Referential Practice William F. Hanks, 1990-12-07 Referential Practice is an anthropological study of language use in a contemporary Maya community It examines the routine conversational practices in which Maya speakers make reference to themselves and to each other to their immediate contexts and to their world Drawing on extensive fieldwork in Oxkutzcab Yucatán William F Hanks develops a sociocultural approach to reference in natural languages The core of this approach lies in treating speech as a social engagement and reference as a practice through which actors orient themselves in the world The conceptual framework derives from cultural anthropology linguistic pragmatics interpretive sociology and cognitive semantics As his central case Hanks undertakes a comprehensive analysis of deixis linguistic forms that fix reference in context such as English I you this that here and there He shows that Maya deixis is a basic cultural construct linking language with body space domestic space agricultural and ritual practices and other fields of social activity Using this as a guide to ethnographic description he discovers striking regularities in person reference and modes of participation the role of perception in reference and varieties of spatial orientation including locative deixis Traditionally considered a marginal area in linguistics and virtually untouched in the ethnographic literature the study of referential deixis becomes in Hanks's treatment an innovative and revealing methodology Referential Practice is the first full length study of actual deictic use in a non Western language the first in depth study of speech practice in Yucatec Maya culture and the first detailed account of the relation between routine conversation embodiment and ritual discourse Acaohkiwina and Acimowina Robert A. Brightman, 1989-01-01 Narratives from different genres of Rock Cree oral literature in northwestern Manitoba together with interpretive and comparative commentary are presented Published in English A concise Nuxalk-English dictionary H. F. Nater, 1990-01-01 This dictionary lists in alphabetical order over 2 000 Nuxalk morphemes as well as sample words and sentences gathered by the author at Bella Coola British Columbia between 1972 and 1983 The morphemes are numbered and reference is frequently made to the author's Nuxalk grammar which appeared earlier in this series Paper No 92 Published in English

A Voyage to the North West Side of America Robert Galois, 2011-11-01 James Colnett a veteran of James Cook's second voyage to North America was an early participant in the maritime sea otter trade Between 1786 and 1789 his two vessel expedition traversed the Northwest Coast from Prince William Sound to Vancouver Island and wintered on the Hawaiian Islands Along the way he and his crew had some remarkable encounters with Native peoples of the Northwest Coast and the Hawaiian Islands they were the first Europeans to encounter the Tsimshian and the southern Heiltsuk peoples as well as the first to land on the southern Queen Charlotte Islands Colnett's journal of this expedition is published here for the first time Editor Robert Galois provides extensive annotations along with an introductory essay addressing the geopolitical context of the voyage and the intellectual background that shaped the writing of the journal Galois supplements Colnett's writings with extracts from a second journal also previously unpublished by Andrew Bracey Taylor third mate on one of the ships under Colnett's command Also included are illustrations from Colnett's journals and a variety of maps both contemporary and historical This fascinating and informative account offers a new understanding of the early European presence in the Northwest and of Native responses to these developments It will interest historians geographers and ethnographers of the Northwest Coast and beyond

Handbook of North American Indians: Suttles, Wayne. Northwest Coast ,1990 Folk-taxonomies in Early English Earl R. Anderson, 2003 A folk taxonomy is a semantic field that represents the particular way in which a language imposes structure and order upon the myriad impressions of human experience and perception Thus for example the experience of color in modern English is structured around an inventory of twelve basic color terms but languages vary in the number of basic color terms used from thirteen or fourteen terms to as few as two or three Anthropological linguists have been interested in the comparative study of folk taxonomies across contemporary languages and in their studies they have sometimes proposed evolutionary models for the development and elaboration of these taxonomies The evolutionary models have implications for historical linguistics but there have been very few studies of the historical development of a folk taxonomy within a language or within a language family Folk Taxonomies in Early English undertakes this task for English and to some extent for the Germanic and Indo European language families The semantic fields studied are basic color terms seasons of the year geometric shapes the five senses the folk psychology of mind and soul and basic plant and animal life forms Anderson s emphasis is on folk taxonomies in Old and Middle English and also on the implications of semantic analysis for our reading of early English literary texts
