The Royal Demesne in English History Bertram Percy Wolffe, 1971 The Royal Demesne in English Constitutional History: 1066-1272 Robert Stuart Hoyt, 1950 The Royal Demesne in English Constitutional History Robert Stuart Hoyt, 1971 The Norman Conquest in English History George Garnett, 2020 At a time when the Battle of Hastings and Magna Carta have become common currency in political debate this study of the role played by the Norman Conquest in English history between the eleventh and the seventeenth centuries is both timely and relevant The Cambridge Urban History of Britain Peter Clark, David Michael Palliser, Martin J. Daunton, 2000 Surveys the history of British towns from their post Roman origins down to the sixteenth century A History of the Abbey of Bury St Edmunds, 1257-1301 Antonia Gransden, 2015 St Edmund's Abbey was one of the most highly privileged and wealthiest religious houses in medieval England one closely involved with the central government its history is an integral part of English history This book the second of two volumes offers a magisterial and comprehensive account of the Abbey during the latter part of the thirteenth century based primarily on evidence in the abbey's records over 40 registers survive It begins with an account of the two abbots of this period Simon of Luton and John of Northwold who showed outstanding ability in steering the abbey through difficult times including conflict with the Friars Minor in the town straitened financial circumstances partly caused by oppressive taxation from king and pope and domestic issues This is followed by consideration of such matters as the abbey's mint its economy religious intellectual and cultural life and the abbey's architecture especially the charnel chapel constructed by John which survives to this day The monks dietary regime with examples of actual recipes from the time is examined in a detailed appendix Dr Antonia Gransden is former Reader at the University of Nottingham Manors and Maps in Rural England, from the Tenth Century to the Seventeenth P.D.A. Harvey, 2023-05-31 P D A Harvey is a historian of medieval rural England with a wide interest in the history of cartography this collection of his essays brings together both these strands It first looks at the English countryside from the 10th century to the 15th investigating problems in particular documents in the village community and in underlying long term changes How landlords drew profits from their property in the eleventh and twelfth centuries how and why there followed changes in the way landed estates were run and in the written records they produced what new light their personal seals can throw on medieval peasants are all among the topics discussed while the local management of large estates and the development of the peasant land market are themes that recur throughout There follow essays on the way maps were brought into the management of landed estates in the 16th and 17th centuries starting with the introduction of consistent scale into mapping a new concept crucially important in the general history of topographical maps The collection closes by looking at some of the traps that both documents and maps set for the historian of the English countryside The Royal Demesne in English Constitutional History Robert S (Robert Stuart) Hoyt, 2021-09-10 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge

Culture of Christendom Marc A. Meyer,1993-07-01 The Culture of Christendom brings together original essays by distinguished historians on medieval European history Their range reflects the breadth of Denis Bethell s own interests which though centred on the high medieval church encompassed the culture of the middle ages as a whole

The Estates of the English Crown, 1558-1640 R. W. Hoyle,2002-08-08 This collection of essays is the first full account of the largest estate in early modern England against which the fortunes of all other estates may be judged Previous accounts have tended to regard the Crown lands as a resource to be plundered by successive monarchs in times of need much of the monastic land confiscated by Henry VIII had been sold by the time of his death and the estates had mostly been liquidated to meet the demands of expenditure by 1640 It is not denied in these essays that the estates suffered from the attrition of periodic sale but the estates are also seen as a continuing enterprise of complexity and sophistication Each essay is concerned with the dialogue between the Exchequer and its local administrators and tenants The success and failure of initiatives launched by the Exchequer is illustrated by examples drawn from many communities throughout England
