Africa in Europe: Antiquity into the age of global expansion Stefan Goodwin, 2009-01-01 Africa in Europe in two volumes is an interdisciplinary work about Europeans that demonstrates fluid boundaries and connections between them and Africans from antiquity until the present Written by a scholar with expertise that includes anthropology social history and international relations the subject matter of this fascinating work ranges from science to art and invites much new thinking about racism territoriality citizenship and frontiers in a world that is increasingly globalized

The Color of Liberty Sue Peabody, Tyler Stovall, 2003-06-30 DIVTraces the multiple histories of race and racial thinking over time in France and in Francophone areas of the globe div

Race and Racialization, 2E Tania Das Gupta, Carl E. James, Chris Andersen, Grace-Edward Galabuzi, Roger C. A. Maaka, 2018-02-01 Few words have generated as much debate and controversy as the word race Through a critical examination of this complex subject this anthology brings together essential contributions to the study of race and racialization An excellent compilation of classic and contemporary works by academic and activist writers Race and Racialization provides historical comparative and global perspectives on race and its intersection with gender class ethnicity indigeneity and sexuality This well updated second edition includes a new section on state multiculturalism and a diverse ensemble of Canadian and international contributors who explore such relevant themes as colonialism institutional racism ethnocentrism privilege marginalization and resistance Featuring introductions to each piece written by the editors annotated lists of supplementary readings to encourage further exploration and contributions by activists from Idle No More and Black Lives Matter this comprehensive and highly accessible anthology is perfect for students studying race racism cultural diversity identity and belonging social inequality and social justice Postcolonial Green Bonnie Roos,Alex Hunt,2010-09-23 Postcolonial Green brings together scholarship bridging ecocriticism and postcolonialism Since its inception ecocriticism has been accused of being inattentive to the complexities that colonialism poses for ideas of nature and environmentalism Postcolonial discourse on the other hand has been so immersed in theoretical questions of nationalism and identity that it has been seen as ignoring environmental or ecological concerns This collection demonstrates that ecocriticism and postcolonialism must be understood as parallel projects if not facets of the very same project a struggle for global justice and sustainability The essays in this collection span the globe and cover such issues as international environmental policy land and water rights food production poverty women s rights indigenous activism and ecotourism They consider all manner of texts from oral tradition to literary fiction to web discourse Contributors bring postcolonial theory to literary traditions such as that of the United States not typically seen in this light and conversely bring ecocriticism to literary traditions such as those of India and China that have seen little ecological analysis Postcolonial Green boasts a global geographical breadth diversity of critical approach and increasing relevance to the issues we face on a world stage Contributors Neel Ahuja University of North Carolina Chapel Hill Pavel Cenkl Sterling College Sharae Deckard University College Dublin Ursula K Heise Stanford University Jonathan Highfield Rhode Island School of Design Alex Hunt West Texas A M University Upamanyu Pablo Mukherjee Warwick University Patrick D Murphy University of Central Florida Bonnie Roos West Texas A M University Caskey Russell University of Wyoming Rachel Stein Siena College Sabine Wilke University of Washington Laura Wright Western Carolina University Sheng yen Yu National Taipei University of Technology Gang Yue University of North Carolina Chapel Hill Xiamen University The Europeanization of the World John M. Headley,2016-07-26 The Europeanization of the World puts forward a defense of Western civilization and the unique gifts it has bequeathed to the world in particular human rights and constitutional democracy at a time when many around the globe equate the West with hubris and thinly veiled imperialism John Headley argues that the Renaissance and the Reformation provided the effective currents for the development of two distinctive political ideas The first is the idea of a common humanity derived from antiquity developed through natural law and worked out in the new emerging global context to provide the basis for today's concept of universal human rights. The second is the idea of political dissent first posited in the course of the Protestant Reformation and later maturing in the politics of the British monarchy. Headley traces the development and implications of this first idea from antiquity to the present. He examines the English revolution of 1688 and party government in Britain and America into the early nineteenth century. And he challenges the now common stance in historical studies of moral posturing against the West. Headley contends that these unique ideas are Western civilization's most precious export, however presently distorted. Certainly European culture has its dark side. Auschwitz is but one example. Yet as Headley shows, no other civilization in history has bequeathed so sustained a tradition of universalizing aspirations as the West. The Europeanization of the World makes an argument that is controversial but long overdue. Written by one of our preeminent scholars of the Renaissance and Reformation, this elegantly reasoned book is certain to spark a much needed reappraisal of the Western tradition.

