Schochet, 2004-01-01 Tradition is a central concern for a wide range of academic disciplines interested in problems of transmitting culture across generations Yet the concept itself has received remarkably little analysis A substantial literature has grown up around the notion of invented tradition but no clear concept of tradition is to be found in these writings since the very notion of invented tradition presupposes a prior concept of tradition and is empty without one this debunking usage has done as much to obscure the idea as to clarify it In the absence of a shared concept the various disciplines have created their own vocabularies to address the subject Useful as they are these specialized vocabularies of which the best known include hybridity canonicity diaspora paradigm and contact zones separate the disciplines and therefore necessarily create only a collection of parochial and disjointed approaches Until now there has been no concerted attempt to put the various disciplines in conversation with one another around the problem of tradition Combining discussions of the idea of tradition by major scholars from a variety of disciplines with synoptic synthesizing essays Questions of Tradition will initiate a renewal of interest in this vital subject      What Mean These Bones? Mary Lucas Powell, Patricia S. Bridges, Ann Marie W. Mires, 1991-03-30 This volume addresses questions of human adaptation in a variety of cultural contexts with a breadth not found in studies utilizing solely biological or artifactual data These nine case studies from eight Southeastern states cover more than 4 000 years of human habitation from Archaic hunter gatherers in

Louisiana and Alabama to Colonial planters and slaves in South Carolina      Trading Gazes Susan Bernardin, 2003 The story of westering Americans in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries has been told most notably through photographs of American Indians Unlike this vast archive produced primarily by male photographers which depicted American Indians as either vanishing or domesticated the lesser known images by the women featured in Trading Gazes provide new ways of seeing the intersecting histories of colonial expansion and indigenous resistance Four unconventional women Jane Gay who documented land allotment to the Nez Perces Kate Cory an artist who lived for years in a Hopi community Grace Nicholson who purchased cultural items from the Karuk and other northern California tribes and Mary Schaffer who traveled among the Stoney and M t'is of Alberta Canada used cameras to document their cross cultural encounters Trading Gazes reconstructs the rich biographical and historical contexts explaining these women's presence in different Native communities of the North American West Their photographs not only record the unprecedented opportunities available for Euro American women eager to shed gender restrictions but also reveal how women's newfound mobility depended on the increasing restrictions placed on Native Americans in this era By tracing the complex often unexpected relationships forged between these women their cameras and the Native subjects of their photographs Trading Gazes offers a new focus for recovering women's histories in the West while bringing attention to the complicated legacies of these images for Native and non Native viewers      Research Methods in Human Skeletal Biology Elizabeth A. DiGangi, Megan K. Moore, 2012-11-27 Research

Methods in Human Skeletal Biology serves as the one location readers can go to not only learn how to conduct research in general but how research is specifically conducted within human skeletal biology It outlines the current types of research being conducted within each sub specialty of skeletal biology and gives the reader the tools to set up a research project in skeletal biology It also suggests several ideas for potential projects Each chapter has an inclusive bibliography which can serve as a good jumpstart for project references Provides a step by step guide to conducting research in human skeletal biology Covers diverse topics sexing aging stature and ancestry estimation and new technologies histology medical imaging and geometric morphometrics Excellent accompaniment to existing forensic anthropology or osteology works      Preserving What Is Valued Miriam Clavir, 2012-03-01 Preserving What Is Valued explores the concept of preserving heritage It presents the conservation profession's code of ethics and discusses four significant contexts embedded in museum conservation practice science professionalization museum practice and the relationship between museums and First Nations peoples Museum practice regarding handling and preservation of objects has been largely taken as a given and it can be difficult to see how these activities are politicized Clavir argues that museum practices are historically grounded and represent values that are not necessarily held by the originators of the objects She first focuses on conservation and explains the principles and methods conservators practise She then discusses First Nations people's perspectives on preservation quoting extensively from interviews done throughout British Columbia and comparing the British Columbia situation with that in New Zealand In the face of cultural repatriation issues museums are attempting to become more culturally sensitive to the original owners of objects forming new understandings of the right ways of storage and handling of materials Miriam Clavir's work is important for museum professionals conservators those working with First Nations collections in auction houses and galleries as well as students of sociology and anthropology

Cahokia in Context Charles H. McNutt, Ryan Parish, 2019-12-16 This volume highlights the nucleation of St Louis's ancient indigenous population into a place we refer to as Cahokia Mounds This allows us to address not only the broader context of Cahokia's creation as an urban center but also the rapid nature of change throughout its history

Cahokia and the Hinterlands Thomas E. Emerson, R. Barry Lewis, 1991 Covering topics as diverse as economic modeling craft specialization settlement patterns agricultural and subsistence systems and the development of social ranking Cahokia and the Hinterlands explores cultural interactions among Cahokians and the inhabitants of other population centers including Orendorf and the Dickson Mounds in Illinois and Aztalan in Wisconsin as well as sites in Minnesota Iowa and at the confluence of the Mississippi and Ohio rivers Proposing sophisticated and innovative models for the growth development and decline of Mississippian culture at Cahokia and elsewhere this volume also provides insight into the rise of chiefdoms and stratified societies and the development of trade throughout the world
