

A movie poster for the film 'Shallow Grave'. The background is a dark, moody landscape with a large, rusted metal shovel stuck into the ground in the foreground. Three people are sitting on the ground behind the shovel: a woman on the left, a woman in the middle, and a man on the right. The lighting is dramatic, with a bright light source on the right side, creating a strong glow and long shadows. The overall tone is mysterious and suspenseful.

[With Illustrations.] Sir John Lubbock, 1890 Classless Carl Neville, 2010-10-16 Why has mainstream British film been so unrepresentative of the changes in British society over the past twenty years Classless looks at the erasure of key issues of class and class struggle in recent British film as well as the flattening out of the rich variety of English social types into the bland middle mass of Love Actually By analysing a number of key films and emergent genres the ideological character of the Major years on into the false dawn of Blairism and Cool Britannia will be elaborated and it will be argued that even works that are ostensibly subversive such as Danny Boyle's Trainspotting serve to promote the underlying myths of neo liberalism The films under discussion will range from Steven Frear's The Queen to Jonathon Glazer's Sexy Beast The book will also consider popular genres such as the recent Football Hooligan films along with more recondite works by a handful of auteurs
