Making A Middle Landscape:

Making a Middle Landscape Peter G. Rowe, 1991 Today's suburban metropolitan development of single family homes shopping centers corporate offices and roadway systems constitute what Peter Rowe calls a middle landscape between the city and the country Looking closely at suburban America in terms of design and physical planning Rowe builds a case for a new way of seeing and building suburbia complete with theoretical underpinnings and a basis for design Making a

Middle Landscape Peter G. Rowe, 1991 While others have written about this phenomenon from the point of view of sociology or cultural geography Rowe looks closely at suburban America in terms of design and physical planning The Landscape Urbanism Reader Charles Waldheim, 2012-03-20 In The Landscape Urbanism Reader Charles Waldheim who is at the forefront of this new movement has assembled the definitive collection of essays by many of the field's top practitioners Fourteen essays written by leading figures across a range of disciplines and from around the world including James Corner Linda Pollak Alan Berger Pierre Bolanger Julia Czerniak and more capture the origins the contemporary milieu and the aspirations of this relatively new field The Landscape Urbanism Reader is an inspiring signal to the future of city making as well as an indispensable reference for students teachers architects and urban planners Making the Metropolitan

Landscape Jacqueline Tatom, Jennifer Stauber, 2009-05-07 The American landscape is an extremely complex terrain born from a history of collective and individual experiences These created environments which all may be called metropolitan landscapes constantly challenge students and professionals in the fields of architecture design and planning to consider new ways of making lively public places This book brings together varied voices in urban design theory and practice to explore new ways of understanding place and our position in it Landscape and Utopia Jody Beck, 2022-12-22 This book examines three landmark utopian visions central to 20th century landscape architectural planning and architectural theory The period between the 1890s and the 1940s was a fertile time for utopian thinking Significant geographic shifts of large populations radically altered relations between capital and labor rapid technological developments large investments in transportation and energy infrastructure and repetitive economic disruptions motivated many individuals to wholly reimagine society including the connections between social relations and the built environment Landscape and Utopia examines the role of landscapes in the political imaginations of the Garden City the Radiant City and Broadacre City Each project uses landscapes to propose a reconstruction of the relationships between land labor and capital but while the projects are well known the role played by landscapes has been largely left unexamined Similarly the radical anti capitalism that underpinned each project has similarly been for the most part left out of contemporary discussions This book sets these projects within a historical and philosophical context and opens a discussion on the role of landscapes in society today This book will be a must read for instructors students and researchers of the history and theory of landscape architecture planning and architecture as well as utopian studies cultural and social history and environmental theory Landscape Paradigms and Post-urban

Spaces Roberto Pasini, 2018-07-07 This book presents 1 an urban studies panorama on the emergence of a built landscape continuum following the anthropic expansion at the geographic scale and the consequent demise of the city country divide 2 an in depth theoretical analysis of disparate landscape constructs culminating in the proposal of a comprehensive spatial paradigm addressing both manmade and natural contexts 3 the in situ transcription of the proposed spatial paradigm into a landscape installation implementing a territorial narrative in the Sierra Madre Oriental of Mexico Foreword by Peter G Rowe and afterword by Elisa C Cattaneo By virtue of its openness fluidity and volatility fluctuating between heterogeneity and diversity today s built landscape continuum exhibits analogies with distinct notions of landscape The book determines an open ended classification of contemporary space making strategies exceeding the urban and metropolitan ambit through a comparative anatomy of global case studies ranging from hard to soft geotechnics or applied geographies machinic micro ecologies aesthetic prostheses for operative metabolism cybernetic utopias atmospheric assemblages psychic spheres creole horizons semiotic landscapes geopolitical landscapes geophilosophical excavations The proposed spatial paradigm accommodating aggregates of artificial and living systems physical and mental spaces and machinic and cultural landscapes intends to reconcile the traditionally opposed scientific cognitive metabolist and cultural geophilosophical territorialist visions of the landscape The resulting model transcends the exhausted myths of urban space metropolitanism and their filiations in favor of a new form of urbanity and its attributes Parts of the work were developed in the frame of research projects of Universidad de Monterrey and Parque Ecológico Chipinque and the IDAUP of UniFE and Polis The target audience of the book is researchers teachers and advanced students engaged in landscape and urban studies with a prevalent focus on theory The book can also benefit professional and institutional audiences looking for ethical methodological orientation

