Normal Instructor and Teachers World ,1908 Interdisciplinarity in the Making Nancy J. Nersessian, 2022-11-22 A cognitive ethnography of how bioengineering scientists create innovative modeling methods In this first full scale long term cognitive ethnography by a philosopher of science Nancy J Nersessian offers an account of how scientists at the interdisciplinary frontiers of bioengineering create novel problem solving methods Bioengineering scientists model complex dynamical biological systems using concepts methods materials and other resources drawn primarily from engineering They aim to understand these systems sufficiently to control or intervene in them What Nersessian examines here is how cutting edge bioengineering scientists integrate the cognitive social material and cultural dimensions of practice Her findings and conclusions have broad implications for researchers in philosophy science studies cognitive science and interdisciplinary studies as well as scientists educators policy makers and funding agencies In studying the epistemic practices of scientists Nersessian pushes the boundaries of the philosophy of science and cognitive science into areas not ventured before She recounts a decades long wide ranging and richly detailed investigation of the innovative interdisciplinary modeling practices of bioengineering researchers in four university laboratories She argues and demonstrates that the methods of cognitive ethnography and qualitative data analysis placed in the framework of distributed cognition provide the tools for a philosophical analysis of how scientific discoveries arise from complex systems in which the cognitive social material and cultural dimensions of problem solving are integrated into the epistemic practices of scientists Specifically she looks at how interdisciplinary environments shape problem solving Although Nersessian s case material is drawn from the bioengineering sciences her analytic framework and methodological approach are directly applicable to scientific research in a broader more general sense as well
