward blacks. Drawing on historical records and oral histories Sobel carefully explores the relationship between Traylor's life and his paintings and arrives at new interpretations of his art From an interview with Traylor's great granddaughter Sobel learned that Traylor believed the Birmingham policemen who killed his son in 1929 in fact lynched him a story that neither Traylor nor his family had previously disclosed The trauma of this event Sobel explains propelled Traylor to find a way to voice his rage and spurred the creation of his powerful mysterious visual language Traylor's encoded paintings tell a vibrant multilayered story of conjure power sexual rivalry and violence Revealing an extraordinarily diverse visual universe the symbols in Traylor's paintings reflect the worlds he lived in between 1853 and 1949 the plantation conjure milieu into which he was born the blues culture in which he matured the world of Jim Crow he learned to secretly violate and the Catholic values he adopted in his final years From his African heritage Traylor drew symbols not readily understood by whites He mixed traditional African images with conjure signs with symbols of black Baptists and Freemasons and with images central to the hidden black protest movement the cross and the lynching tree In this groundbreaking examination of an extraordinary artist Sobel uncovers the internalized pain of several generations and traces the paths African Americans blazed long before the march down the Selma Montgomery highway
