Representing and Imagining America Philip John Davies, 2019-06-01 The international authors of this book open a range of windows on our study of the USA Representing and Imagining America Philip Davies, 1996

International Noir Pettey Homer B. Pettey, 2014-11-11 Following World War II film noir became the dominant cinematic expression of Cold War angst influencing new trends in European and Asian filmmaking International Noir examines film noir's influence on the cinematic traditions of Britain France Scandinavia Japan Hong Kong Korea and India This book suggests that the film noir style continues to appeal on such a global scale because no other cinematic form has merged style and genre to effect a vision of the disturbing consequences of modernity International noir has however adapted and adopted noir themes and aesthetic elements so that national cinemas can boast an independent and indigenous expression of the genre Ranging from Japanese silent films and women's films to French Hong Kong and Nordic New Waves this book also calls into question critical assessments of noir in international cinemas In short it challenges prevailing film scholarship to renegotiate the concept of noir Ending with an examination of Hollywood's neo noir recontextualization of the genre and post noir's reinvigorating critique of this aesthetic International Noir offers Film Studies scholars an in depth commentary on this influential global cinematic art form further offering extensive bibliography and filmographies for recommended reading and viewing J. Lee Thompson Steve Chibnall, 2021-06-15 First published on the fiftieth anniversary of his directorial debut this book was the first to examine the work of a man once hailed as the finest film maker to emerge from the British studio system after the Second World War Before being recruited by Hollywood J Lee Thompson made a string of classic films including Yield to the Night 1956 Ice Cold in Alex 1958 Tiger Bay 1959 North West Frontier 1959 and The Guns of Navarone 1961 He worked in the Hollywood industry into his late eighties making nearly thirty films as a director and producer between 1960 and 1990 He remains best known however for his first the immortal thriller Cape Fear 1962 Drawing on extensive interview material Steve Chibnall traces Lee Thompson's career in British cinema and offers an analysis of his films which reveals remarkable and previously unacknowledged continuities of style and theme This is a book for anyone interested in the history of British cinema and particularly those who enjoy the best of 1950s and 1960s film Knowing Audiences Martin Barker, Kate Brooks, 1998 Exploring the influence action films have on audiences this book considers how people relate to and are influenced by such films as Judge Dredd Solar Flares Andrew M. Butler, 2012 The politics of science fiction books films and television in the 1970s Researching Subcultures, Myth and Memory Bart van der Steen, Thierry P.F. Verburgh, 2020-07-30 This book brings together contributions that analyse how subcultural myths develop and how they can be studied Through critical engagement with history writing and other sources on subcultures by contemporaries veterans popular media and researchers it aims to establish how stories and histories of subcultures emerge and become canonized through the process of mythification which developments and actors are crucial in this process and finally how researchers like historians sociologists and anthropologists should deal with these myths and myth making processes By considering these issues and questions in relation to mythmaking this book provides new insights on how to research the identity history and cultural memory of youth subcultures The Changing Portrayal of Adolescents in the Media Since 1950 Patrick Jamieson, Daniel Romer, 2008-07-22 Adolescents are eager consumers of mass media entertainment and are particularly susceptible to various forms of media influence such as modeling desensitization and contagion These once controversial phenomena are now widely accepted along with the recognition that the media are a major socializer of youth During the economic boom of the post World War II era marketers and advertisers identified adolescents as a major audience which led to the emergence of a pervasive youth culture Enormous changes ensued in the media's portrayal of adolescents and the behaviors they emulate These changes were spurred by increased availability and consumption of television which joined radio film and magazines as major influence on youth Later the rapid growth of the video game industry and the internet contributed to the encompassing presence of the media Today opportunities for youthful expression about to the point where adolescents can easily create and disseminate content with little control by traditional media gatekeepers In The Changing Portrayals of Adolescents in the Media since 1950 leading scholars analyze the emergence of youth culture in music and powerful trends in gender and ethnic racial representation sexuality substance use violence and suicide portrayed in the media This book illuminates the evolution of teen portrayal the potential consequences of these changes and the ways policy makers and parents can respond Imagining America Alan M. Ball, 2004-09-09 In Imagining America historian Alan M Ball explores American influence in two newborn Russian states the young Soviet Union and the modern Russian Republic Ball deftly illustrates how in each era Russians have approached the United States with a conflicting mix of ideas as a land to admire from afar to shun at all costs to emulate as quickly as possible or to surpass on the way to a superior society Drawing on a wide variety of sources including contemporary journals newspapers films and popular songs Ball traces the shifting Russian perceptions of American cultural social and political life As he clearly demonstrates throughout their history Russian imaginations featured a United States that political figures and intellectuals might embrace exploit or attack but could not ignore American Film and Politics from Reagan to Bush Jr. Philip John Davies, Paul Wells, 2002-10-11 Focusing on the two decades leading to the beginning of the 21st century this collection examines central issues in American politics and society through the films of the period Using everything from Oliver Stone to Disney Clint Eastwood to John Sayles Jurassic Park to Dumb and Dumber the international array of authors explore a number of themes These include the cinematic views of political institutions of politically significant places of the projection of major issues such as gender family and race and the cultural politics of the film makers themselves in America at the start of a new century American Sacred Space David Chidester, Edward T. Linenthal, 1995-11-22 In a series of pioneering studies this book examines the creation and the conflict behind the creation of sacred space in America The essays in this volume visit places in America where economic political and social forces clash over the sacred and the profane from wilderness areas in the American West to the Mall in Washington D C and they investigate visions of America as sacred space at home and abroad Here are the beginnings of a new American religious history told as the story of the contested spaces it has inhabited The contributors are David Chidester Matthew Glass Edward T Linenthal Colleen McDannell Robert S Michaelson Rowland A Sherrill and Bron Taylor

