Narrative as Virtual Reality 2 Marie-Laure Ryan, 2015-12-01 Rethinking textuality mimesis and the cognitive processing of texts in light of new modes of artistic world construction Winner of the Aldo and Jeanne Scaglione Prize for Comparative Literary Studies from the Modern Language Association of America Is there a significant difference between engagement with a game and engagement with a movie or novel Can interactivity contribute to immersion or is there a trade off between the immersive world aspect of texts and their interactive game dimension As Marie Laure Ryan demonstrates in Narrative as Virtual Reality 2 the questions raised by the new interactive technologies have their precursors and echoes in pre electronic literary and artistic traditions Approaching the idea of virtual reality as a metaphor for total art Ryan applies the concepts of immersion and interactivity to develop a phenomenology of narrative experience that encompasses reading watching and playing The book weighs traditional literary narratives against the new textual genres made possible by the electronic revolution of the past thirty years including hypertext electronic poetry interactive drama digital installation art computer games and multi user online worlds like Second Life and World of Warcraft In this completely revised edition Ryan reflects on the developments that have taken place over the past fifteen years in terms of both theory and practice and focuses on the increase of narrativity in video games and its corresponding loss in experimental digital literature Following the cognitive approaches that have rehabilitated immersion as the product of fundamental processes of world construction and mental simulation she details the many forms that interactivity has taken or hopes to take in digital texts from determining the presentation of signs to affecting the level of story Fifty-Four Pigs
