individual s development and the potential that learning and education have for the development of the community The volume gathers together the findings of a number of quantitative and qualitative studies conducted on different samples theoretical discussions set in comparative international contexts Although the studies employ Slovenian samples and analyse situations in this country the contributions address issues that are of concern to the global research community Moreover they respond to international debates and engage in the dialogue between the local partial and the global universal The book is unique in its embeddedness in the intellectual continental European tradition that has been characterised by the failed historical experience of attempting collective unity through the community understood as a common identity in former Yugoslavia        International Symposium on Technology and Society ,1993        Resources in Education ,2001

Productive Multivocality in the Analysis of Group Interactions Daniel D. Suthers,Kristine Lund,Carolyn Penstein Rosé,Chris Teplovs,Nancy Law,2013-12-02 The key idea of the book is that scientific and practical advances can be obtained if researchers working in traditions that have been assumed to be mutually incompatible make a real effort to engage in dialogue with each other comparing and contrasting their understandings of a given phenomenon and how these different understandings can either complement or mutually elaborate on each other This key idea applies to many fields particularly in the social and behavioral sciences as well as education and computer science The book shows how we have achieved this by presenting our study of collaborative learning during the course of a four year project Through a series of five workshops involving dozens of researchers the 37 editors and authors involved in this project studied and reported on collaborative learning technology enhanced learning and cooperative work The authors share an interest in understanding group interactions but approach this topic from a variety of traditional disciplinary homes and theoretical and methodological traditions This allows the book to be of use to researchers in many different fields and with many different goals and agendas        Science Interactions Bill G. Aldridge,1993        Handbook of Human Factors in Web Design Kim-Phuong L. Vu,Robert W. Proctor,2011-04-25 The Handbook of Human Factors in Web Design covers basic human factors issues relating to screen design input devices and information organization and processing as well as addresses newer features which will become prominent in the next generation of Web technologies These include multimodal interfaces wireless capabilities and agents t        Cornell University Courses of Study Cornell University,2007        Faculty Service-Learning Guidebook Christine M. Cress,Stephanie T. Stokamer,Thomas J. Van Cleave,Joyce P. Kaufman,2023-07-03 This is a practical guide to designing teaching and coordinating service learning courses and for developing reciprocal community partnerships and community based research through a lens of equity that addresses the endemic racial social economic and environmental disparities across society The text provides a comprehensive framework for developing both in person and on line service learning with a chapter on virtual delivery of courses that integrates the principles and practices described throughout the book The authors uniquely integrate the how to of conducting service learning with the theoretical foundations to enact effective equitable and inclusive community engagement Given this moment of enormous social inequality and divisiveness the authors offer a new definition and set of educational principles that they characterize as Equity Centered Community Engagement Excellence These principles serve to guide academic and community engagement that is democratic recognizes the voice and expertise of community partners addresses the power imbalances between communities and academic institutions and develops an educational experience that is potentially transformative and promotes civic responsibility Informed by the literature of critical service learning critical race theory intercultural communication theory and social constructivism this book attempts to deconstruct the assumption of the preeminence of academic knowledge to reconstruct a new operational paradigm of equity centeredness that validates community capacity to guide faculty in their redesign of service learning curriculum activities collaborations and scholarship It is based on the principles of Student Agency demonstrated as enhanced skills knowledge and motivation Community Efficacy recognition of community assets and capacity building Scholarly Advocacy leveraging evidence based research based for equity centered learning serving and social justice The authors offer examples of syllabi lessons and assignments reflection questions evaluation rubrics as well as an array of teaching tips that illustrate strategies for use in the classroom and in the field The book is addressed to faculty embarking on service learning and to seasoned scholar practitioners looking for innovative ideas as well as to campus administrators who coordinate community outreach or college student volunteer services offering guidance on leveraging resources and fiscal support from external stakeholders It is also designed to serve as a resource for professional development workshops and faculty scholar learning communities It offers a rich compendium of ideas and examples from which faculty and practitioners can select exercises and elements to incorporate or adapt for their courses whether designing short term engagements or extended service learning programs      Nanochemistry for Chemistry Educators Riam Abu Much,Kurt Winkelmann,Muhamad Hugerat,2022-06-29 For the first time this book sets out ways to teach the science of nanochemistry at a level suitable for pre service and in service teachers in middle and secondary school The authors draw upon peer reviewed science education literature for experiments activities educational research and methods of teaching the subject The book starts with an overview of chemical nanotechnology including definition of the basic concepts in nanoscience properties types of nanostructured materials synthesis characterization and applications It includes examples of how nanochemistry impacts our daily lives This theoretical background is an address for teachers even if they do not have enough information about the subject of nanoscale science Subsequent chapters present best practices for presenting the material to students in a way that improves their attitudes and knowledge toward nanochemistry and STEM subjects in general The final chapter includes experiments designed for middle and high school students From basic science through to current and near future developments for applications of nanomaterials and nanostructures in medicine electronics energy and the environment users of the book will find a wealth of ideas to convey nanochemistry in an engaging way to students

1999 International Symposium on Technology and Society IEEE Society on Social Implications of Technology,1999 The theme of the symposium is Women and Technology Historical Societal and Professional Perspectives The roles of women in technology are more diverse controversial and important today than ever before Since the 1950s women have tried to technologically empower themselves particularly by entering the engineering profession They have done so in great numbers although today it is glaringly obvious that women are still underrepresented in engineering Women in the field still face gender based obstacles expectations and biases despite decades of efforts to eradicate these problems These issues are addressed     Proceedings of the 23rd European Conference on e-Learning Fernando Moriera,
