A Performance Assessment of NASA's Astrophysics Program National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Board on Physics and Astronomy, Space Studies Board, NASA Astrophysics Performance Assessment Committee, 2007-06-21 While a number of remarkable discoveries in astronomy and astrophysics have taken place over the past 20 years many important questions remain Continued progress in these fields will require NASA s leadership To help determine if NASA can meet this challenge Congress in the 2005 NASA Authorization Act directed the agency to have the performance of each division in the Science directorate reviewed and assessed by the National Academy of Sciences at 5 year intervals In early 2006 NASA asked the NRC to conduct such an assessment for the agency's Astrophysics Division This report presents an assessment of how well NASA's current program addresses the strategies goals and priorities outlined in previous Academy reports The report provides an analysis of progress toward realizing these strategies goals and priorities and a discussion of actions that could be taken to optimize the scientific value of the program in the context of current and forecasted resources GEOValue Jamie B. Kruse, Joep Crompvoets, Françoise Pearlman, 2017-11-15 Quantifying the social and economic value that geospatial information contributes to modern society is a complex task To construct reliable and consistent valuation measures requires an understanding of the sequence of processes that starts with data acquisition and leads to decision makers choices that impact society GEOValue explores each step in this complex value chain from the viewpoint of domain experts spanning disciplines that range from the technical side of data acquisition and management to the social sciences that provide the framework to assess the benefit to society The book is intended to provide foundational understanding of the techniques and complexities of each step in the process As such it is intended to be assessable to a reader without prior training in data acquisition systems information systems or valuation methods In addition a number of case studies are provided that demonstrate the use of geospatial information as a critical input for evaluation of policy pertaining to a wide range of application areas such as agricultural and environmental policy natural catastrophes e government and transportation systems The Foreign Missions Convention at Washington, 1925 Fennell Parrish Turner, Frank Knight Sanders, 1925 The Spirit of Missions, 1871 Includes the proceedings of the annual meeting of the Lived to Tell: Three Generations of Dreams and Reality The China Mission Hand-book .1896 Society Elizabeth Wright, 2020-03-24 In Romania times were tough back in 1919 As Cecilia and her husband a preacher went through many unwanted and unexpected trials and tribulations Cecilia ended up having to drop out of seminary school which devastated her Cecilia being a mother to many children also had plenty of dreams Those dreams helped and showed her how to cope and what to expect in the future Patricia one of their daughters had her own problems Patricia also was blessed with dreams that not only came true but they also encouraged her to live and to not give up There came a point in time when both Cecilia and Patricia thought that they were going to die With their faith in God they managed to still keep a smile on their faces and to keep their heads up Take a look inside to see what happened back in the day This book is just the beginning of their story This story was translated from the Romanian language into English England's Mission to India Alfred Barry, 1895 The Mission Field ,1885 Ethiopian Diaspora Churches on Mission Mehari Tedla Korcho, 2024-12-14 Diaspora churches are positioned to have a tremendous capacity for missions as they practice their faith in the Western world yet why do they fail to develop effective strategies to break out of their inwardly locked ministries Addressing this question Dr Mehari Tedla Korcho offers a thorough examination of Ethiopian diaspora churches in the United States encompassing their historical sociological and missiological aspects Drawing attention to the relatively overlooked nature of the 1 5 diaspora generation those who came to the United States as children he explores the missional potential of mobilizing the intergenerational context of Ethiopian diaspora church communities Outlining a familiar narrative found in many diaspora churches Dr Korcho provides comprehensive strategic recommendations for helping the first second and 15 generations of these communities engage in missions together This work offers a fresh perspective to the field of diaspora mission studies through expounding the prospective impact of mission by the diaspora and the challenges faced in establishing missional partnerships The Church in Mission Betril Ekstrom, 2016-06-01 What does it mean today to be a church totally committed to the gospel and fully engaged in God's mission What major religious and sociological trends in our world are affecting the role of the global church and local churches How must we understand and be prepared to face these trends How do we define church in the twenty first century being faithful to the Scriptures and at the same time relevant to a generation that does not believe in the institutional church anymore What are some good models of missional churches in different regions of the world that will encourage and inspire those who long to see a church making difference in society and in the world These are some of the issues that the book you are holding in your hands addresses There are certainly no final answers and magical forms rather we present a broad and deep discussion on how the gospel should be lived out by Jesus followers in our time and through our communities Questions are raised and analyzed both from the perspective of a local church as well as from a global and general understanding of the Christian church Some of our examples will focus more on local realities others more on global challenges. The first part of the book is dedicated to a biblical and theological reflection on gospel church and mission It includes Old and New Testament studies on the theological implications of being church based on the biblical narrative The second part deals with a variety of contemporary missiological issues related to the broader theme of church and mission Different perspectives from current discussions and dialogues around the globe are included covering both ideological reflections and practical aspects of being a mission shaped church The third part presents regional and national case studies that show the enormous creativity in church planting and engagement of local communities in their own societies Models applied in the secularized Europe are contrasted to ways of functioning as church in fast growing congregations in the global South
