Making Of The European Age:

The Making of the European Age John M. Roberts, 1998 Traditional Dietary Culture Of Southeast Asia Akira Matsuyama, 2013-11-05 First Published in 2002 Foodways can reveal the strongest and deepest traces of human history and culture and this pioneering volume is a detailed study of the development of the traditional dietary culture of Southeast Asia from Laos and Vietnam to the Philippines and New Guinea from earliest times to the present Being blessed with abundant natural resources dietary culture in Southeast Asia flourished during the pre European period on the basis of close relationships between the cultural spheres of India and China only to undergo significant change during the rise of Islam and the age of European colonialism What we think of as the Southeast Asian cuisine today is the result of the complex interplay of many factors over centuries The work is supported by full geological archaeological biological and chemical data and is based largely upon Southeast Asian sources which have not been available up until now This is essential reading for anyone interested in culinary history the anthropology of food and in the complex history of Southeast Asia The History of the World John Morris Roberts, Odd Arne Westad, 2013 First published in 1976 J M Robert s The New History of the World is a one of the landmark works of our era It has been fully revised and updated to offer a substantial authoritative and truly global narrative of world history The Illustrated History of the World: The making of the european age John Morris Roberts, 1999 Handbook to Life in Prehistoric Europe Jane McIntosh, 2009-06-01 For most of Europe s long past we have no writing no named individuals no recorded deeds This means that its history is almost entirely that of the ordinary individual the hunter gatherer farmer or metallurgist rather than the king Evidence of privileged elites and material splendor is not lacking however The skills and expertise of prehistoric Europeans were often employed in the production of exquisite jewelry elaborately woven cloth beautifully made tools and finely wrought weapons Though the palaces that have attracted excavators in other lands are absent there are few monuments elsewhere in the world to rival Europe s massive megalithic tombs or great stone circles And though individuals preserve their anonymity and many of their secrets modern technology has made it possible to reveal parts of their life history in astonishing detail Handbook to Life in Prehistoric Europe gathers the results of recent archaeological discoveries and scholarly research into a single accessible volume Organized thematically the handbook covers all aspects of life in prehistoric Europe including the geography of the continent settlement trade and transport industry and crafts religion death and burial warfare language the arts and more Complemented with more than 75 illustrations and maps the result is a fascinating introduction to the 7 000 year period that immediately preceded the Roman Empire The Making of Home Judith Flanders, 2014-10-01 The idea that home is a special place a separate place a place where we can be our true selves is so obvious to us today that we barely pause to think about it But as Judith Flanders shows in this revealing book home is a relatively new concept When in 1900 Dorothy assured the citizens of Oz that There is no place like home she was expressing a view that was a culmination of 300 years of economic physical and emotional change In The Making of Home Flanders traces the evolution of the house across northern Europe and America from the 16th to the early 20th century and paints a striking picture of how the homes we know today differ from homes through history The transformation of houses into homes she argues was not a private matter but an essential ingredient in the rise of capitalism and the birth of the Industrial Revolution Without home the modern world as we know it would not exist and as Flanders charts the development of ordinary household objects from cutlery chairs and curtains to fitted kitchens plumbing and windows she also peels back the myths that surround some of our most basic assumptions including our entire notion of what it is that makes a family As full of fascinating detail as her previous bestsellers The Making of Home is also a book teeming with original and provocative ideas

Making Youth: A History of Youth in Modern Britain Melanie Tebbutt, 2017-09-16 This new study explores how British youth was made and how it made itself over the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Urbanisation and industrialisation brought challenges that altered how young people were both perceived and understood As adults found it difficult to comprehend the rapidity of societal change focus on the young intensified and they became a symbol of uncertainty about the future Highlighting both change and striking continuity Melanie Tebbutt traces the origins and development of key themes and debates in the history of modern British youth Current issues such as the ageing of western societies high levels of youth unemployment and the potential for social and political unrest make this a timely study European Society William Outhwaite, 2013-05-02 Does it make sense to speak of a European society above and beyond its component states and regions In this major new book William Outhwaite argues that it does He goes beyond the study of individual states and specific regions of Europe to examine the changing contours of the continent as a whole at a time when Europe is beginning to look and act more like a single entity In what we have come to call Europe there developed distinctive forms of political economic and more broadly social organisation many of course building on elements drawn from more advanced civilisations elsewhere in the world During the centuries of European dominance these forms were often exported to other world regions where the export versions often surpassed the original ones In the present century many features of European life remain distinctive the European welfare or social model a substantially secularised culture and particular forms of democratic politics and of the relations between politics and the economy This book provides a concise overview and analysis of these features which continue to make Europe a relatively distinctive region of global modernity The book will become a key text for students taking courses on contemporary Europe whether these are in departments of politics sociology literature or European Studies It will also be of great interest to anyone living in or concerned with Europe today

