BOOK JACKET Masterpiece in The Making , 2018-11-11 Talking about moving into the unknown moving out from the comfort zone the showstopper is usually fear I ve learned since I was very young that if I face that fear I will find that fear is unreal and it will subside The fear is just like a shadow a reflection of my own negative judgment my own condemnation to myself my lack of faith When I was kid I loved swimming I loved being in the water Not only for the coldness of the water but also for the sense of freedom it conveys Under the water I felt so free There s no other noise just myself alone I was an introvert kid so naturally I enjoyed being alone in silence under water It gave me peaceful feeling But one day my younger brother accidentally almost drowned me He was practicing and for some reasons he suddenly panicked He tried to get anything he could hold on to which that time happened to be me who was swimming next to him He pushed me down so he could get up But I wasn t prepared I was in shock And I lost control My panic didn t help All the water went inside through my nose and mouth I couldn t breathe More water comes in when I tried to Everything went dark Luckily my brother s swimming coach saw it and he pulled me up But since then I had my own fear of water I can still swim in the pool but I could not love nor enjoy it as I did before the incident This fear stopped me from swimming in the sea in which the fear multiplied since I can t see the bottom of it It made me feel insecure It made me feel that I would definitely drown But I knew that this fear stopped me from growing So one day I decided to face it I went to Padang Bai Bali alone I took certification of open water dive I could easily learn all the theories But when the test in the sea was starting Well it was the toughest When the test first began I got that cold feeling started to cripple up I could feel my palms started to sweat although the water was cold My heart picked up a pace and that cold feeling transformed into anxiety I remembered my drowning incident so vividly

That time I could only feel the waves and the terror I could feel the echo of that terror Terror of losing my breath of inhaling lots of water of swallowing them the coldness and the darkness I saw as I drowned But I convinced myself to relax I told myself that I had my instructor there and she would not let me drown I reminded myself and got my mind to focus on the reason why I was there in the first place to face my fear So be it As I jumped into the water I felt that the anxiety was still there I could feel my breath was racing fast as my heart picked up the pace But when I started to see all the beautiful corals fishes and nudibranches I forgot my fear The fear just went away evaporated washed by the sea I used to love climbing the rose apple tree at my parent s house in Bandung But during one of those climbs a branch that I stepped on broke and I almost fell down Like me and swimming this accident developed fear in me fear of height But the lesson I learnt from my scuba diving experience encouraged me to face my fear of height so I went on to learn sky diving The first time I was about to jump from the plane I felt that my heart stopped beating for a while but it was too late to back off I could only move forward and jump off For seconds after I jumped my breathing stopped I felt as if half of my soul decided to stay on the plane But the next second I began to feel that sense of freedom I could fly Free from the fear I have wings It was an awesome feeling I got addicted to sky diving Something I never would ve imagined before As I developed as a person more fears came to me Nowadays I m still left trying to face the fear of being vulnerable to other human beings I m a very private person and it s very hard for me to share my personal experiences with others not even to my best friends or family Even in my darkest moments I still find it hard to share with others no matter how close our relationship is Adding up to that I feel like I can only find my strength only by contemplating all on my own The fact that today I write my personal experiences here is something that I couldn t imagine I would do before I never had the confidence to become vulnerable I ve never had any experience in writing But I want to face my fear of being vulnerable By writing this book I learn to become comfortable of being vulnerable What finally triggered me to write this book was my kind hearted friends who had been encouraging me to share my experiences in overcoming a challenge a challenge that goes by the name cancer They encouraged me to share the hope with others who are in the midst of challenges as well whatever challenges they have in life While I was inspired to face my fear of being vulnerable what eventually moved me was the people who reached out to me asking me to share the hope I experienced And as I shared it to them I could see that little twinkle in their eyes It was such a blissful moment I feel so blessed and my faith to God is strengthened Another friend who I ve never met before but also encouraged me to start sharing is Gwen She lives in Philippines and she coincidentally read my story from the hospital in China She contacted me through Facebook Messenger Gwen told me that my story had inspired her to never give up in her battle with cancer All of them have inspired and encouraged me to start writing and sharing By beating my fear of being vulnerable I could share hope with many more people out there Therefore I m willing to become vulnerable if it could help others to win their battles I didn t do this in vain I m not better than anyone I just wanted to share because I have received so much love and abundance of blessings so many and so much that I can't possibly keep it for myself alone I need to share it with others so others could also see and feel all the love and blessings God has bestowed upon us I want people to experience His miracles to never give up in realizing the masterpiece in them This book is not my tool to preach my beliefs and I don't expect people to accept all my perspectives I simply hope that my stories could at least help to provoke the mind to seek the truth to seek our true self that will help us to experience God Most of us today myself included knows only of false truth believing and following as what is dictated by society whereas it is not always necessarily the truth Most of the time it only introduces us to insecurity making us superficial We agree with society because we're insecure to be different afraid to be rejected But once we try to seek the truth our true self we will see the hope We are all a work of art working our ways to become a masterpiece Life is a vessel to realize the masterpiece in us Not only the opportunities the challenges as well Challenges in life are not tragedy not a condemnation they are blessings The challenges are there to help us realize the masterpiece in us They're a tool to bring out the best in us turning our ordinary selves to become extraordinary We learn and grow to become the best version of us through all the challenges we face I hope this book can turn to be a blessing for the people who read it Result from the book sold later on will be 100% donated to those in needs after deducted by the publisher fee if any Lokah samastah sukhino bhavantu May all beings be happy May all my thoughts words and actions contribute in some way to the happiness of all beings

