

A photograph of a dirt road winding through a forest. The trees on either side have autumn-colored foliage in shades of orange, yellow, and brown. The road leads towards a bright light at the end of the path, creating a strong perspective. The overall mood is peaceful and contemplative.

Partnership is not a posture but a process-a continuous process that grows stronger each year as we devote ourselves to common tasks.

Pasque,John C. Burkhardt,2023-07-03 What practices can researchers use to gain a more nuanced understanding of educational issues in the community and be part of the solution to those issues Engaged Research and Practice is about two prevailing and complementary ideas that have surfaced in the higher education arena engaged research and higher education for the public good Engaged research is scholarship that not only attempts to open up new knowledge but it does so with a sense that the new knowledge insight and directions have a direct relationship to needs and problems within our communities institutions and policy arenas Engaged actionable or participatory research and scholarship attempts to tackle the identified issues of our communities and society This handbook offers important insights and tangible examples of how higher education leaders may work directly with communities and in policy settings to understand the deeper meanings often lost in conversations about educational opportunity Each chapter addresses the ways in which faculty community and administrative leaders may connect research and practice through unique research projects The authors offer clear explanations of how their engaged research was conducted to illustrate explicit pathways for practitioners This book also includes short narratives where authors involved with this research reflect on their experiences and the lessons they have learned while immersed in community and policy related work Partnership and Recognition in Action Research Christine Edwards-Groves,Anette

Olin, Gunilla Karlberg-Granlund, 2020-04-28 Critical participatory action research creates opportunities for people to work together to solve problems and address issues about the conditions under which they work through mutually agreed on actions in practice Partnership and recognition hold together the practices of critical participatory action research and as mutually entwined ideals are fundamental for site based education development Drawing on the theory of practice architectures this book interrogates and extends the concepts and practices of partnership and recognition in action research as they are explored in different educational settings and as these are played out in the day to day experiences and practices of people participating and collaborating in educational change Partnership and recognition are considered in terms of the agency and actions of both individuals and collectives as they encounter one another in educational change and in terms of the cultural discursive material economic and social political conditions that enable and constrain possibilities for partnerships and recognition Of central importance is the concept of practice theory and the authors illuminate how recognition change learning and development practices are experienced and recognised by people in a range of partnerships This book was originally published as a special issue of Educational Action Research The Relationship-Driven Supply Chain Stuart Emmett, Barry Crocker, 2016-02-24 Collaboration in supply chains means managing the chain beyond traditional or transactional methods It involves rethinking the way your business is managed both internally and externally and the ways in which employees and partners relate to each other Stuart Emmett and Barry Crocker s book explains how a relationship based approach to supply chain management can transform business how to organise your business internally for effective supply chain relationships and how to transform your external supply chain using relationship marketing customer relationship management and supply chain partnerships One of the key distinguishing characteristics of a high performing supply chain is the presence of strategic trust With strategic trust the parties have access to each other s strategic plans relevant cost information and forecasts are shared risks and rewards are addressed openly This book explains how to embed a culture of inter company trust and to realise the benefits of improved supply chain relationships Practical Guide to the NEC3 Engineering and Construction Contract Michael Rowlinson, 2015-10-08 Launched in 1993 the NEC Engineering and Construction Contract has become one of the UK s leading standard forms of contract for major construction and civil engineering projects The third edition popularly known as NEC3 is a process based contract embodying project and commercial management best practice so its basic philosophy differs from the more adversarial approach of other standard construction contracts Since the first edition of this book the third edition of the contract has seen the introduction of a new secondary option for use in the UK and amendments to a number of clauses In addition in September 2011 changes were introduced to cater for the amendments to the Housing Grants Construction and Regeneration Act 1996 contained in the Local Democracy Economic Development and Construction Act 2009 which became effective for all new contracts entered into from 1 October 2011 These amendments have been incorporated into the text A Practical Guide to the NEC3 Engineering and Construction Contract will be useful to everyone in the construction industry working on a project under this contract. It will be of interest to the complete construction supply chain including employers, construction professions, contractors and sub-contractors as well as consultants and lawyers advising any of these parties either in the preparation of contract documentation or the day to day management or the resolution of problem situations which may arise.

Cross-Cultural Missional Partnership Joshua Bowman, 2023-03-28. Cross-cultural partnerships in today's global environment are both challenging and necessary. Misunderstanding and miscommunication often lead to conflict between culturally diverse groups. Christians must understand and evaluate their own culture, the culture of others, and the text of Scripture itself while remaining faithful to Scripture and relevant to culture. Unmediated tensions combined with relational isolation lead to a myriad of problems. This study proposes cross-cultural missional partnership as a relationship that mediates these tensions, thereby encouraging mutual faithful engagement in the mission of God. Cross-cultural tensions may never disappear, but within a healthy partnership, partners can assist one another in understanding and responding faithfully to Scripture. Partners help one another more faithfully interpret and apply Scripture, leading to obedience to God's will and engagement in God's mission within unique and diverse contexts.

The Children's Senator Virginia Caputo, 2020-10-22. The Honourable Landon Pearson's domestic and global advocacy efforts for and on behalf of children and young people have unfolded over a period of sixty years, including thirty years in the Canadian Foreign Service and eleven years in the Senate of Canada. Two of the key ideas that frame her vision are that as rights holders, children have a right to participate in matters that affect their lives, and that every child needs at least one adult to provide steadfast and consistent support. In The Children's Senator, contributors detail Pearson's influence on children's rights scholarship, research, and advocacy in a variety of areas, including Indigenous children's rights, youth justice, commercial sexual exploitation of children, children's mental health, and corporal punishment. Following Pearson's lifelong commitment to highlighting young people's participation, the volume also includes testimonials from former students regarding her invaluable mentorship. Pearson's professional career and aspects of her personal life, including her experience as a parent of five children, merge in a fascinating account of Canada's premier children's rights advocate. An intimate and compelling collection, The Children's Senator celebrates Pearson as a catalyst of change in Canada and internationally. Her efforts to construct a children's rights architecture in collaboration with decision makers and young people inform a legacy that has laid a foundation for children's rights into the twenty-first century.

