Representational Art, Etc. [With Plates.]. Walter ABELL,1936 The Dignity of Every Human Being Kirk

Niergarth,2015-01-01 The Dignity of Every Human Being studies the vibrant New Brunswick artistic community which challenged the tyranny of the Group of Seven with socially engaged realism in the 1930s and 40s Using extensive archival and documentary research Kirk Niergarth follows the work of regional artists such as Jack Humphrey and Miller Brittain writers such as P K Page and crafts workers such as Kjeld and Erica Deichmann The book charts the rise and fall of social modernism in the Maritimes and the style s deep engagement with the social and economic issues of the Great Depression and the Popular Front Connecting local national and international cultural developments Niergarth s study documents the attempts of Depression era artists to question conventional ideas about the nature of art the social function of artists and the institutions of Canadian culture The Dignity of Every Human Being records an important and previously unexplored moment in Canadian cultural history

Aesthetics and the Environment Allen Carlson,2005-08-08 First book by the world leading authority on the subject Carlson is respected worldwide by both environmentalists and philosophers The topic has a growing following among geographers planners and environmentalists as well as philosophers of aesthetics crossing over many markets

Henry Lee McFee and Formalist Realism in American Still Life, 1923-1936 John Baker,1987-10 The first full length study of the life and works of Henry Lee McFee pioneer American cubist and prominent member of the Woodstock artists colony McFee s still lifes are considered in detail and a survey of the critics art theorists and aestheticians of the period is presented Nearly 200 illustrations including 22 color plates A Center Gallery Publication

The Later Works, 1925-1953 John Dewey,1981 John Dewey s Experience and Nature has been considered the fullest expression of his mature philosophy since its eagerly awaited publication in 1925 Irwin Edman wrote at that time that with monumental care detail and completeness Professor Dewey has in this volume revealed the metaphysical heart that beats its unvarying alert tempo through all his writings whatever their explicit themes In his introduction to this volume Sidney Hook points out that Dewey s Experience and Nature is both the most suggestive and most difficult of his writings The meticulously edited text published here as the first volume in the series The Later Works of John Dewey 1925-1953 spans that entire period in Dewey s thought by including two important and previously unpublished documents from the book s history Dewey s unfinished new introduction written between 1947 and 1949 edited by the late Joseph Ratner and Dewey s unedited final draft of that introduction written the year before his death In the intervening years Dewey realized the impossibility of making his use of the word experience understood He wrote in his 1951 draft for a new introduction Were I to write or rewrite Experience and Nature today I would entitle the book Culture and Nature and the treatment of specific subject matters would be correspondingly modified I would abandon the term experience because of my growing realization that the historical obstacles which prevented understanding of my use of experience are for all practical purposes insurmountable I would substitute the term culture because with its meanings as now firmly established it can fully and freely carry my philosophy of experience

George Santayana's Marginalia George Santayana,2011 A selection of Santayana s notes in the margins of other authors works that sheds light on his thought art and life In his essay Imagination George Santayana writes There are books in which the footnotes or the comments scrawled by some reader s hand in the margins may be more interesting than the text Santayana himself was an inveterate maker of notes in the margins of his books writing although neatly never scrawling comments that illuminate contest or interestingly expand the author's thought. These volumes offer a selection of Santayana's marginalia transcribed from books in his personal library. These notes give the reader an unusual perspective on Santayana's life and work. He is by turns critical, often approving, seldom literary, slangy, frivolous, and even spiteful. The notes show his humor, his occasional outcry at a writer's folly, his concern for the niceties of English prose, and the placing of Greek accent marks. These two volumes list alphabetically by author all the books extant that belonged to Santayana, reproducing a selection of his annotations intended to be of use to the reader or student of Santayana's thought, his art, and his life.

Santayana, often living in solitude, spent a great deal of his time talking to and talking back to a wonderful miscellany of writers from Spinoza to Kant to J. S. Mill to Bertrand Russell. These notes document those conversations. Canadian Painters in a Modern World, 1925-1955 Lora Senechal Carney, 2017-09-27. From the Roaring Twenties and the Group of Seven to the Automatistes and the early Cold War, Canadian artists lived through and embodied an era of global tumult and change. With an interweaving of historical narrative, lavish illustrations, and writings by many of Canada's most revered cultural figures, Lora Senechal Carney illuminates the lives, perspectives, and works of the era's painters and provides glimpses of the sculptors, poets, dancers, critics, and filmmakers with whom they associated. Canadian Painters in a Modern World gives readers direct access to a carefully curated selection of writings, artworks, photos, and other documents that help to reconstruct the public spheres in which artists, including Paul mile Borduas, Emily Carr, Alex Colville, Lawren Harris, David Milne, and Pegi Nicol MacLeod, circulated. Each of the book's eight chapters consists of a narrative about a key issue or debate focusing on the relationship of art to politics and society and on how these are negotiated in an individual's life. Relating artistic engagement with and responses to the Spanish Civil War, the Second World War, and the Cold War, Senechal Carney discovers a common desire for new connections between art and life. Revealing continuities, ruptures, and watershed moments, Canadian Painters in a Modern World showcases artistic production within specific socio-political contexts to shed new light on Canadian art during three decades of conflict and crisis. The Social and the Real: Political Art of the 1930s in the Western Hemisphere, 2006. New Brunswick at the Crossroads Tony Tremblay, 2017-10-25. What is the relationship between literature and the society in which it incubates? Are there common political, social, and economic factors that predominate during periods of heightened literary activity? New Brunswick at the Crossroads: Literary Ferment and Social Change in the East considers these questions and explores the relationships between periods of creative ferment in New Brunswick and the socio-cultural conditions of those times. The province's literature is ideally suited to such a study because of its bicultural character: in both English and French, periods of intense literary creativity occurred at different times and for different reasons. What emerges is a cultural geography in New Brunswick that has existed not in isolation from the rest of Canada but often at the creative forefront of imagined alternatives in identity and citizenship. At a time when cultural industries are threatened by forces that seek to negate difference and impose uniformity, New Brunswick at the Crossroads provides an understanding of the intersection of cultures and social economies contributing to critical discussions about what constitutes the creative in Canadian society especially in rural non central spaces like New Brunswick
