War, Peace, and Human Nature Douglas P. Fry, 2015-02 The chapters in this book posit that humans clearly have the capacity to make war but since war is absent in some cultures it cannot be viewed as a human universal And counter to frequent presumption the actual archaeological record reveals the recent emergence of war It does not typify the ancestral type of human society the nomadic forager band and contrary to widespread assumptions there is little support for the idea that war is ancient or an evolved adaptation Views of human nature as inherently warlike stem not from the facts but from cultural views embedded in Western thinking Amazon.com

Re-embodiment Pastoral Theology Johann Choi, 2024-05-29 With the dominance of psychotherapeutic theories and methods in the field of pastoral theology the typical pastoral encounter has been understood to be a private conference in which a pastor addresses a sufferer's thoughts and emotions What results is a kind of dualism that is contrary to a historically Christian affirmation of and concern for the body The phenomenon of moral injury further problematizes this model of pastoral care in part due to a greater awareness that trauma is imprinted as much in the body as in the mind Re-embodiment Pastoral Theology uses the problem of moral injury in veterans to propose a pastoral theology that recognizes ritual as the means by which the Christian community addresses the body in pastoral care In advancing this new approach to ritual care the author draws from the fields of psychology ritual studies liturgical studies and historical theology as well as the experiences of veterans throughout history This book endeavors to re-think the Christian approach to moral injury and re-embodiment the field of pastoral theology

The Military as a Separate Society Pauline Collins, 2019-10-09 The exercise of public power by the military in civilian Western democracies such as Australia and the United States demonstrates a tendency toward diminished responsibility for moral behavior Pauline Collins argues that a different system of military criminal investigation and discipline outside the civilian justice system enables the military to operate like a coterie and can lead to a failure in the requisite moral standard of behavior required of military personnel and maintaining civilian institutional control Collins argues that the justifications for separate treatment weakens both the military reputation and the practice of civilian control of the military as well as leading to an overall decline in morality and values in a democratic society
