This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1871 edition. Excerpt: It was manifest to Mally that whatever any one might say hereafter her present course was plain before her. She must run up the path to Gunliffe's farm and get necessary assistance. If the world were as bad as her grandfather said it would be so bad that she would not care to live longer in it. But be that as it might, there was no doubt as to what she must do now. 83 away she went as fast as her naked feet could carry her up the cliff. When at the top she looked round to see if any person might be within ken, but she saw no one. So she ran with all her speed along the headland of the corn field which led in the direction of old Gunliffe's house, and as she drew near to the homestead she saw that Barty's mother was leaning on the gate. As she approached she attempted to call, but her breath failed her for any purpose of loud speech, so she ran on till she was able to grasp Mrs Gunliffe by the arm. Where's himself, she said, holding her hand upon her beating heart, that she might husband her breath. Who is it, you mean, said Mrs Gunliffe, who participated in the family feud against Trenglos and his granddaughter? What does the girl clutch me for in that way? He's dying, then, that's all. Who is dying? Is it old Malachi? If the old man's bad, we'll send some one down. It aint dada, it's Barty. Where's himself, where's the master? But by this time Mrs Gunliffe was in an agony of despair and was calling out for assistance lustily. Happily Gunliffe the father was at hand, and with him a man from the neighbouring village. Will you not send for the doctor, said Mally. Oh man, you should send for the doctor. Whether any orders were given for the doctor she did not know, but in a very few minutes she was hurrying.
