Misunderstanding Media:

Misunderstanding Media Brian Winston, 2016-10-04 The 1980s saw constant reports of an information revolution This book first published in 1986 challenges this view It argues that the information revolution is an illusion a rhetorical gambit an expression of profound historical ignorance and a movement dedicated to purveying misunderstanding and disseminating disinformation In this historically based attack on the information revolution Professor Winston takes a hard look at the four central information technologies telephones television computers and satellites He describes how these technologies were created and diffused showing that instead of revolution we just have business as usual He formulates a law of the suppression of radical potential a law which states that new telecommunication technologies are introduced into society only insofar as their disruptive potential is contained Despite the so called information revolution the major institutions of society remain unchanged and most of us remain in total ignorance of the history of technology Misunderstanding News

Audiences Eiri Elvestad, Angela Phillips, 2018-04-09 Misunderstanding News Audiences interrogates the prevailing myths around the impact of the Internet and social media on news consumption and democracy The book draws on a broad range of comparative research into audience engagement with news across different geographic regions to provide insight into the experience of news audiences in the twenty first century From its inception it was imagined that the Internet would benignly transform the nature of news media and its consumers There were predictions that it would for example break up news oligarchies improve plurality and diversity through news personalisation create genuine social solidarity online and increase political awareness and participation among citizens However this book finds that while mainstream news media is still the major source of news the new media environment appears to lead to greater polarisation between news junkies and news avoiders and to greater political polarisation The authors also argue that the dominant role of the USA in the field of news audience research has created myths about a global news audience which obscures the importance of national context as a major explanation for news exposure differences Misunderstanding News Audiences presents an important analysis of findings from recent audience studies and in doing so encourages readers to re evaluate popular beliefs about the influence of the Internet on news consumption and democracy in the West Media Discourse and the Yugoslav Conflicts Pål

Kolstø, 2016-04-29 In spite of the growing literature on discourse analysis the relationship of discourse to violent non violent outcomes of conflict is an under researched area This book combines theories on ethnic conflict identity construction and discourse analysis with a comprehensive and inclusive survey of the countries of the former Yugoslavia It presents an understanding of the interrelationship between words and deeds grounded through an extensively close analysis of film television and newspapers samples taken from the period This combination of ground breaking applications of theory with detailed empirical case studies will make Media Discourse and the Yugoslav Conflicts of key interest to scholars across a range of social sciences including sociology discourse analysis media conflict and peace studies as well as those concerned

The Future of Post-Human Mass Media Peter Baofu, 2009-01-14 Why should mass media be informational and accurate as much as its proponents would claim and conversely disinformational and propagandistic as much as its critics would argue Contrary to the conventional wisdom held by many since the modern era of mass media neither of the two opposing views is correct to the extent that a total analysis of media influence has yet to be adequately explored and understood Something fundamentally vital to the analysis of communication has been missing This is not to say however that the literature on media studies hitherto existing in history has been much ado about nothing on the contrary indeed much can be learned from different theoretical approaches in the field But the important point to remember here is that this book aims to show an alternative better way to understand the nature of mass media which goes beyond both the pros and cons in the literature on media influence while learning from them all If true this seminal view will alter the way of how mass media are to be understood with its enormous theoretical implications for going beyond the existing paradigms on the future of communication in a small sense and for predicting the future of open and closed societies in a large sense

The New Media Theory Reader Hassan, Robert, Thomas, Julian, 2006-09-01 The study of new media opens up some of the most fascinating issues in contemporary culture bringing together key readings on new media what it is where it came from how it affects our lives and how it is managed It encourages readers to pay attention to the new in new media as well as consider it as a historical phenomenon

Media, Technology and Society Brian Winston, 2002-09-11 Challenging the popular myth of a present day information revolution Media Technology and Society is essential reading for anyone interested in the social impact of technological change Winston argues that the development of new media forms from the telegraph and the telephone to computers satellite and virtual reality is the product of a constant play off between social necessity and suppression the unwritten law by which new technologies are introduced into society only insofar as their disruptive potential is limited

Big Media, Big Money Ronald V. Bettig, Jeanne Lynn Hall, 2012-05-04 Big Media Big Money is a lively and scathing critique of the contemporary communications industry examining how media ownership and the profit making motive affect the messages we receive in alarming ways Through close readings of recent news events and critical examination of corporate influence Bettig and Hall conclude that current interconnections among media big business government and education pose a serious threat to democratic communications The second edition includes three new chapters covering the contemporary Hollywood film industry the changing landscape of the music industry and ad creep the proliferation of advertising into previously ad free venues such as schools and children s television programming