Landscape as Urbanism Charles Waldheim, 2022-03-15 A definitive intellectual history of landscape urbanism It has become conventional to think of urbanism and landscape as opposing one another or to think of landscape as merely providing temporary relief from urban life as shaped by buildings and infrastructure But driven in part by environmental concerns landscape has recently emerged as a model and medium for the city with some theorists arguing that landscape architects are the urbanists of our age In Landscape as Urbanism one of the field s pioneers presents a powerful case for rethinking the city through landscape Charles Waldheim traces the roots of landscape as a form of urbanism from its origins in the Renaissance through the twentieth century Growing out of progressive architectural culture and populist environmentalism the concept was further informed by the nineteenth century invention of landscape architecture as a new art charged with reconciling the design of the industrial city with its ecological and social conditions In the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries as urban planning shifted from design to social science and as urban design committed to neotraditional models of town planning landscape urbanism emerged to fill a void at the heart of the contemporary urban project Generously illustrated Landscape as Urbanism examines works from around the world by designers ranging from

Ludwig Hilberseimer Andrea Branzi and Frank Lloyd Wright to James Corner Adriaan Geuze and Michael Van Valkenburgh The result is the definitive account of an emerging field that is likely to influence the design of cities for decades to come

Planning on the Edge Nick Gallent, Johan Andersson, Marco Bianconi, 2006-09-27 More than a tenth of the land mass of the UK comprises urban fringe the countryside around towns that has been called planning's last frontier One of the key challenges facing spatial planners is the land use management of this area regarded by many as fit only for locating sewage works essential service functions and other un neighbourly uses However to others it is a dynamic area where a range of urban and rural uses collide Planning on the Edge fills an important gap in the literature examining in detail the challenges that planning faces in this no man's land It presents both problems and solutions and builds a vision for the urban fringe that is concerned with maximising its potential and with bridging the physical and cultural rift between town and country Its findings are presented in three sections the urban fringe and the principles underpinning its management sectoral challenges faced at the urban fringe including commerce energy recreation farming and housing managing the urban fringe more effectively in the future Students professionals and researchers alike will benefit from the book's structured approach while the global and transferable nature of the principles and ideas underpinning the study will appeal to an international audience

The Making of the British Landscape Francis Pryor, 2010-06-03 This is the changing story of Britain as it has been preserved in our fields roads buildings towns and villages mountains forests and islands From our suburban streets that still trace out the boundaries of long vanished farms to the Norfolk Broads formed when medieval peat pits flooded from the ceremonial landscapes of Stonehenge to the spread of the railways evidence of how man's effect on Britain is everywhere In The Making of the British Landscape eminent historian archaeologist and farmer Francis Pryor explains how to read these clues to understand the fascinating history of our land and of how people have lived on it throughout time Covering both the urban and rural and packed with pictures maps and drawings showing everything from how we can still pick out Bronze Age fields on Bodmin Moor to how the Industrial Revolution really changed our landscape this book makes us look afresh at our surroundings and really see them for the first time

The Prairie and the Making of Middle America Dorothy Anne Dondore, 1926 Landscape and the Ideology of Nature in Exurbia K. Valentine Cadieux, Laura Taylor, 2013-05-07 This book explores the role of the ideology of nature in producing urban and exurban sprawl It examines the ironies of residential development on the metropolitan fringe where the search for nature brings residents deeper into the world from which they are imagining their escape of Federal Express technologically mediated communications global supply chains and the anonymity of the global marketplace and where many of the central features of exurbia very low density residential land use monster homes and conversion of forested or rural land for housing contribute to the very problems that the social and environmental aesthetic of exurbia attempts to avoid The volume shows how this contradiction to live in the green landscape and to protect the green landscape from urbanization gets caught up and represented in the ideology of nature and how this ideology in turn constitutes and is constituted by the landscapes being urbanized

The Changing Landscape of Work and Family in the American Middle Class Elizabeth Rudd, Lara Descartes, 2008-01-01 The Changing Landscape of Work and Family in the American Middle Class explores the dynamics of the modern American family and how they have adapted to the changing economy and culture Contributors from a variety of disciplines redefine the concept of the model American family and provide well researched insight into what the new standards for judging family life and its functionality will be

The Modern Landscapes of Ted Smyth Rod Barnett, Jacqueline Margetts, 2017-01-06 The modern period in landscape architecture is enjoying the fascinated appreciation of scholars and historians in Europe and the Americas and new themes new subjects and new appraisals are appearing This book contributes to the conversation by focusing on the work of a singular designer who spent his entire career in a province of the North Island of New Zealand Ted Smyth practiced an assured landscape modernism without ever seeing the designs of his forebears or his contemporaries working in the UK Europe and the United States Designing in isolation from the mainstream of modernism and a little after its high tide Smyth produced a series of gardens that provoke a revaluation of the diffusionist model of influence The book explains and describes the evolution of Smyth s design vocabulary and relates it to the development of tropical landscape modernism in other Asia Pacific sites It shows how a culture of garden modernism can be generated from within a particular locale and highlights Smyth s engagement with M ori design traditions in search of a specific expression of the high modern essentialism of place