THE BIOGRAPHIES OF THE ELITE LIVES OF THE SCHOLARS, IMAMS & HADITH MASTERS, 2015-05-02 THE BIOGRAPHIES OF THE ELITE LIVES OF THE SCHOLARS IMAMS HADITH MASTERS From Museum Critique to the Critical Museum Katarzyna Murawska-Muthesius, Piotr Piotrowski, 2016-03-03

Since the late nineteenth century museums have been cited as tools of imperialism and colonialism as strongholds of patriarchalism masculinism homophobia and xenophobia and accused both of elitism and commercialism But could the museum absorb and benefit from its critique turning into a critical museum into the site of resistance rather than ritual This book looks at the ways in which the museum could use its collections its cultural authority its auratic space and resources to give voice to the underprivileged and to take an active part in contemporary and at times controversial issues Drawing together both major museum professionals and academics it examines the theoretical concept of the critical museum and uses case studies of engaged art institutions from different parts of the world It reaches beyond the usual focus on western Europe America and the World including voices from as well as about eastern European museums which have rarely been discussed in museum studies books so far

Playing Place Chad Randl, D. Medina Lasansky, 2023-08-15 An essay collection exploring the board game s relationship to the built environment revealing the unexpected ways that play reflects perceptions of space Board games harness the creation of entirely new worlds From the medieval warlord to the modern urban planner players are permitted to inhabit a staggering variety of roles and are prompted to incorporate preexisting notions of placemaking into their decisions To what extent do board games represent the social context of their production How might they reinforce or subvert normative ideas of community and fulfillment In Playing Place Chad Randl and D Medina Lasansky have curated a collection of thirty seven fascinating essays supplemented by a rich trove of photo illustrations that unpack these questions with breadth and care Although board games are often recreational objects their mythologies and infrastructure do not exist in a vacuum rather they echo and reproduce prevalent cultural landscapes This thesis forms the throughline of pieces reflecting on subjects as diverse as the rigidly gendered fantasies of classic mass market games the imperial convictions embedded in games that position player protagonists as conquerors establishing dominion over their discoveries and even the uncanny prescience of games that have players responding to a global pandemic Representing a thrilling convergence of historiography architectural history and media studies scholarship Playing Place suggests not only that tabletop games should be taken seriously but also that the medium itself is uniquely capable of facilitating our critical consideration of structures that are often taken for granted

Figures of Radical Absence Alexandra-Ecaterina Irimia, 2023-10-04 What is there to see in invisible artworks empty books or blank screens How do formal absences generate meaning Constructing an argument by way of montage this book is an annotated inventory of textual visual and conceptual figures of absence Spanning different media it reveals a creative tradition that uses absence not as a negative aesthetic category but as a productive state of radical indeterminacy with its own politics and poetics Although post structuralism highlighted the importance of what is offstage lost forgotten hidden or discarded silent or silenced the poetics and politics of absence much like its ethics and aesthetics have rarely been discussed across media and disciplines This book proposes the concept of radical absence to describe a certain tradition of resistance to ontology predication and representation contesting their reliance on a metaphysics of presence Apophatic speech empty signifiers and figural voids are some of the figures through which radical absence becomes apparent with unprecedented intensity in twentieth century theory literature film and the arts Phantasmatic and outrageous such figures play with creative strategies of dematerialization irony and other forms of discursive undoing Therefore absence becomes more than a simple theme it reflects back on the medium and the meaning making conditions under which it operates Elusive and imprecise as an object of study absence requires more subtle and flexible epistemological frameworks than have been available to date This monograph proposes we think of it not only as a counter concept for presence but also and perhaps more productively as infinite spacing deferral fragmentation and displacement