Framing China Ariane Knüsel, 2016-04-15. Framing China sheds new light on Western relations with and perceptions of China in the first half of the twentieth century. In this ground-breaking book, Ariane Knüsel examines how China was portrayed in political debates and the media in Britain, the USA, and Switzerland between 1900 and 1950. By focusing on the political, economic, cultural, and social context that led to the construction of the particular images of China in each country, the author demonstrates that national interests, anxieties, and issues influenced the way China was framed and resulted in different portrayals of China in each country. The author's meticulous analysis of a vast amount of newspaper and magazine articles, commentaries, editorials, cartoons, and newsreels that have previously not been studied before also focuses on the transnational circulation of images of China. While previous publications have dealt with the occurrence of the Yellow Peril and Red Menace in particular countries, Framing China reveals that these images were interpreted differently in every nation because they both reflected and contributed to the discursive construction of nationhood in each country and were influenced by domestic issues, cultural values, pre-existing stereotypes, pressure groups, and geopolitical aspirations.

Contemporary Tibet Barry Sautman, June Teufel Dreyer, 2006. Providing an analysis of the Tibet question, this work explores essential themes and issues concerning modern Tibet. It considers such topics as representations and sovereignty, economic development and political conditions, the exile movement and human rights, historical legacies, and international politics, identity issues, and the local society.

Imperialism and Postcolonialism Barbara Bush, 2014-05-22. This account of imperialism explores recent intellectual, theoretical, and conceptual developments in imperial history, including interdisciplinary and post-colonial perspectives. Exploring the links between empire and domestic history, it looks at the interconnections and comparisons between empire and imperial power within wider developments in world history, covering the period from the Roman to the present American empire. The book begins by examining the nature of empire, then looks at continuity and change in the historiography of imperialism and theoretical and conceptual developments. It covers themes such as the relationship between imperialism and modernity, culture, and national identity in Britain Suitable for undergraduates taking courses in imperial and colonial history

Race in Psychoanalysis Celia Brickman, 2017-12-06 Race in Psychoanalysis analyzes the often unrecognized racism in psychoanalysis by examining how the colonialist discourse of late nineteenth century anthropology made its way into Freud's foundational texts where it has remained and continues to exert a hidden influence Recent racial violence particularly in the US has made many realize that academic and professional disciplines as well as social and political institutions need to be re-examined for the racial biases they may contain Psychoanalysis is no exception When Freud applied his insights to the history of the psyche and of civilization he made liberal use of the anthropology of his time which was steeped in colonial racist thought Although it has often been assumed that this usage was confined to his non-clinical works this book argues that through the pivotal concept of primitivity it fed back into his theories of the psyche and of clinical technique as well Celia Brickman examines how the discourse concerning the presumed primitivity of colonized and enslaved peoples contributed to psychoanalytic understandings of self and raced other She shows how psychoanalytic constructions of race and gender are related and how Freud's attitudes towards primitivity were related to the anti-Semitism of his time All of this is demonstrated to be part of the modernist aim of psychoanalysis which seeks to create a modern subjectivity through a renegotiation of the past Finally the book shows how all of this can affect both clinician and patient within the contemporary clinical encounter Race in Psychoanalysis is a pivotal work of significance for scholars practitioners and students of psychoanalysis psychologists clinical social workers and other clinicians whose work is informed by psychoanalytic insights as well as those engaged in critical race and postcolonial studies

