

Should Life Sustaining Medical Care be Rationed Based on Age

By 2040, people over 65 will account for 21% of the population and consume 45% of all health care expenditures.

- 1/3 of the annual Medicare costs are for the 5-6% of beneficiaries who die that year. (Is this a problem ...or is it just an expense to be expected?)
- 40 million Americans have no medical insurance and are at risk of being denied basic healthcare services. At the same time the government pays most of the healthcare costs of the elderly. The amount of $$ aid to the elderly is greater than to any other group and the elderly (as a group) have the highest disposable income. Fair?
- British vs. American system
- British system strives for basic medical care for all versus expensive technology for the few who might benefit. Results = nearly identical health status and life expectancy at 60% of the cost

Yes?

- Should medical care for the elderly who have lived their natural life expectancy consist only of pain relief rather than expensive services that serve only to forestall death?
- Is it both economically valid and morally acceptable to limit health care for the elderly?
- "Aging and death in old age are inevitable....But premature death, and bad schools, and blighted urban areas of great poverty are not inevitable"
- Current situation is a result of U.S being an "...affluent, hyper-individualistic, technology driven society"

No?

- Medical decisions should not be based on whether or not an individual is "deserving" of care. Society doesn't have the right or capability of making that decision.
- "Slippery-slope" argument. Limiting high-tech care may lead to other limitations in care
- Couldn't other health care expenditures being questioned as well.
- (Public monies and health insurance monies for infertility treatments in an already overcrowded nation/world)
