Mach Mit Mach Mit:

Amnesiopolis Eli Rubin, 2016 Amnesiopolis explores the construction of Marzahn the largest prefabricated housing project in East Germany built on the outskirts of East Berlin in the 1970s and 1980s and touted by the regime as the future of socialism. It focuses particularly on the experience of East Germans who moved often from crumbling slums left over as a legacy of the nineteenth century into this radically new place one defined by pure functionality and rationality a material manifestation of the utopian promise of socialism. Eli Rubin employs methodologies from critical geography urban history architectural history environmental history and everyday life history to ask whether their experience was a radical break with their personal pasts and the German past. Amnesiopolis asks can a dramatic change in spatial and material surroundings sever the links of memory that tie people to their old life narratives and if so does that help build a new socialist mentality in the minds of historical subjects. The answer is yes and no as much as the East German state tried to create a completely new socialist settlement divorced of any links to the pre socialist past the massive construction project uncovered the truth buried literally in the ground which was that the urge to colonize the outskirts of Berlin was not new at all. Furthermore the construction of a new city out of nothing using repeating identical buildings created a panopticon like effect giving the Stasi the possibility of more complete surveillance than they previously had. , Einstein in Bohemia Michael D.

Gordin, 2022-02-22 Though Einstein is undoubtedly one of the most important figures in the history of modern science he was in many respects marginal. Despite being one of the creators of quantum theory he remained skeptical of it and his major research program while in Princeton the quest for a unified field ultimately failed. In this book Michael Gordin explores this paradox in Einstein's life by concentrating on a brief and often overlooked interlude his tenure as professor of physics in Prague from April of 1911 to the summer of 1912. Though often dismissed by biographers and scholars it was a crucial year for Einstein both personally and scientifically his marriage deteriorated he began thinking seriously about his Jewish identity for the first time he attempted a new explanation for gravitation which though it failed had a significant impact on his later work and he met numerous individuals including Max Brod Hugo Bergmann Philipp Frank and Arno t Kolman who would continue to influence him. In a kind of double biography of the figure and the city this book links Prague and Einstein together. Like the man the city exhibits the same paradox of being both central and marginal to the main contours of European history. It was to become the capital of the Czech Republic but it was always compared to Vienna and Budapest less central in the Habsburg Empire. Moreover it was home to a lively Germanophone intellectual and artistic scene though the vast majority of its population spoke only Czech. By emphasizing the marginality and the centrality of both Einstein and Prague Gordin sheds new light both on Einstein's life and career and on the intellectual and scientific life of the city in the early twentieth century.

Power and Society in the GDR, 1961-1979 Mary Fulbrook, 2009-05-01 The communist German Democratic Republic founded in 1949 in the Soviet occupied zone of post war Germany is for many people epitomized by the Berlin Wall Soviet tanks and surveillance by the secret security police the Stasi appear to be central. But is this really all there is to the GDR's history? How did people come to terms with their situation and make new lives behind the Wall? When the social history of the GDR in the 1960s and 1970s is explored new patterns become evident. A fragile stability emerged in a period characterized by consumer socialism international recognition and détente. Growing participation in the micro structures of power and conformity to the unwritten rules of an increasingly predictable system suggest increasing accommodation to dominant norms and conceptions of socialist normality. By exploring the ways in which lower level functionaries and people at the grass roots contributed to the formation and transformation of the GDR from industry and agriculture through popular sport and cultural life to the passage of generations and varieties of social experience the contributors collectively develop a more complex approach to the history of East Germany. The hymns and hymn melodies of the "passions" and oratorios Charles Sanford Terry, 1915
