The Olden Time: Stories for Betty Elizabeth Hawley, 2005-10-04 This project is based on the reminiscences of Elizabeth Hawley Bowen Everett 1857 1940 She originally compiled these stories records and reflections about her life and her family in response to curiosity expressed by her grand daughter Betty Bowen Hanes Her collection is called The Olden Time or Stories for Betty As we immersed ourselves in this family s history we became convinced that the experiences of its various members represented those of countless Americans Their participation in this country s struggle for independence the western migration the establishment of towns on the prairie in school teaching from Maine to Mississippi and Nebraska make this story significant beyond its interest to the family s descendents In consequence we made the decision to annotate the collection in an effort to aid the modern reader with obscure references and to provide some historical background We have presented Elizabeth Hawley s own work with only the slightest editing and occasional rearrangement and we have clearly identified our additions as footnotes by brackets or a change in typeface Several observations should be mentioned here The influence of New England culture on the prairie society is marked The interest in education is attested by both the number of schools established in these small towns and the number of students who enrolled Women and girls attended school as well as boys and young men Women taught even in male preparatory schools and ran their own schools Religion in the form of protestant denominations was a strong influence and along with it temperance societies Little distinction was made among the various protestant traditions as long as the preaching was faithful and effective for the church of one s family might well be unrepresented in a new town Customs of dress and manners were transported from New England along with the settlers Land divisions took similar forms as did the governing bodies of townships As a family history this is an odyssey of school teachers Their devotion to education is represented first in Maine by The Reverend Reuben Nason s Gorham Academy now located on the campus of the University of Southern Maine and finally at the end of the western journey by the presence of the family home facing the campus of the University of Nebraska There were teachers in each generation both men and women in preparatory schools and seminaries from Maine and New York to Mississippi Iowa and Nebraska and beginning with Reuben Nason s graduation from Harvard in 1802 students at Bowdoin and Dartmouth Colleges at the University of Illinois and finally the University of Nebraska where the young Hawleys studied We offer this collection of memories stories and anecdotes to all who are interested in this period of American history and to the descendents of these hardy folk

Photography and Play Erin C. Garcia, 2012 Photography and leisure go hand in hand Cameras are part of our everyday lives but we are never more likely to take a picture or to be photographed than when we are at play As recreation and entertainment flourished in the nineteenth century so too did the new medium of photography Cameras became increasingly accessible to amateurs and were quickly deemed an indispensable part of what it meant to have fun Acting as social commentators many artists also turned their attention to the subject of pleasure and entertainment often observing how photography itself has changed the way we spend our free time Photography and Play reveals the various ways that artists throughout photographic history have turned to topics as diverse as Victorian billiard players Parisian barflies moviegoers sightseers and suburban sunbathers The book features eighty seven photographs all drawn from the collection of the J Paul Getty Museum that span nearly 150 years of image making The works included are by such noted artists as Diane Arbus Eugène Atget Brassai Henri Cartier-Bresson Walker Evans Andr   Kertsz Bill Owens Man Ray Edward Steichen Joel Sternfeld Alfred Stieglitz Weegee and Garry Winogrand all of whom documented people at play The illuminating introductory essay traces the relationship between the growing importance of leisure over the past 150 years and the part that photography has played in changing how we see ourselves
