Young People'S Experiences Of Loss And Bereavement: Towards An Interdisciplinary Approach Ribbens McCarthy, Jane,2006-11-01 Everyone from health care workers to family therapists will find a treasure trove of insight into how young people deal with the deaths of loved ones This book draws together a range of research and includes narrative based case studies to compose a comprehensive overview of various theories and research

Dying, Assisted Death and Mourning ,2009-01-01 Dying and death are topics of deep humane concern for many people in a variety of circumstances and contexts However they are not discussed to any great extent or with sufficient focus in order to gain knowledge and understanding of their major features and aspects The present volume is an attempt to bridge the undesirable gap between what should be known and understood about dying and death and what is easily accessible Included in the present volume are chapters arranged in three sections First there are chapters on aspects of dying written by people who have professional experience and personal insights into the nature of the processes at work and the ways it should be treated Secondly there are chapters on assisted death Euthanasia that illuminate the practices involved in the professional assistance given to persons who suffer from an incurable illness and who do not want their painful life to be medically extended Thirdly there are chapters on mourning examined in a variety of cultural contexts These provide insights for different ways of maintaining the presence of the dead in the life of the living life in the hearts

Reciprocity and Dependency in Old Age Sue Thompson,2013-04-18 This book highlights 1 the significance of reciprocity for the maintenance of self esteem in old age and 2 the negative implications for the well being of dependent older people when that significance goes unrecognized and as a consequence opportunities to give back to society as well as take from it are not facilitated by those in a position to do so The discussion draws on research undertaken in the UK and Southern India into the extent to which having the self perception of being valued in the world is important to older people in receipt of care support and whether in their experience this is recognized by others The author presents an analysis of theoretical insights from leading thinkers across a broad range of literature and from several disciplines including social theory social work philosophy and gerontology The author also gives voice to the perspectives of those dependent older people not often heard because of marginalizing and disempowering processes that contribute to their having little opportunity to be heard in the first place

The emphasis of this book is on aspiration to a meaningful life and continuing personal growth as offering a challenge to dominant discourses that equate old age with decline Loss, Dying and Bereavement in the Criminal Justice System Sue Read, Sotirios Santatzoglou, Anthony Wrigley, 2018-03-22 Life is characterised by movement change and development including transitions losses and grief People experiencing loss must learn to accommodate it and sometimes relearn new roles Whether the offender is accommodating general loss such as transition the loss of others or facing their own impending death the bereavement process can become a particularly complicated experience for those involved in the criminal justice system Criminal offenders may be excluded from participating in grief rituals and may receive few explicit opportunities to talk about a loss they've experienced sometimes resulting in disenfranchised grief Informing thinking around assessment care and support procedures this volume seeks to bring together a range of perspectives from different disciplines on crucial issues surrounding the impact of loss death dying and bereavement for criminal offenders The book will explore inherent challenges and responses to the criminal justice system by considering to what extent offenders loss death dying and bereavement experiences have been or should be recognised in policy and practice The first section considers theoretical approaches to loss the next section translates these issues using professional perspectives to explore practical applications and the final section introduces an offender perspective Through identifying challenges and consolidating evidence this multidisciplinary book will interest researchers interested in loss and bereavement in vulnerable communities concepts of disenfranchised grief end of life care and mental healthcare in the criminal justice system Communication Skills in Health and Social Care Bernard Moss, 2012-03-26 This thoroughly revised and updated Second Edition of Communication Skills for Health and Social Care provides an accessible introduction to the wide range of communication skills needed for contemporary health and social care practice Presented in a unique and easy to use dictionary format the book acts as a working tool which students can dip in and out of throughout their course and continue to use once they have qualified for practice The updated edition includes new chapters on Groupwork Interprofessional Collaboration Emotional Intelligence Assertiveness Information and Communication Technologies ICT Offering a fresh approach to a core topic on the health and social care curriculum each chapter suggests group activities and further reading making this book an ideal resource for students of health social care social work and nursing as well as qualified practitioners Bernard Moss is Emeritus Professor of Social Work Education and Spirituality at Staffordshire University and Senior Fellow and National Teaching Fellow Higher Education Academy UK Grief Memoirs Katarzyna A. Małecka, 2023-09-29 Grief Memoirs Cultural Supportive and Therapeutic Significance bridges literary studies and psychology to evaluate contemporary grief memoirs for use by bereaved and non bereaved individuals This volume positions the grief memoir within life writing and bereavement studies through examination of the genre's characteristics definitions and functions The book presents the views of memoirists helping professionals community members and university students on writing and reading as self expressive self searching and grief witnessing acts after the loss of a loved one Utilizing new data from surveys assessing grief support and bibliotherapy this text discusses the compatibility of grief memoirs with contemporary grief theories and the role of interdisciplinary methods in assisting the bereaved Grief Memoirs Cultural Supportive and Therapeutic Significance will help educators advance the understanding and interpretation of loss within psychology literature and medical humanities classrooms
