Forest Lost Maron E. Greenleaf,2024-10-07 Forest Lost is an ethnography of forest carbon offsets and the wider effort to make the living rainforest valuable in the Brazilian Amazon Beyond the Megacity Nadine Reis,Michael Lukas,2022-03-01 Beyond the Megacity connects and reconnects the global debate on the contemporary urban condition to the Latin American tradition of seeing considering and theorizing urbanization from the margins It develops the approach of peripheral urbanization as a way to integrate the theoretical agendas belonging to global suburbanisms neo Marxist accounts of planetary urbanization and postcolonial urban studies and to move urban theory closer to the complexity and diversity of urbanization in the Global South From an interdisciplinary perspective Beyond the Megacity investigates the natures causes implications and politics of current urbanization processes in Latin America The book draws on case studies from various countries across the region covering theoretical and disciplinary approaches from the fields of geography anthropology sociology urban studies agrarian studies and urban and regional planning and is written by academics journalists practitioners and scholar activists Beyond the Megacity unites these unique perspectives by shifting attention to the places processes practices and bodies of knowledge that have often been neglected in the past Another Boom for Amazonia? Jr. Penn,2010-05 This study examines the socioeconomic and environmental implications of the new camu camu industry in Peru Camu camu Myrciaria dubia is a small tree native to wetlands of the Amazon basin It is especially abundant in Peruvian Amazonia The high vitamin C content of the fruit has generated interest in exporting camu camu products from Amazonia to more developed countries The government of Peru has been actively promoting this new extractive industry as well as the planting of camu camu in rural areas Non governmental development organizations and private industry are now actively involved with camu camu projects and enterprises In Peru enthusiasm for this native species is high because camu camu is expected to provide a much needed and sustainable economic boost for the region However many questions about the environmental implications and socioeconomic impacts of the camu camu export industry need to be answered in order to understand its ecological and economic viability and its effects on business and in rural communities Winner of 2010 Dissertation Excellence Award Findings indicate that camu camu has provided significantly more income to rural residents than is provided by the traditional boom and bust economies of Amazonia Households who adopted camu camu as a new crop in their floodplain agroforestry systems farmed significantly more floodplain land than non adopters and were especially adept at experimenting with new innovations Lack of agricultural credit is a major constraint to adopting camu camu as a new crop in Peru Geographic isolation and the location of processing facilities in relation to fruit harvests present major obstacles to the economic viability of the new industry Camu camu was found to be cultivated with a higher diversity of annual crops than is typical in floodplain fields of the region Extraction of camu camu fruits from the wild does not appear to have a negative environmental impact at least in the initial years of the industry This non timber forest product in the process of domestication can support a viable industry in the Peruvian Amazon if agricultural extension methods and marketing channels are improved

Agouti on the wedding menu: Bushmeat harvest, consumption and trade in a post-frontier region of the Ecuadorian Amazon Ian Cummins, Miguel Pinedo-Vasquez, Alexander Barnard, Robert Nasi, 2015-10-06 The availability consumption and trade of bushmeat is highly variable across time and space This paper examines how the bushmeat market in Napo Ecuador has evolved alongside a variety of interconnected factors including local game scarcity increased law enforcement infrastructure development and increasing urbanization Much of the human occupied landscape has already undergone extinction filters with only the most hunting resistant species still present However Napo maintains significant areas of largely intact forest which are not hunted due distance from roads and rough topography which may serve as source habitat in the future Two modes of hunting are identified both of which have very different implications for conservationists and for rural livelihoods Supplemental or sustenance hunting generally focuses on more abundant species and thus occurs primarily within local agroforestry systems or nearby patches of forests Commercial hunting meanwhile takes place within larger catchments and is focused on large bodied species which are especially susceptible to hunting pressure Efforts by the Ecuadorian government to interdict bushmeat have largely driven the trade underground making it difficult to estimate current consumption rates Demand generated by traditional Kichwa wedding parties remain a significant driver of commercial hunting Policy recommendations include a greater focus on species level game management greater education about endangered species and more emphasis on using conservation programs to create corridors between protected areas Due to the relatively small size of most communal forest areas wildlife management is especially difficult for wide ranging species and conservation efforts should focus on common pool resource management
