topics discussed in the volume range from Slovenian clitics which are called on to shed new light on the intriguing Person Case Constraint and to provide part of the evidence for a new generalization relating the presence of the definite article and Wackernagel clitics to functional elements such as the future auxiliary and possibility modals the latter of which are discussed also from the perspective of language change Even within the relatively well researched topics like wh movement new findings are presented both in relation to the structure of the left periphery and to the syntax of relative clauses An Introduction to Linguistic Typology Viveka Velupillai, 2012 Offers an introduction to linguistic typology that covers various linguistic domains from phonology and morphology over parts of speech the NP and the VP to simple and complex clauses pragmatics and language change This title also includes a discussion on methodological issues in typology Spatial Interrogatives in Europe and Beyond Thomas Stolz, Nataliya Levkovych, Aina Urdze, Julia Nintemann, Maja Robbers, 2017-08-07 The extant generalizations about the grammar of space rely heavily on the analyses of declarative sentences There is a need to check whether these generalizations also hold in the domain of interrogation To this end this book analyzes data from some 450 languages including non standard varieties The focus is on paradigms of spatial interrogatives such as English where whither and whence and their internal organization These paradigms are checked for recurrent patterns of morphological mismatches such as syncretism and different degrees of complexity e g the number of segments The data base consists of a large parallel literary corpus Le petit prince and translations thereof which is complemented by further sources of information such as descriptive grammars The data are analyzed from a synchronic perspective However diachronic issues are addressed unsystematically too It is shown that the distribution of phenomena which characterize paradigms of spatial interrogatives are subject to areal linguistic factors This is the first typological study of spatial interrogatives It provides new insights for students of the grammar of space morphological paradigms and language typology Evolutionary Phonology Juliette Blevins, 2004-07-22 Evolutionary Phonology is a theory of sound patterns which synthesizes results in historical linguistics phonetics and phonological theory In this book Juliette Blevins explores the nature of sounds patterns and sound change in human language over the past 7000 8000 years the time depth for which the comparative method is reasonably reliable This book presents an approach to the problem of how genetically unrelated languages from families as far apart as Native American Australian Aboriginal Austronesian and Indo European can often show similar sound patterns and also tackles the converse problem of why there are notable exceptions to most of the patterns that are often regarded as universal tendencies or constraints It argues that in both cases a formal model of sound change that integrates phonetic variation and patterns of misperception can account for attested sound systems without reference to markedness or naturalness within the synchronic grammar Sixteenth Century Portuguese Down Under -- Volume Three John Tasker, 2012-04-11 For more than two hundred years scholars and amateurs alike have wrestled with the problem did 16th century Portuguese navigators sail down the east coast of Australia and along the shores of New Zealand Employing endless speculation all kinds of people have proposed all kinds of theories but not one ever resulted in a resolution This book is different Forsaking all speculation and guesswork it finally puts the matter to rest beyond all reasonable doubt A Grammar of Mavea Valérie Guérin,2011-11-30 Spoken on Mavea Island by approximately 32 people Mavea is an endangered Oceanic language of Vanuatu This work provides grammatical descriptions of this hitherto undescribed language Fourteen chapters containing more than 1 400 examples cover topics in the phonology and morphosyntax of Mavea with an emphasis on the latter Of particular interest are examples of individual speaker variation presented throughout the grammar the presence of three labials still used today by a single speaker that were unexpectedly found before the rounded vowel o and a chapter on numerals and the counting system which have long been replaced by Bislama s but are remembered by a handful of speakers Most of the grammatical descriptions derive from a corpus of texts of various genres conversations traditional stories personal histories etc gathered during the author s fieldwork conducted for eleven months between 2005 and 2007 A Dictionary of Nafsan, South Efate, Vanuatu Nicholas Thieberger,Members of the Erakor Community,2021-10-31 This is a dictionary of Nafsan the language spoken in Vanuatu in the south of Efate Island in the villages of Erakor Pango and Eratap Nafsan is one of 130 distinct languages spoken in Vanuatu Over several decades linguist Nicholas Thieberger worked in close collaboration with the Erakor community to record this unique language and to refine its written presentation The resulting publication offers insight into the diversity of meanings available to speakers of Nafsan providing some 3 400 senses for Nafsan words and an English Nafsan finderlist In addition the book gives an overview of the Nafsan sound system provides a list of existing literature on the language dating back to early missionary translations and includes maps of Efate locating nearly 200 place names Readers will also find South Efate cultural knowledge embedded in the explanations of the Nafsan words and their usages A welcome companion to Thieberger s A Grammar of South Efate 2006 this book complements and significantly augments other multimedia resources made available online by the author Numbami Grammar in Ethnohistorical Context Joel Bradshaw,2025-05-31 The Numbami language is a small isolate tied to only one coastal village within the Huon Gulf family of Austronesian languages in Papua New Guinea It is currently classified as threatened with roughly two hundred active speakers according to its latest Ethnologue listing Numbami Grammar in Ethnohistorical Context is the first comprehensive description of the language and its ethnolinguistic relations to neighboring languages both Austronesian and Papuan Language contact has had significant effects on all the Oceanic languages of New Guinea This description therefore offers more ethnohistorical coverage than most reference grammars do documenting such factors as oral history sources evidence of multilingual villages in past and present and frequent movement and prolonged contact among the coastal languages It also notes the recent strong influence of Jab m the German Lutheran mission lingua franca Tok Pisin the national lingua franca and English Linguistic coverage focuses especially on verbs subject mood marking verb serialization deverbal resultatives prepositions and complementizers and the highly productive compositional semantics of two small sets of ubiquitous core verbs The members of one set function as polysemous light verbs while the members of the other set play complementary roles in multiverb path constructions Numbami serial verb constructions SVCs include switch subject as well as same subject relationships between verbs The subjects of some adverbial serial verbs appear to be the events described by the earlier verbs in the SVC Although Numbami appears to be phonologically conservative it has shed most of its inherited Oceanic morphology Possessive suffixes exist only on a few kinship terms there is only one set of genitive pronouns and there are no morphological means of deriving verbs from nouns or nouns from verbs Light verbs and resultatives work to expand the inventory of verbal expressions and postposed attributive genitives help expand the inventory of nominal expressions Relative clauses are postposed and marked at both ends as in most of the neighboring Oceanic languages One chapter notes discourse phenomena including topic marking tail head linkage and a tabular analysis of the roles of overt vs null subjects in narrative texts Those texts are reproduced with interlinear glosses and translations in the appendices

The Linguistics of Eating and Drinking John Newman, 2009-03-11 This volume reviews a range of fascinating linguistic facts about ingestive predicates in the world's languages The highly multifaceted nature of eat and drink events gives rise to interesting clausal properties of these predicates such as the atypicality of transitive constructions involving eat and drink in some languages The two verbs are also sources for a large number of figurative uses across languages with meanings such as destroy and savour as well as participating in a great variety of idioms which can be quite opaque semantically Grammaticalized extensions of these predicates also occur such as the quantificational use of Hausa shaa drink meaning roughly do X frequently regularly Specialists discuss details of the use of these verbs in a variety of languages and language families Australian languages Papuan languages Athapaskan languages Japanese Korean Hausa Amharic Hindi Urdu and Marathi