Recovering Landscape James Corner, 1999-08 The past decade has been witness to a remarkable resurgence of interest in landscape While this recovery invokes a return of past traditions and ideas it also implies renewal invention and transformation Recovering Landscape collects a number of essays that discuss why landscape is gaining increased attention today and what new possibilities might emerge from this situation Themes such as reclamation urbanism infrastructure geometry representation and temporality are explored in discussions drawn from recent developments not only in the United States but also in the Netherlands France India and Southeast Asia The contributors to this collection all leading figures in the field of landscape architecture include Alan Balfour Denis Cosgrove Georges Descombes Christophe Girot Steen Hoyer David Leatherbarrow Bart Lootsma Sebastien Marot Anuradha Mathur Marc Treib and Alex Wall

Peopling the Landscape of Çatalhöyük Ian Hodder, 2020-11-01 This volume reports on the ways in which humans engaged in their material and biotic environments at atalh y k using a wide range of archaeological evidence This volume also summarizes work on the skeletal remains recovered from the site as well as analytical research on isotopes and aDNA suggests that community engaged partnerships forge relationships that can enhance and sustain K 12 STEM education efforts between K 12 districts and the scholarly community There is a need to highlight community engaged teaching and scholarship produced from partnerships between K 12 school districts and STEM outreach organizations Developing and Sustaining STEM Programs Across the K 12 Education Landscape describes the purpose of the collaboration between K 12 school districts and STEM outreach organizations the STEM activities that participating K 12 students engage in and the impacts on STEM learners that emerge from the partnership Covering topics such as continuous program improvement school industry partnerships and student success this premier reference source is an excellent resource for educational leaders and administrators pre service and in service educators teacher educators researchers and academicians The Changing Landscape of China's Consumerism Alison Hulme,2014-07-02 Consumerism in China has developed rapidly The Changing Landscape of China s Consumerism looks at the growth of consumerism in China from both a socio economic and a political cultural angle It examines changing trends in consumption in China as well as the impact of these trends on society and the politics and culture surrounding them It examines the ways in which despite needing to unlock the spending power of the rural provinces the Chinese authorities are also keen to maintain certain attitudes towards the Communist Party and socialism with Chinese Characteristics Overall it aims to show that consumerism in China today is both an economic and political phenomenon and one which requires both surrounding political culture and economic trends for its continued establishment The ways in which this dual relationship both supports and battles with itself are explored through apposite case studies including the use of New Confucianism in the market context the commodification of Lei Feng the new Chinese tourist as a diplomatic tool in consumption the popularity of Shanzhai fake product culture and the conspicuous consumption of China s new middle class Provides innovative interdisciplinary research useful to cultural studies sociology Chinese studies and politics Examines changes in consumerism from multiple perspectives Allows both micro and macro insights into consumerism in China by providing specific case studies while placing these within the context of geo politics and grand theory Landscape in Middle English Romance Andrew M. Richmond,2021-08-05 Our current ecological crises compel us not only to understand how contemporary media shapes our conceptions of human relationships with the environment but also to examine the historical genealogies of such perspectives Written during the onset of the Little Ice Age in Britain Middle English romances provide a fascinating window into the worldviews of popular vernacular literature and its audiences at the close of the Middle Ages Andrew M Richmond shows how literary conventions of romances shaped and were in turn influenced by contemporary perspectives on the natural world These popular texts also reveal widespread concern regarding the damaging effects of human actions and climate change The natural world was a constant presence in the writing thoughts and lives of the audiences and authors of medieval English romance and these close readings reveal that our environmental concerns go back further in our history and culture than we think The Making of a Cultural Landscape

Jason Wood, John K. Walton, 2016-03-09 For centuries the English Lake District has been renowned as an important cultural sacred and literary landscape It is therefore surprising that there has so far been no in depth critical examination of the Lake District from a tourism and heritage perspective Bringing together leading writers from a wide range of disciplines this book explores the tourism history and heritage of the Lake District and its construction as a cultural landscape from the mid eighteenth century to the present day It critically analyses the relationships between history heritage landscape culture and policy that underlie the activities of the National Park Cumbria Tourism and the proposals to recognise the Lake District as a UNESCO World Heritage Site It examines all aspects of the Lake District s history and identity brings the story up to date and looks at current issues in conservation policy and tourism marketing In doing so it not only provides a unique and valuable analysis of this region but offers insights into the history of cultural and heritage tourism in Britain and beyond
