Animated Encounters Daisy Yan Du,2019-02-28 China s role in the history of world animation has been trivialized or largely forgotten In Animated Encounters Daisy Yan Du addresses this omission in her study of

Chinese animation and its engagement with international forces during its formative period the 1940s 1970s She introduces readers to transnational movements in early Chinese animation tracing the involvement of Japanese Soviet American Taiwanese and China's ethnic minorities at socio historical or representational levels in animated filmmaking in China Du argues that Chinese animation was international almost from its inception and that such border crossing exchanges helped make it Chinese and subsequently transform the history of world animation She highlights animated encounters and entanglements to provide an alternative to current studies of the subject characterized by a preoccupation with essentialist ideas of Chineseness and further questions the long held belief that the forty year period in question was a time of cultural isolationism for China due to constant wars and revolutions China's socialist era known for the pervasiveness of its political propaganda and suppression of the arts unexpectedly witnessed a golden age of animation Socialist collectivism reinforced by totalitarian politics and centralized state control allowed Chinese animation to prosper and flourish artistically In addition the double marginality of animation a minor art form for children coupled with its disarming qualities and intrinsic malleability and mobility granted animators and producers the double power to play with politics and transgress ideological and geographical borders while surviving censorship both at home and abroad A captivating and enlightening history Animated Encounters will attract scholars and students of world film and animation studies children's culture and modern Chinese history Japanese and Hong Kong Film Industries Yau Shuk-ting, Kinnia, 2009-09-11 Focuses on the cooperation between Hong Kong and Japanese cinema from the Sino Japanese War which broke out in the 1930s up until the early 1970s to re evaluate the significance of this event in the context of Asian film history The Routledge Companion to Global Film Music in the Early Sound Era Jeremy Barham, 2024-01-31 In a major expansion of the conversation on music and film history The Routledge Companion to Global Film Music in the Early Sound Era draws together a wide ranging collection of scholarship on music in global cinema during the transition from silent to sound films the late 1920s to the 1940s Moving beyond the traditional focus on Hollywood this Companion considers the vast range of cinema and music created in often overlooked regions throughout the rest of the world providing crucial global context to film music history An extensive editorial Introduction and 50 chapters from an array of international experts connect the music and sound of these films to regional and transnational issues culturally historically and aesthetically across five parts Western Europe and Scandinavia Central and Eastern Europe North Africa The Middle East Asia and Australasia Latin America Soviet Russia Filling a major gap in the literature The Routledge Companion to Global Film Music in the Early Sound Era offers an essential reference for scholars of music film studies and cultural history Life-Practice Educology Lan Ye, 2020-03-23 In Life Practice Educology A Contemporary Chinese Theory of Education Ye Lan presents the theory of a contemporary Chinese school of Educology It consists of two main parts The first part proposes a fully formulated view on Life Practice School of Educology and expounds on current thinking in China that denies the independence of educology as a discipline The second part explains both inherited and new understandings of the Life Practice School of Educology covering Chinese traditional culture and the current debate It further refines the Chinese understanding of Education jiaoyu as teaching the knowledge of nature and society and cultivating a self consciousness towards life Bangkok Editor Alexander MacDonald,1949 Disrupt!
