Radical Life:

Should You Choose to Live Forever? Stephen Cave, John Martin Fischer, 2023-11-22 In this book Stephen Cave and John Martin Fischer debate whether or not we should choose to live forever This ancient question is as topical as ever while billions of people believe they will live forever in an otherworldly realm billions of dollars are currently being poured into anti ageing research in the hope that we will be able to radically extend our lives on earth But are we wise to wish for immortality What would it mean for each of us as individuals for society and for the planet In this lively and accessible debate the authors introduce the main arguments for and against living forever along with some new ones They draw on examples from myth and literature as well as new thought experiments in order to bring the arguments to life Cave contends that the aspiring immortalist is stuck on the horns of a series of dilemmas such as boredom and meaninglessness or overpopulation and social injustice Fischer argues that there is a vision of radically longer lives that is both recognizably human and desirable This book offers both students and experienced philosophers a provocative new guide to a topic of perennial importance Key Features Gives a comprehensive overview of the main arguments for and against living forever Uses lively examples from myth literature and novel thought experiments Highly accessible avoiding jargon and assuming no prior knowledge without sacrificing intellectual rigour Includes helpful pedagogical features including chapter summaries an annotated reading list a glossary and clear examples

Rhetoric and Ethics in the Cybernetic Age Jeff Pruchnic, 2013-08-15 It has become increasingly difficult to ignore the ways that the centrality of new media and technologies from the global networking of information systems and social media to new possibilities for altering human genetics seem to make obsolete our traditional ways of thinking about ethics and persuasive communication inherited from earlier humanist paradigms This book argues that rather than devoting our critical energies towards critiquing humanist touchstones we should instead examine the ways in which media and technologies have always worked as crucial cultural forces in shaping ethics and rhetoric Pruchnic combines this historical itinerary with critical interrogations of diverse cultural and technological sites the logic of video games and artificial intelligence the ethics of life extension in contemporary medicine the transition to computer automated trading in world stock markets the state of critical theory in the contemporary humanities along with innovative analyses of the works of such figures as the Greek Sophists Kenneth Burke Martin Heidegger Michel Foucault Friedrich Nietzsche and Gilles Deleuze This book argues that our best strategies for crafting persuasive communication and producing ethical relations between individuals will be those that creatively replicate and appropriate rather than resist the logics of dominant forms of media and technology Gastonia 1929 John A.

Salmond,2014-10-27 Of the wave of labor strikes that swept through the South in 1929 the one at the Loray Mill in Gastonia North Carolina is perhaps the best remembered In Gastonia 1929 John Salmond provides the first detailed account of the complex events surrounding the strike at the largest textile mill in the Southeast His compelling narrative unravels the confusing story of the shooting of the town s police chief the trials of the alleged killers the unsolved murder of striker Ella May Wiggins and the strike leaders conviction and subsequent flight to the Soviet Union Describing the intensifying climate of violence in the region Salmond presents the strike within the context of the southern vigilante tradition and as an important chapter in American economic and labor history in the years after World War I He draws particular attention to the crucial role played by women as both supporters and leaders of the strike and he highlights the importance of race and class issues in the unfolding of events Spiritualities, ethics, and implications of human enhancement and

artificial intelligence Ray Kurzweil,Christopher Benek,Jacob Boss,Philip Reed-Butler,Michael Caligiuri,Irene J. Dabrowski,Mark Graves,Anthony L. Haynor,Braden Molhoek,Peter Robinson,Una Stroda,Tracy J. Trothen,Alan Weissenbacher,2020-03-02 By taking a religiously and spiritually literature approach this volume gets the heart of several emerging ethical issues crucial to both human identity and personhood beyond the human as technology advances in the areas of human enhancement and artificial intelligence AI Several significant questions are addressed by the contributors such as How far should we go in improving our biological selves How long should we aspire to live What are fair and just human enhancements When will AIs become people What does AI spirituality consist of Can AIs do more than project humour and emotions What are the religious undertones of these high technology quests for better AI and improved human existence Established and emerging voices explore these questions and more in Spiritualities ethics and implications of human enhancement and artificial intelligence This volume will be of interest to university students and researchers absorbed by issues surrounding spiritualities human enhancement and artificial intelligence while also providing points for reflection for the wider public as these topics become increasingly important to our common future Truly Human Enhancement