Deconstructing History Alun Munslow,1997 In Deconstructing History Alun Munslow examines history in the postmodern age providing an introduction to the topics and debates inherent in a postmodern approach to history Detailing both empiricist and deconstruction issues and considering the arguments of both schools Munslow debates the position that not only is history defined as the textual product of historians but also that narrative may provide the textual model for the past itself An examination of the character of historical evidence and an exploration of the role of historians as well as a discussion of the failure of traditional historical models is included Munslow maps the controversies involved in and assesses the merits of the deconstructionist position arguing that instead of beginning with past events themselves history begins with representations of the past

Objectifying China, Imagining America Caroline Frank,2011 With the ever expanding presence of China in the global economy Americans more and more look east for goods and trade But as Caroline Frank reveals this is not a new development China loomed as large in the minds and account books of eighteenth century Americans as it does today Long before they had achieved independence from Britain and were able to sail to Asia themselves American mariners merchants and consumers were aware of the East Indies and preparing for voyages there Focusing on the trade and consumption of porcelain tea and chinoiserie Frank shows that colonial Americans saw themselves as part of a world much larger than just Britain and Europe Frank not only recovers the widespread presence of Chinese commodities in early America and the impact of East Indies trade on the nature of American commerce but also explores the role of the this trade in American state formation She argues that to understand how Chinese commodities fueled the opening acts of the Revolution we must consider the power dynamics of the American quest for china and China during the colonial period Filled with fresh and surprising insights this ambitious study adds new dimensions to the ongoing story of America s relationship with China

Approaches to Landscape Richard Muir,1999-01-20 Approaches to Landscape introduces and explores the main perspectives in this increasingly popular field of study Written in an accessible style and illustrated throughout with relevant photographs maps and diagrams it provides a comprehensive review of the literature and key concepts for Landscape Studies

Political Parties and the Collapse of the Old Orders John Kenneth White,Philip John Davies,1999-01-07 With the passage of the Cold War political parties in nearly every corner of the globe have undergone a vast upheaval Old ideas have become obsolete electoral maps have been redrawn party structures have been rebuilt and new leaders have emerged Political Parties and the Collapse of the Old Orders describes these changes using several countries as laboratories the United States

United Kingdom France Germany Italy Canada Australia Mexico Israel South Africa and Russia While the nature and extent of the political upheavals vary from place to place the transformations in each nation's party system have been extraordinary In this new world order the old political arrangements and old ways of doing things have disappeared The altered states of political parties in the post Cold War world pose a central question what does change look like The answers given here illuminate our understanding of why the world has changed and how political parties are attempting to cope with it

Rethinking American History in a Global Age Thomas Bender, 2002-05-14 In One eloquent essay after another some of the wisest historians of our time write American history in a grand cosmopolitan context From the era of discovery to the present histories that we thought we knew of labor of race relations of politics of gender relations of diplomacy of ethnicity are more richly understood when causes and consequences are traced throughout the globe One emerges invigorated ready to welcome a new American history for a new international century Linda K Kerber author of No Constitutional Right to Be Ladies Women and the Obligations of Citizenship Rethinking American History in a Global Age is an extremely stimulating and thought provoking collection of essays written by leading historians who offer wider contexts for illuminating the traditional themes and issues of American national history Particularly impressive is the book's combination of caution and original sometimes daring insights David Brion Davis author of In the Image of God Religion Moral Values and Our Heritage of Slavery For decades American historians have been urging one another to place our culture in comparative or transnational perspective Thomas Bender's unique volume includes not only essays theorizing such efforts and essays exemplifying such work at its most successful and its most provocative it also provides more skeptical assessments questioning whether American historians can meet the challenge of overcoming our longstanding national preoccupations Rethinking American History in a Global Age is an indispensable book that will shape the work of a rising generation of historians whose horizons will extend beyond our own shores James T Kloppenberg author of The Virtues of Liberalism

Writing Security David Campbell, 1992 No Escape Paul Passavant, 2003-10 No Escape proves that liberal government and nationalism can mutually reinforce each other taking as its example a preeminent and seemingly universal liberal legal right freedom of speech and illustrating how it can function in a way that actually reproduces nationally exclusive conditions of power American Politics in Hollywood Film Ian Scott, 2000 This is the first book to investigate Hollywood's treatment of American politics politicians and political institutions The author explains the influence through creative ideological and financial means that Hollywood has on politics and vice versa Key questions of agenda setting are addressed as are the value oriented frames of reference that Hollywood has helped shape in educating and directing the American public about politics and democracy American Politics in Hollywood Film is structured thematically introducing sub genres of election films political biographies action adventure and thriller films There is an overarching chronological pattern beginning in the 1930s and ending in the 1990s allowing the reader to trace the progression of the genre 25 black white film stills are included
