The Psychology Research Handbook Frederick T. L. Leong, James T. Austin, 2023-11-16

In the Third Edition of The Psychology Research Handbook, editors Frederick T. L. Leong and James T. Austin have assembled experienced expert researchers to provide graduate students and research assistants with a comprehensive framework for conducting many types of psychology research. The book is organized around the idea of a research script following the step-by-step process of research planning, design, data collection, analysis, and disseminating research. Many chapters are coauthored by advanced graduate students to give their fellow students a sense of real-world research, adding to the clarity and practicality of many chapters. Students and instructors alike will appreciate chapters on topics typically missing from introductory methods texts, including applying for research grants, dealing with journal editors and reviewers, working within research teams, and conducting cross-cultural research. Structures such as recommended readings and exercises guide students to develop and expand their research skills. New chapters include Power and Evidence IRB as Critical Collaborators in Research, Alternative Data Collection Strategies, Structural Equation Modeling, and Replicability and Reproducibility. A comprehensive, easy-to-understand guide to the entire research process, this book quickly and efficiently equips advanced students and research assistants to conduct a full research project.

Research Methods for Massage and Holistic Therapies Glenn Hymel, 2005-09-23

This comprehensive resource covers a broad array of research strategies available to massage therapists to give them the tools they need to be knowledgeable readers of research literature as well as active researchers. The primary focus of the book is on the quantitative aspect of research that encompasses the principal types of studies most extensively used in the various health care professions, specifically massage therapy. Extensive coverage is also given to the qualitative and integrative research categories that are progressively gaining recognition among researchers in various health science disciplines and professions. Accommodates the March 2003 mandate from the Commission on Massage Therapy Accreditation (COMTA) that massage therapy schools incorporate into their curricula provisions to ensure a research-literate profession. Examples and techniques for interpreting research guide practitioners and students to be knowledgeable readers of massage therapy research, allowing application to practice. Relies heavily on concept maps, flowcharts, tables, and illustrations, and excerpts of published studies to augment the book's narrative. Development of topics by providing pictorial displays and summaries of the material. Literature-based and hypothetical research examples, illustrations from several manual therapy professions employing therapeutic massage, make the material pertinent to real-life settings. An introductory section at the beginning of each chapter reviews the material covered in the previous chapter and how it relates to the new material Chapter coverage spans the quantitative qualitative and integrative research categories and affiliated research strategies and methods are considered in detail Review summary tables give an overview of the narrative development of topics Boxes provide the essential features of a given topic Relies on multiple examples of possible research scenarios and illustrative excerpts from the published research literature Content is cross referenced for use with the Massage Therapy Foundation s Massage Therapy Research Curriculum Kit to provide both instructors and students in the 6 15 and 24 hour options levels an extensively developed resource in one place Each chapter includes recommended web sites and software application packages for further information