Male Daughters, Female Husbands Professor Ifi Amadiume, 2015-03-12 In 1987 more than a decade before the dawn of queer theory Ifi Amadiume wrote Male Daughters Female Husbands to critical acclaim This compelling and highly original book frees the subject position of husband from its affiliation with men and goes on to do the same for other masculine attributes dislocating sex gender and sexual orientation Boldly arguing that the notion of gender as constructed in Western feminist discourse did not exist in Africa before the colonial imposition of a dichotomous understanding of sexual difference Male Daughters Female Husbands examines the structures in African society that enabled people to achieve power showing that roles were not rigidly masculinized nor feminized At a time when gender and queer theory are viewed by some as being stuck in an identity politics rut this outstanding study not only warns against the danger of projecting a very specific Western notion of difference onto other cultures but calls us to question the very concept of gender itself

A Fundamental Fear S. Sayyid, 2015-02-12 The fear and anxiety aroused by Islamism is not a myth nor is it simply a consequence of terrorism or fundamentalism Writing in 1997 before 9/11 and before the austerity that has bred a new generation of far right groups across Europe and the US S. Sayyid warned of a spectre haunting Western civilization This groundbreaking book banned by the Malaysian government is both an analysis of the conditions that have made Islamic fundamentalism possible and a provocative account of the ways in which Muslim identities have come to play an increasingly political role throughout the world This is a pioneering provocative and intricately crafted study which shows the challenge of Islamism is not only geopolitical or even cultural but also epistemological Planet Dialectics Wolfgang Sachs,2015-03-12 All effects of human action will inevitably be played out within our planet's limits any hope of infinity is an illusion And yet as Wolfgang Sachs warned almost twenty years ago environmental concerns have been assimilated into the rhetoric dynamics and power structures of development This classic collection of trenchant and elegant explorations addresses the crisis of the Western world's relations with nature and social justice Examining the notions of efficiency speed globalization and development Sachs shows that sustainability truly conceived is incompatible with the worldwide rule of economism Planet Dialectics reveals that the Western development model is fundamentally at odds with both the quest for justice among the world's people and the aspiration to reconcile humanity and nature Enemies in the Empire Stefan Manz,Panikos Panayi,2020-02-27 During the First World War Britain was the epicentre of global mass internment and deportation operations Germans Austro Hungarians Turks and Bulgarians who had settled in Britain and its overseas territories were deemed to be a potential danger to the realm through their ties with the Central Powers and were classified as enemy aliens A complex set of wartime legislation imposed limitations on their freedom of movement expression and property possession Approximately 50 000 men and some women experienced the most drastic step of enemy alien control namely internment behind barbed wire in many cases for the whole duration of the war and thousands of miles away from the place of arrest Enemies in the Empire is the first study to analyse British internment operations against civilian enemies during the First World War from an imperial perspective The narrative takes a three pronged approach In addition to a global examination the volume demonstrates how internment operated on a proto national scale within the three selected case studies of the metropole Britain a white dominion South Africa and a colony under direct rule India Stefan Manz and Panikos Panayi then bring their study to the local level by concentrating on the three camps Knockaloe Britain Fort Napier South Africa and Ahmednagar India allowing for detailed analyses of personal experiences Although conditions were generally humane the operations caused widespread suffering The study argues that the British Empire played a key role in developing civilian internment as a central element of warfare and national security on a global scale At War for Peace Mohammadbagher Forough,2020-05-06 This volume is divided into three parts each focusing on one aspect of war and peace The first part War and Peace deals with the topic in more general terms than the other two and includes five contributions Race and Redemption Jane Samson,2017-11-06 Race and Redemption is the latest volume in the Studies in the History of Christian Missions series which explores the significant yet sometimes controversial impact of Christian missions around the world In this historical examination of the encounter between British missionaries and people in the Pacific Islands Jane Samson reveals the paradoxical yet symbiotic nature of the two stances that the missionaries adopted othering and brothering She shows how good and bad intentions were tangled up together and how some blind spots remained even as others were overcome Arguing that gender was as important a category in the story as race Samson paints a complex picture of the interactions between missionaries and native peoples and the ways in which perspectives shaped by those encounters have endured
