Rethinking 21st Century Diversity in Teacher Preparation, K-12 Education, and School Policy Suniti Sharma, Althier M. Lazar, 2019-01-14 This book offers educators new understandings of 21st century diversity emerging from contemporary national events within the U S global movements and changes in the world political order that have long lasting impact on local education and call for rethinking traditional generalizations and empirical prescriptions for inclusivity in teaching and learning The book expands the literature on teacher preparation and intercultural education by providing the educational community with critical perspectives theoretical approaches and research methodologies for educational inquiry responsive to diversity Driven by changes in classroom diversity this book offers educators researchers and policy makers a language for articulating complex differences in educational reform policy and practice Learning and Teaching Narrative Inquiry Sheila

Trahar,2011-08-09 In the final chapter of this volume the authors refer to the pedagogical vantage points offered by narrative inquiry an apt comment that encapsulates the volume s purpose and its spirit As an increasing number of people throughout the world and from a broad range of disciplines are turning to narrative as a research methodology this volume is timely in its focus on the learning and teaching of this approach The contributors to the volume all narrative scholars themselves write about the creative and challenging pedagogical activities that they use in order to enable others to learn about and do narrative research The volume will be of particular interest to those teaching narrative research methodologies at both undergraduate and postgraduate level in the social sciences medical sciences and the humanities The contributions from Hong Kong Israel Europe and North America all reflect critically on the rich complexities of using and teaching narrative in those contexts and attend closely to the diverse constituencies of their learning communities Cross-Cultural Schooling

Experiences of Chinese Immigrant Families Shijing Xu,2017-06-28 This book introduces the concept of reciprocal educational learning among cultures with very different historical and philosophical origins The concept of reciprocal learning grows out of a four year study of immigrant Chinese family narrative experiences in a Western context This book captures the lived moments of such transitional lives both in and out of school settings to demonstrate why a child would appear and disappear from different caregivers purview Through the narrative lens of student and family life the study illustrates the intersection of Confucian and Western philosophies of education and how their interaction creates complications as well as benefits for both traditions hence the idea of reciprocal learning Are You Mixed? Sonia E.

Janis,2016-02-01 In Are You Mixed Sonia Janis explores the spaces in between race and place from the perspective of an educator who is multi racial As she reflects on her own experiences as a seventh grade student up to her eventual appointment as a school administrator she learns of the complexity of situating oneself in predetermined demographic categories She shares how she explores the intricacies of undefined spaces that teach her to embrace differences contradictions and complexities in schools neighborhoods and communities Exploring the in betweenness Anzaldua He 2003 2010 of her life as a multi race person problematizes imbedded notions of race gender class and power The power of this memoir lies in its narrative possibilities to capture the contradictions and paradoxes of lives in between race and place to honor the subtleties fluidities and complexities of such experience and to cultivate understanding towards individual experience and the multicultural multiracial contexts that shape and are shaped by such experience He 2003 p xvii This memoir creates new ways to think about and write about in between experience and their relevance to multicultural and multiracial education Janis challenges educators teachers administrators and policy makers to view the educational experience of students with multiracial multicultural and multilingual backgrounds by shattering predetermined categories and stereotyped classifications and looking into unknown and fluid realms of the in betweenness of their lives This challenge helps create equitable and just opportunities and engender culturally responsive and inspiring curricular and learning environments to bring out the best potential in all diverse schools communities neighborhoods tribes and societies

Contextualising Narrative Inquiry Sheila Trahar,2013-04-02 Narrative inquiry is growing in popularity as a research methodology in the social sciences medicine and the humanities In narrative inquiry the transparency of interactions between researcher and research participants together with rich contextual descriptions help to shape and structure research texts rendering them engaging and readable Contextualising Narrative Inquiry argues that all researchers should foreground the importance of the context in which research takes place and develop methodological approaches that are grounded in their local contexts To do so they need to pay attention to how knowledge is constructed shared and understood in those contexts This is particularly important when contexts have been subjugated historically through colonialism and when local indigenous ways of knowing have been ignored or dismissed The contributors to this edited collection have all used narrative inquiry for a range of topics and in a range of contexts including Leadership styles of Asian women The Deaf community in the UK Voluntary celibacy in Malta Administrators in Ghanaian higher education Multiculturalism in primary education in Cyprus Teacher identities in Hong Kong The reflective practitioner in higher education in Malaysia The diversity of the topics illuminates the potential for narrative inquiry to be used to investigate a broad range of issues in many contexts by people with a wide range of backgrounds A common thread throughout is a reflexive discussion of how each contributor used narrative inquiry as a methodological approach highlighting not only its affordances but also the complexities of using it in specific cultural social and historical contexts

(Un)Learning to Teach Through Intercultural Professional Development Candace Schlein,2017-12-01 This book comprises an examination of novice teachers experiences in schools and cultures of schooling across the contexts of Hong Kong Japan and Canada Drawing on narrative inquiry and arts based approaches this study employs experience as a starting point for making sense of both professional and personal encounters in local and foreign settings This work thus sheds light on how people make sense of shifting landscapes in an era of increasing intercultural communication and interaction while addressing important curricular implications of intercultural professional development for equity and social justice

Growing a Soul for Social Change Tonya Huber-Warring,2008-04-01 For readers new to the field of multicultural education and human relations education the recency of these publications heralded as seminal may be confusing for certainly the concepts building the field of multicultural education and human relations education have been around much longer True But for the first time we found the conceptual framework guiding principles and critical works across disciplines and fields in Smith s encyclopedic organization Because of the comprehensive nature of Pritchey Smith s knowledge bases they have been employed as the organizing themes for this volume I would clarify that I have not burdened authors to study Smith's analysis and then apply it to their works the categorization is my own And as is true of any topic the interpretation and application may be broadly applicable One of my major goals in founding this series has been to further develop the knowledge bases with voices from those in the trenches literally and figuratively and at the chalkface while proverbial for some parts of the world chalk remains a teaching staple in many regions of the world Throughout this volume authors will explore and research their own discoveries on this journey narratives of crossing cultures and developing communities reconceptualizing democracy and reinterpreting traditions seeking solidarity and sowing the seeds of social justice Through critical reflection in the shade of these giants the reader may discover Ming Fang's bamboo tree

Personal ~ Passionate ~ Participatory Ming Fang He, JoAnn Phillion, 2008-11-01 Scope of the Book Personal Passionate Participatory Inquiry into Social Justice in Education the first book in the series features 14 programs of social justice oriented research on life in schools families and communities This work done by a diverse group of practitioner researchers educators and scholars connects the personal with the political the theoretical with the practical and research with social and educational change These inquiries demonstrate three distinct qualities Each is personal compelled by values and experiences researchers bring to the work Each is passionate grounded in a commitment to social justice concerns of people and places under consideration Each is participatory built on long term heart felt engagement and shared efforts The principle aspect of the inquiries featured in the book series that distinguish it from others is that researchers are not detached observers nor putatively objective recorders but active participants in schools families and communities Researchers have explicit research agendas that focus on equity equality and social justice Rather than aiming solely at traditional educational research outcomes positive social and educational change is the focal outcome of inquiry The researchers are diverse and their inquiries are far ranging in terms of content people and geographic locations studied These studies reflect new and exciting ways of researching and representing experience of the disenfranchised underrepresented and invisible groups seldom discussed in the literature and challenge stereotypical or deficit oriented perspectives on these groups This book informs pre service and in service teachers educators educational researchers administrators and educational policy makers particularly those who advocate for people who are marginalized and those who are committed to the enactment of social justice and positive educational and social change