Nicholas Agar,2023-09-19 A nuanced discussion of human enhancement that argues for enhancement that does not significantly exceed what is currently possible for human beings The transformative potential of genetic and cybernetic technologies to enhance human capabilities is most often either rejected on moral and prudential grounds or hailed as the future salvation of humanity In this book Nicholas Agar offers a more nuanced view making a case for moderate human enhancement improvements to attributes and abilities that do not significantly exceed what is currently possible for human beings He argues against radical human enhancement or improvements that greatly exceed current human capabilities Agar explores notions of transformative change and motives for human enhancement distinguishes between the instrumental and intrinsic value of enhancements argues that too much enhancement undermines human identity considers the possibility of cognitively enhanced scientists and argues against radical life extension Making the case for moderate enhancement Agar argues that many objections to enhancement are better understood as directed at the degree of enhancement rather than enhancement itself Moderate human enhancement meets the requirement of truly human enhancement By radically enhancing human cognitive capabilities by contrast we may inadvertently create beings post persons with moral status higher than that of persons If we create beings more entitled to benefits and protections against harms than persons Agar writes this will be bad news for the unenhanced Moderate human enhancement offers a more appealing vision of the future and of our relationship to technology An Interdisciplinary Approach to Aging, Biohacking and Technology L.F.

Humanity is nearing a technological tipping point The blistering pace of technological scientific and social change is ushering in an era in which human bodies merge with devices corporations know everything about us and artificial intelligence develops human and even godlike potential In possession of the most powerful tools history has ever seen we will be faced with questions about wisdom authority faith desire and what it means to be human In Braving the Future Douglas Estes equips Christians to thoughtfully and prayerfully prepare for a future of technological reign that is rapidly expanding Drawing on Scripture Christian tradition and scientific literature Estes offers a theology of work creation and personhood that is both prophetic and sturdy enough to keep pace with the technology of a future as yet unknown He helps readers choose trust in God over fearful retreat and following Jesus over uncritical engagement with technology The future may not look exactly like a science fiction movie but are we ready to brave a future of limitless tech and boundless change Neural Gospels: The Digital Rewriting of Faith in a Post-Human World Pastor Yves Gerard, Neural Gospels The Digital Rewriting of

Faith in a Post Human World is a provocative and visionary exploration of how artificial intelligence biotechnology and transhumanist ideologies are reshaping the language practice and very meaning of faith in the 21st century In a world where neural networks write sermons digital prophets emerge on social media platforms and consciousness itself is being uploaded into clouds of code the sacred is no longer confined to ancient texts or traditional rituals it is being rewritten by machines This groundbreaking work examines the collision between theology and technology offering a deep and critical look at what happens when the divine meets the digital Drawing from scripture science fiction posthuman philosophy and real world advancements in AI and neurotheology Neural Gospels dares to ask Can a machine encounter God Will future faith be mediated through algorithms instead of sacraments And what does salvation look like in an age of synthetic consciousness Far from a dystopian warning or utopian dream this book navigates the paradoxes and promises of our time It challenges readers to rethink the boundaries of soul spirit and self in a society where the human body is increasingly viewed as hackable hardware and the mind as programmable software It explores whether spiritual authority can remain relevant when AI can simulate mystical experiences and generate religious texts more fluently than human theologians From cyber churches and metaverse baptisms to AI driven Bible translations and virtual resurrections Neural Gospels charts the emergence of a post human spirituality one that questions whether divine inspiration can coexist with digital creation It probes the theological implications of mind uploading digital immortality and synthetic prophets raising urgent ethical and spiritual questions about identity faith and the future of religious belief Written for theologians futurists cultural critics technologists and curious seekers alike this book is both intellectually rigorous and spiritually attuned It invites readers to wrestle with the sacred in an era of artificial gods and neural revelations challenging them to discern the voice of the true Shepherd amidst the noise of machine learning and digital prophecy Ultimately Neural Gospels is not just about technology s impact on religion it is a meditation on what it means to be human when the traditional boundaries between creator and created organic and artificial sacred and secular begin to blur In this bold theological treatise for the digital age faith is not lost it is transformed rewritten in code and preached from the cloud