Handbook of European Societies Stefan Immerfall, Göran Therborn, 2009-12-01 European integration is one of the most ambitious and socially far reaching developments in world politics and in world economics Against growing opposition and despite increasing social heterogeneity the European Union continues to expand and to acquire new competences But to what extent is the self proclaimed ever closer union among the peoples of Europe a social reality In which ways is the political European project anchored in social developments How does social change impinge upon political integration Societal trends in multi cultural multi ethnic multi lingual and socially diverse Europe have never been studied systematically Handbook of European Societies Social Transformations in the 21st Century sets to rectify this neglect of societal developments in Europe providing a groundwork for the sociology of European integration The book portrays social life and social relations in the enlarged Europe and gives a perspective on the European Union as an evolving social entity Handbook of European Societies is a pioneering source book analyzing the current social patterns on the continent It covers a representative selection of major topics of social concern and sociological relevance such as Collective Action Consumption Identity Power Structure Sexuality Stratification and Well being Each contribution probes key developments in a strictly comparative manner The Handbook thus offers a detailed look into the intricacies of the national societies of Europe and into the prospect of an emerging European society The Editors have enlisted leading researchers to synthesize existing knowledge and to make use of many different data sources in a straight forward style The contributions stay away from jargon simple labeling and sweeping assertions Instead they provide solid and accessible information on a wide variety of social trends and processes within and across European societies Telling Stories, Making Histories Mary Wren Bivins, 2007-03-30 Through reconstruction of oral testimony folk stories and poetry the true history of Hausa women and their reception of Islam's vision of Muslim in Western Africa have been uncovered Mary Wren Bivins is the first author to locate and examine the oral texts of the 19th century Hausa women and challenge the written documentation of the Sokoto Caliphate The personal narratives and folk stories reveal the importance of illiterate non elite women to the history of jihad and the assimilation of normative Islam in rural Hausaland The captivating lives of the Hausa are captured shedding light on their ordinary existence as wives mothers and providers for their family on the eve of European colonial conquest

Gender Trouble and Current Archaeological Debates Uroš Matić, Bisserka Gaydarska, Laura Coltofean, Marta

Díaz-Guardamino, 2024-10-28 This volume challenges the status quo by addressing a selection of intensely discussed themes in contemporary archaeological practice from a gender perspective. It aims to demonstrate that gender is intrinsic to archaeology and that gender archaeology can enrich our studies irrespective of the discipline's possible future directions and so-called paradigm shifts. The scholarly contributions commissioned for this volume critically discuss and reflect on a wide range of concepts, ideas, principles, and theories presently applied in archaeology within the framework of gender. The chapters included in the first part deal with themes in world archaeology that have little or no focus on gender, such as the Third Science Revolution (e.g. ancient DNA, stable isotopes, analyses, big data, posthumanism, e.g. new materialism, symmetrical archaeology and the ontological turn, and digital archaeology and heritage). The second part focuses on themes in which gender archaeology has made serious advances: intersectionality, social inequality, violence, mobility. The third part deals with themes crucial for contemporary archaeology and society, namely gender education, gender representation in museum exhibitions, and the future of gender archaeology. The volume concludes with a coda chapter that critically assesses the preceding contributions and the volume as a whole. The book offers a gender-balanced and inclusive authorship consisting of both well-established and early-career researchers closely connected to the EAA, whose professionally, culturally, and geographically diverse backgrounds and experiences enrich the viewpoints discussed in the chapters. The targeted audience is archaeologists from all theoretical and scientific backgrounds at all stages of their career. Chapter 2, Sex, Gender, and the Third Science Revolution, is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link.springer.com.

Europe and the Spectre of Post-Growth Society Piotr A. Świtalski, 2014-05-30 Europe has been going through its most serious crisis of values since the fall of communism. In public discourse, economic and social pressures have overshadowed the other dimensions of the crisis, including societal values. However, the crisis of values would appear to be more than simply an effect of the recession. Europeans have lost trust in democratic institutions at all levels: European, national, and local. Rising xenophobia and discrimination against minorities undermine the vitality of the European model of tolerance. Europe is plagued by endemic corruption, which costs it more than 100 billion annually, triggering political instability. Some believe that once Europe is back on the path of growth, the crisis of values will disappear and that there will be a resurgence of faith in European integration. But in the long term, growth in Western societies may be impaired by serious headwinds resulting from demographic trends and rising inequalities, and Europe may become the first post-growth society. European societies are already changing their traditional characteristics as a result of exposure to the effects of two global mega-trends: the empowerment of the individual and cosmopolitisation. Can the European project be of relevance when addressing these challenges? What role in this process can be played by the Council of Europe, which is the embodiment of the idea that Europe is bigger than the European Union and the European agenda is richer than the economy and politics?

The Making of Ageing Policy Rune Ervik, Tord Skogedal Lindén, 2013-01-01 This innovative book provides insightful analyses and critique of policy ideas and practices regarding the challenges and opportunities facing ageing European societies. Through pertinent case study examples it elucidates the ideological and institutional factors that underlie policy responses in different European societies. It demonstrates the pivotal role of ideas and of international organisations in shaping the policy and practice landscape and driving through key policy reforms in Europe. This edited book provides an invaluable resource for policy makers, researchers and scholars interested in ageing policy and the political process. Sara Arber, University of Surrey, UK. Demographic changes transform societies and challenge existing institutional solutions and policies. The need for policies addressing these challenges has increasingly been put on the agenda. The Making of Ageing Policy analyzes these innovative policy ideas and practices at both the international and the national level. The book provides insights into the value basis and justifications of ageing policies, the potential for conflict and how policy ideas are embedded in institutional defense and advocacy for institutional change and reform. In terms of policy ideas, the economically focused productive ageing dominates, but the book finds instances where the broader active ageing approach has gained a hold in policymaking. Ageing policy reforms within pensions and labour market policy include measures to make people extend their working life. In long term care reforms abound and implies changes in the responsibility of financing and provision, but the patterns across countries differ substantially. The authors provide normative analysis of ageing policy ideas, divulge political conflicts and consensus on ageing policy and contribute by describing and analyzing the changing institutional landscape of ageing politics and policies throughout Europe. It will prove insightful for academics and researchers in the field, but it will also appeal to practitioners who are increasingly dealing with demographic challenges across a wide number of policy sectors in their daily affairs.

The Selected Writings of James Weldon Johnson: The New York Age editorials (1914-1923) James Weldon Johnson, 1995 These two volumes of writings represent Johnson's experiences as one of black America's premier civil rights statesmen and leader, participant and historian of the Black Literary Movement in the 1920s.
