Raab,1997-01-02 It is Easter Sunday April 1945 early in the morning maybe just dawn We stand still like frozen grey statues Us Seven hundred and thirty women wrapped in wet grey threadbare blankets standing in the rain Our blankets hang over our heads drape down to the soil We hold them closed with our hands from the inside leaving only a small opening to peer out so that we save the precious warmth of our breath from Chapter 5 So begins the author s sojourn her search for freedom that begins with the chaotic barrenness in which she found herself after her liberation on Easter Sunday April 1945 and takes her across several continents and half a lifetime Raab paints a brief yet moving picture of her idyllic life before her internment and the shock and the horrors of Auschwitz but it is in the images of life after her liberation that Raab imparts her most poignant story a story told in a clear almost sparse always honest style a story of the brutal and at times the beautiful facts of human nature This book will appeal to a number of audiences to readers interested in human nature under the most trying circumstances to historians of World War II or Jewish history to veterans and their families who lived through

World War II and to those interested in politics and the evils of political extremism Becoming Brothers Howard Waskow, 1993 The authors grew up during the 1940s and 1950s in a quiet Baltimore neighborhood and in this profoundly honest and evocative book they reconstruct their lifelong struggle to be brothers A book for the growing audience of men who are exploring their feelings of friendship and brotherhood Henry James's Style of Retrospect Oliver Herford, 2016-05-26 Henry James's Style of Retrospect traces James's engagement with the writing of the recent past across the last twenty five years of his life and examines the thoroughgoing change his style underwent in this last phase of his career as his focus turned from the observation of contemporary manners to biographical commemoration and autobiographical reminiscence and the balance of his output gradually shifted from fiction to non fiction The late personal writings of the book's subtitle are works of retrospective non fiction They are a varied group representing a broad array of genres and occasions commemorative essays and obituary tributes textual revisions and accounts of revisiting familiar places cultural and literary criticism biography and autobiography and family memoir Oliver Herford proposes that we read the late personal writings as a coherent sequence bound together by a close texture of cross references and allusive echoes and united by James's newly discovered sense for the literary possibilities of non fiction Closely analyzing the style of these writings this study offers a boldly revisionist account of the way style itself challenges and preoccupies the very late James A linked series of innovative close readings takes the major works of this period in sequence addressing a key point of style in each particular attention is paid to procedures of reference to the historical past to real persons and places and objects a dimension of style often neglected and sometimes actively slighted in analyses of James's late work Henry James's Style of Retrospect asks what it means for so distinguished a novelist to alter the foundations of his written manner so strikingly in late life and shows how we may begin to reconfigure our understanding of late Jamesian aesthetics accordingly