Regeneration in the 21st Century Michael Carley, 2000. Decades of regeneration activity have not halted the decline in prosperity and the social exclusion of sections of British society. Starting in 1996, the Joseph Rowntree Foundation took action to assess the nature of this activity to discover what works and what does not, and to search out examples of good practice. Its Area Regeneration Programme covered every aspect of regeneration policy and practice from the national to the neighbourhood level, from labour market analysis to community development. Regeneration in the 21st century summarises the findings of the programme which include over 60 research studies. It provides an overview of knowledge to date and identifies the key challenges that we face in the 21st century. Analysed by specialists in each field, the report considers the impact of geography and reputation on area disadvantage, why community involvement is vital and how it can be implemented, the effect of joblessness on regeneration and how it can be mitigated, why and how some partnerships succeed, the need for integration including between top down, bottom up and national local initiatives.

Regeneration in the 21st century is vital reading for policy makers, regeneration partnerships, local, regional and national, and for anyone interested in the regeneration of Britain.

Transfers, behavior change, communication, and intimate partner violence Roy, Shalini, Hidrobo, Melissa, Hoddinott, John F., Ahmed, Akhter, 2017-09-09. Transfer programs have been shown to reduce intimate partner violence (IPV) but little evidence exists on how activities linked to transfers affect IPV or what happens when programs end. We assess postprogram impacts on IPV of randomly assigning women in Bangladesh to receive cash or food with or without nutrition behavior change communication (BCC). Six to 10 months postprogram, IPV did not differ between women receiving transfers and a control group; however, women receiving transfers with BCC experienced 26 percent less physical violence. Evidence on mechanisms suggests sustained effects of BCC on women's threat points, men's social costs of violence, and household well-being.

Student Engagement Handbook Elisabeth Dunne, Derfel Owen, 2013-11-05. This book highlights some of the national and global agendas and issues from emerging sectors to the meaning of student engagement for different stakeholders. It provides a backdrop to themes of student engagement as well as examples of innovative and inspiring means of engaging with students in practice, empowering them to take responsibility.

Unequal Partners Fabrice Jaumont, 2016-09-20. This book offers a nuanced analysis of a US-led foundation initiative of uncommon ambition featuring seven foundations with a shared commitment to strengthen capacity in higher education in Sub-Saharan African universities. The book examines the conditions under which philanthropy can be effective, the impasses that foundations often face, and the novel context in which philanthropy operates today. This study therefore assesses the shifting grounds on which higher education globally is positioned and the role of global philanthropy within these changing contexts. This is especially important in a moment where higher education is once again recognized as a driver of development and income growth, where knowledge economies requiring additional levels of education are displacing economies predicated on manufacturing, and in a context where higher education itself appears increasingly precarious and under dramatic pressures to adapt to new conditions.

Partnerships for Smart Growth Wim Wiewel, Gerrit Knaap, 2017-03-02. Linking the worlds of community development, higher education administration, and urban design, this accessible guidebook offers useful information on how universities and communities can best develop partnership projects. Lairds, Land and Sustainability Jayne Glass,2013-07-22 Scotland is at the heart of modern sustainable upland management Large estates cover vast areas of the uplands with a long complex and emotive history of ownership and use In recent decades the Scottish uplands have increasingly been the arena for passionate debates over large scale land management issues Crucially what kinds of ownership and management will best deliver sustainable futures for upland environments and communities Although the globally unique dominance of private ownership remains a distinctive characteristic of Scotland s uplands increasing numbers of estates are now owned by environmental NGOs and local communities especially since the Land Reform Scotland Act of 2003 A decade after the passage of this landmark Act this book synthesises research carried out on a diverse range of upland estates by the Centre for Mountain Studies at Perth College University of the Highlands and Islands The findings from privately owned estates as well as those owned by communities charities and conservation groups will prove enlightening and relevant to upland managers policy makers and researchers across Britain and Europe With the Scottish Government promoting a vision of environmental sustainability and with the new diversity of ownerships and management now appearing this timely and topical book investigates the implications of these different types of land ownership for sustainable upland management

The Maintenance Partnership Relationship Kenneth E. Bannister,2024-09-02 This book s purpose is to discover and review the many relationships that maintenance will need to foster daily if it is to become best in class Success in any walk of life is dependent on partner relationships A successful marriage is based on a relationship in which both partners collectively embrace their similarities whilst they collaborate to use each other s strengths to overcome weaknesses and bridge their differences Where teams are concerned there will be many partner relationships that will need to be navigated and managed separately to achieve a defined and unified level of success On any single day a maintainer must interact multiple times with internal and external resource partners to perform their job To function professionally a maintenance department must set up and manage multiple partnerships on a continual basis Partnerships are relationships that live or die based on an understanding of the input and output communications and tangible deliverables required from both sides to make quality management decisions and enable each partner to consistently deliver on their performance mandate at minimum cost Building healthy business partner relationships allows both partners to state their respective points of view and teaches us not to make assumptions on each other s behalf Understanding measuring and tracking what we control lets us objectively define how and where the partnership must work together to better manage and resolve issues that are out of our control or those we must simply manage The Changing Position of Women in Family and Society
