The Chamber Musician in the Twenty-First Century Mine Doğan-Doğan, 2022-07-07 In recent research there has been growing emphasis on the collaborative social and collective nature of musical behaviour and practices Among the emerging hypotheses in this connection are the idea that listening to music is always listening together and being with the other that music making is a matter of intercorporeality mutuality and emphatic attunement and that creative agency in musical practices is fundamentally a distributed phenomenon Chamber music provides an ideal context for the testing and actualization of these notions This Special Issue on chamber music and the chamber musician aims to explore the psychological social cultural historical and artistic issues in the practice of classical chamber music in the twenty first century Contributions are invited on any of these aspects and issues involved in being a contemporary classical chamber musician Authors are encouraged to contextualise their research by reference to the recent literature on collaborative musicking and among the topics they may choose to address are the cultural and musical demands chamber musicians face and the implications of these demands for their artistic practice the ways the twenty first century chamber musicians engage with historical practices the newly emerging musical identities and artistic roles available to them and expressivity in current chamber music practices

Musical Biography Jolanta T. Pekacz, 2006 The contributors to this volume challenge the view that biography has little importance for music history analysis and criticism Collectively they reassert biography's centrality and relevance and demonstrate biography's potential to speak not only to the crucial questions that music analysis and criticism raise but also to more general epistemological questions about the nature of music history itself

Alan Bush Professor Stewart R Craggs, 2013-01-28 Born in 1900 Alan Bush the English composer conductor and pianist studied with Corder and Matthay and privately with John Ireland He was appointed professor of harmony and composition at the Royal Academy of Music in 1925 a post he held until 1978 In 1929-31 he continued to study at Berlin University and had piano lessons with Moiseiwitsch and Schnabel The present Source Book documents his works many of which reflect his Communist sympathies and the many arrangements of his music by other composers A wealth of detail is provided including printed scores CD recordings bibliographical material and manuscript scores and their locations the majority of which have been deposited recently in the British Library by the Bush family A chronology of the composer's life draws on many sources including letters and scrapbooks

Sounds and Sweet Airs Anna Beer, 2016-04-07 The hidden history of the women who dared to write music in a man's world Lucid engaging and exuberant Sounds and Sweet Airs is terrifically enjoyable and accessible and leaves one hankering for a second volume The Sunday Times Francesca Caccini Barbara Strozzi Elisabeth Jacquet de la Guerre Marianna Martines Fanny Hensel Clara Schumann Lili Boulanger Elizabeth Maconchy Since the birth of classical music women who dared compose have faced a bitter struggle to be heard In spite of this female composers continued to create inspire and challenge Yet even today so much of their work languishes unheard Anna Beer reveals the highs and lows experienced by eight composers across the centuries from Renaissance Florence to twentieth century London restoring to their rightful place exceptional women whom history has forgotten Musical Creativities in Practice Pamela Burnard, 2012-03-22 This book explores the social and the cultural contexts in which creativity in music occurs It considers what constitutes creativity taking a cross cultural view of music and investigating creative processes far beyond just the classical music genre including electronic media popular music and improvised music Activating Diverse Musical Creativities Pamela Burnard, Elizabeth Haddon, 2015-01-29 Activating Diverse Musical Creativities analyses the ways in which music programmes in higher education can activate and foster diverse musical creativities It also demonstrates the relationship between musical creativities and entrepreneurship in higher education teaching and learning These issues are of vital significance to contemporary educational practice and training in both university and conservatoire contexts particularly when considered alongside the growing importance of entrepreneurship defined here as a type of creativity for successful musicians working in the 21st century creative and cultural industries International contributors address a broad spectrum of musical creativities in higher education such as improvisational creativity empathic creativity and leadership creativity demonstrating the transformative possibilities of embedding these within higher music education teaching and learning The chapters explore the active practice of musical creativities in teaching and learning and recognize their mutual dependency The contributors consider philosophical and practical concerns in their work on teaching for creativity in higher music education and focus on practices using imaginative approaches in order to make learning more interesting effective and relevant Voices, Bodies, Practices Catherine Laws, William Brooks, David Gorton, Nguyễn Thanh Thủy, Stefan Östersjö, Jeremy J. Wells, 2019-11-25 Identity and subjectivity in musical performances Who is the I that performs The arts of the twentieth and twenty first centuries have pushed us relentlessly to reconsider our notions of the self expression and communication to ask ourselves again and again who we think we are and how we can speak meaningfully to one another Although in other performing arts studies especially of theatre the performance of selfhood and identity continues to be a matter of lively debate in both practice and theory the question of how a sense of self is manifested through musical performance has been neglected The authors of Voices Bodies Practices are all musician researchers the book employs artistic research to explore how embodied performing voices can emerge from the interactions of individual performers and composers musical materials instruments mediating technologies and performance contexts Popular Music in Evangelical Youth Culture Stella Lau, 2013-05-07 Christian churches and groups within Anglo American contexts have increasingly used popular music as a way to connect with young people This book investigates the relationships between evangelical Christianity and popular music focusing particularly on electronic dance music in the last twenty years Author Stella Lau illustrates how electronic dance music is legitimized in evangelical activities by Christians discourses and how the discourses challenge the divide between the secular and the sacred in the Western culture Unlike other existing books on the relationships between music cultures and religion which predominantly discuss the cultural implications of such phenomenon Popular Music in Evangelical Youth Culture examines the notion of spirituality in contemporary popular electronic dance music Lau s emphasis on the sonic qualities of electronic dance music opens the door for future research about the relationships between aural properties of electronic dance music and religious discourses With three case studies conducted in the cultural hubs of electronic dance music Bristol Ibiza and New York the monograph can also be used as a guidebook for ethnographic research in popular music

British Medical Journal ,1894 Encounters with British Composers Andrew Palmer,2015 Contemporary British composers talk about their music with the emphasis on the aesthetic sensibilities and psychological processes behind composing rather than technique This book features interviews with leading and upcoming British composers who use the same raw materials but produce classical music that takes very different forms Uniquely Andrew Palmer approaches the sometimes baffling world of contemporary music from the point of view of the inquisitive music loving amateur rather than the professional critic or musicologist Readers can eavesdrop on conversations in which composers are asked a number of questions about their professional lives and practices with the emphasis on the aesthetic sensibilities and psychological processes behind composing rather than technique Throughout the book seeks to explore why composers write the kind of music they write and what they want their music to do Along the way readers are confronted with an unspoken but equally important question if some composers are writing music that the public doesn t want to engage with who s to blame for that Are composers out of touch with their public or are we too lazy to give their music the attention it deserves
