Shared Territory Understanding Childrens Writing As Works:

Shared Territory Margaret Himley, 1991-11-14 This book brings together Patricia F Carini s concept of the developing child as a maker of works and M M Bakhtin s theory of language as hero to re examine how we have defined and researched early written language development Through a collection of five essays and a documentary account of one young writer Himley explores fundamental questions about development language use and learning and phenomenological reading or description as a possible interpretive methodology in education and research She demonstrates how to understand writing as the complex semiotic authoring of self and culture enacted through actual moments of concrete language use The Theory and Practice of Grading Writing Frances Zak, Christopher C. Weaver, 1998-02-05 CHOICE 1998 Outstanding Academic Books Grading is one of the thorniest issues writing teachers must deal with yet surprisingly little has been written on this topic As writing teachers move increasingly toward practices that focus on writing as a process they face a growing need to reconsider their systems of grading to determine whether or not these systems support their pedagogies The authors interrogate the grading of individual papers as well as portfolios and the assigning of end of term grades This collection explores the issues and problems that have emerged as conventional grading practices have lagged behind and been challenged by new theories of language While the book will be of interest to theorists Zak and Weaver have also made the book relevant and useful to teachers whose primary interest is the practical consequences of theory in their classrooms Where theoretical discussion takes place the language is clear and accessible Many of the authors write directly from personal experience telling stories of the classroom or writing of new techniques and approaches they have tried They speak with the voices of teachers and the tone and content of their words convey a sense of the immediacy of the topic

Developing Engaged Readers in School and Home Communities Linda Baker, Peter Afflerbach, David Reinking, 2012-12-06 This book comprises a synthesis of current directions in reading research theory and practice unified by what has been referred to as the engagement perspective of reading This perspective guides the research agenda of the National Reading Research Center NRRC a consortium of the University of Georgia University of Maryland and affiliated scholars A major goal of the book is to introduce reading researchers to the engagement perspective as defined by the NRRC and to illustrate its potential to integrate the cognitive social and motivational dimensions of reading and reading instruction Engaged readers are viewed as motivated strategic knowledgeable and socially interactive They read widely for a variety of purposes and capitalize on situations having potential to extend literacy The book is organized into four sections representing key components of the NRRC research agenda and the engagement perspective This perspective emphasizes contexts that influence engaged reading Accordingly the first section of the volume focuses on the social and cultural contexts of literacy development with chapters devoted to examining home influences home school connections and the special challenges facing ethnic minorities The engagement perspective also implies greater attention to the role of motivational and affective dimensions in reading development than traditional views of reading Therefore the second section examines motivational theory and its implications for reading engagement with special attention to characteristics of classroom contexts that promote motivation in reading The engagement perspective embraces innovative instructional contexts that address the cognitive social and motivational aspects of reading Thus the third section includes chapters on current directions in promoting children s learning from text on the value of an integrated curriculum in promoting reading engagement and on the challenges of assessing students development as engaged readers Finally the broader conception of reading implied by the engagement perspective requires an expanded array of research approaches sensitive to the complex and interacting contexts in which children develop literacy The concluding section focuses on these important contemporary issues in literacy research and educational research with chapters examining the variety of alternative modes of inquiry gaining prominence in literacy research teacher inquiry and ethical issues of collaboration between university and teacher researchers Intended for university based researchers graduate students and classroom teachers this volume brings together researchers who think about students and their literacy development in school and home communities in distinctly different ways The cooperative and collaborative inquiry presented contributes to a richer understanding of the many factors influencing engaged reading

Shared Differences Diane Carson, Lester D. Friedman, 1995 This timely volume addresses those who teach and study multicultural topics Rather than offering a Band Aid approach to curricular offerings the contributors demonstrate inclusive innovative ways to integrate multicultural issues and media into existing courses In Struggling for America s Soul A Search for Some Common Ground in the Multicultural Debate Lester Friedman leads off the volume with an analysis of the value and necessity of multicultural approaches for today s students and for society at large The essays that follow provide a wealth of material for organizing courses including week by week syllabi detailing specific writing assignments bibliographical information on readings and sources for films and videos The contributors who teach at institutions ranging from community colleges through major research universities describe their experiences teaching students of various ages backgrounds and interests Shared Differences will be of value to all who use media as a tool in their teaching whether in history literature or the social sciences as well as to those who teach film and video production

From Another Angle Margaret Himley, Patricia F. Carini, 2000-03 This volume represents the first effort to present and teach the descriptive processes philosophy and values developed at the Prospect Archives and Center for Education and Research in North Bennington Vermont Through story and essay it introduces a disciplined collaborative method for understanding children as thinkers and learners called the descriptive review of the child Developed through the Prospect Center under the leadership of Patricia F Carini the descriptive review is a mode of inquiry that draws on the rich detailed knowledge teachers and parents have of children and on their ability to describe those children in full and balanced ways so that they become visible as complex persons with particular strengths interests and capacities In an educational climate that calls increasingly for standardization this book is a timely resource for educators parents and administrators who value individual human capacity Writing in the Workplace Rachel Spilka,1993 An anthology containing 19 previously unpublished contributions some reporting on workplace writing studies completed since the mid 1980s and others introducing new arguments about research to date and future research directions Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR Handbook on Teachers' Work Nina Bascia,Rhiannon M.
