In recent years museums have found themselves on the front pages for all the wrong reasons News coverage once reserved for exciting exhibits or landmark donations now shines a harsh spotlight on controversies leadership disputes funding flaws political orders and an array of reputational crises Two thirds of museum leaders report feeling unprepared when facing journalists with many describing their first media crisis as overwhelming and damaging These stories broadcast to national audiences shape public perceptions in minutes sometimes undoing years of careful work The heart of the issue lies in a critical and often overlooked gap while museum directors typically master museum administration curatorial or educational work few possess the training or experience needed to respond to relentless media scrutiny Nearly every museum from the largest institution to local history centers struggles with limited resources This gap has led to missed opportunities for positive news coverage and in some cases public misunderstandings that have hurt careers and endangered institutional trust Museum Flack arrives at this moment to fill the void an essential guide for everyone from students entering the field to seasoned executives and board members Drawing from lessons earned in high stakes media campaigns in aerospace and technology and enriched by illuminating museum specific case studies this book lays out exactly how museum professionals can Shape compelling narratives for the media Turn crisis moments into opportunities for trust building Secure positive national news coverage with thoughtful planning not enormous budgets Confidently navigate the modern media landscape from newspapers to TikTok Museum Flack unpacks the techniques behind headlines and empowers any museum professional to advocate for their institution safeguard its reputation and seize the media spotlight for all the right reasons Every chapter offers step by step tactics and real world examples transforming complex communications challenges into clear actionable strategies The time to master museum public relations is now Readers who embrace these lessons will champion their institutions protect their legacies and help museums thrive even under the sharpest media lens Audio and Video

Pinter's Odd Man Out Sidney Homan,1993 Pinter's Odd Man Out records Sidney Homan's experience directing the playwright's Old Times for both stage and television His most commercially successful play and surely one of his best no other work of Pinter's has generated more critical and scholarly commentary or more varied sometimes conflicting readings In the two opening chapters Homan surveys the theatrical and critical history of the play before describing the generic world of Pinter that provides the context of Old Times secluded rooms their occupants and the visitor who in seeking entrance challenges the room's exclusive yet deceptive serenity the outside and the threat it poses the subtext pressing on the dialogue the power of the past and perception the presence of the play itself characters who function as artists the issue of gender mother and father figures and the silence of Pinter's pauses Homan then describes his company's preparations for the performance ranging from the director's concept the set props costumes lighting and music to blocking and the rehearsal period After his own account of the stage production and the ways in which the audience taught the performers through their reactions to and discoveries about the play Homan turns to his actors Stephanie Dugan Thomas Pender and Sandra Langsner who in their own words describe how they wrestled with the characters of Kate Deeley and Anna from rehearsals to performance A chapter on The Camera as Guest records the experience of filming the stage play Here the focus is on the technological and aesthetic differences between the media of television and the stage and what effect such differences had on the filmed version of Old Times To what degree does the camera allow the director to assert more control What changes in blocking set and lighting were required In an appendix Homan looks at Carol Reed's 1950s film Odd Man Out which figures prominently in Old Times and which may have been a source in a highly flexible use of that term for the play On the surface Pinter's Odd Man Out concentrates on a single play In reality it is about the ways in which people in the theatre approach a production the process they go through from rehearsals to opening night and the complex interaction among playwright director actors and audience It also raises the issue of what happens when a work intended for the stage is translated to another medium such as television If the book at times suggests that the worlds of the scholar and the theatre professional are different indeed incompatible in some ways it also shows how the two professions can learn from each other