The Twenty-First-Century Media Industry John Allen Hendricks, 2010-06-22 The Twenty First Century Media Industry Economic and Managerial Implications in the Age of New Media examines the role that new media technologies are having on the traditional media industry from a media management perspective Consumer behaviors and consumer expectations are being shaped by new media technologies They now expect information on demand and on the go as well as at their finger tips via the Internet In order to stay relevant traditional media managers and practitioners are adapting to these consumer demands and expectations by developing new business models and new business philosophies to stay competitive The contributors to this volume explore the business strategies being implemented by some media industries such as newspapers and the recording industry who are struggling to not only remain competitive and profitable but also to survive The Twenty First Century Media Industry provides an intriguing examination of how traditional media industries are adapting to new media technologies and evolving in the twenty first century

The Role of the Media in Promoting and Reducing Tobacco Use Ronald M. Davis, 2008 Electronic Media and Technoculture John Thornton Caldwell, 2000 Never before has the future been so systematically envisioned aggressively analyzed and grandly theorized as in the present rush to cyberspace and digitalization In the mid twentieth century questions about media technologies and society first emerged as scholarly hand wringing about the deleterious sweep of electronic media and information technologies in mass culture Now questions about new technologies and their social and cultural impact are no longer limited to intellectual soothsayers in the academy but are pervasive parts of day to day discourses in newspapers magazines television and film Electronic Media and Technoculture anchors contemporary discussion of the digital future within a critical tradition about the media arts society and culture The collection examines a range of phenomena from boutique cyber practices to the growing ubiquity of e commerce and the internet The essays chart a critical field in media studies providing a historical perspective on theories of new media The contributors place discussions of producing technologies in dialogue with consuming technologies new media in relation to old media and argue that digital media should not be restricted to the constraining public discourses of either the computer broadcast motion picture or internet industries The collection charts a range of theoretical positions to assist readers interested in new media and to enable them to weather the cycles of hardware obsolescence and theoretical volatility that characterize the present rush toward digital technologies Contributors include Ien Ang John Caldwell Cynthia Cockburn Helen Cunningham Hans Magnus Enzensberger Guillermo G mez Pe a Arthur Kroker Bill Nichols Andrew Ross Ellen Seiter Vivian Sobchack AllucquFre Rosanne Stone Ravi Sundaram Michael A Weinstein Raymond Williams and Brian Winston John Thornton Caldwell is chair of the film and television department at the University of California at Los Angeles He is a filmmaker and media artist and author of Televisuality Style Crisis and Authority in American Television also from Rutgers University Press

Technologies of Seeing Brian Winston, 2019-07-25 This text examines the complex forces pushing and constraining technological developments in cinema It contests the view that technological advance is simply the result of scientific progress Rather the author argues that social forces control the media technology agenda at every stage

The Digitization of Cinematic Visual Effects Rama Venkatasawmy, 2013 The Digitization of Cinematic Visual Effects Hollywood s Coming of Age by Rama Venkatasawmy analyzes how the Hollywood cinema industry s visual effects applications have not only motivated the expansion of filmmaking praxis they have also influenced the evolution of viewing pleasures and spectatorship experiences Following the digitization of their associated technologies VFX have been responsible for multiplying the strategies of representation and storytelling as well as extending the range of stories that can potentially be told onscreen By the same token the visual standards of the Hollywood film s production and exhibition have been growing in sophistication On the basis of displaying groundbreaking VFX immaculately realized through the application of cutting edge technologies and craftsmanship and of projecting such a significant degree of visual innovation and originality certain Hollywood movies have established techno visual trends and industrial standards for subsequent filmmaking practice Hollywood cinema s entry into the digital realm is intertwined with the intensification of conglomeratic practices within the movie business the domain of techno scientific R D in filmmaking and the unification of corporate media information technology and entertainment Hence the standardization of and convergence toward the digital medium is emblematic of Hollywood cinema's techno industrial evolution in the late twentieth century Accordingly this volume identifies various synergies and partnerships between VFX providers movie studios graphic designers and more that have emerged from a progressive growth of awareness in Hollywood of the digital medium's potential

The Europa Lectures, 2002-2014 Martin Holland, Serena Kelly, 2017-11-01 Commencing in 2001 the Europa Lecture has become a high profile fixture on the EU New Zealand calendar As witnessed by the fifteen lectures reproduced in this new volume the speakers were selected for both their high level profile as well as their importance to this bilateral dialogue This volume includes speeches from three Prime Ministers a President four European Commissioners as well as four Foreign Ministers both European and New Zealanders Each lecture naturally reflects the important issues of their day and cumulatively they produced a unique record of how EU New Zealand relations have evolved matured and continued to converge since the start of the new millennium The earlier lectures reflect a general optimism in the European integration project perhaps best highlighted by the historic enlargement of 1st May 2004 However with the onset of the global financial crisis and then subsequent Eurozone debt crisis the anticipated trajectory towards a supranational ever closer union was interrupted and the EU found itself confronting a period of both internal and external criticism and anxiety It was in these less than auspicious times that significant effort towards enhancing New Zealand's bilateral relations with the EU gained momentum These initiatives are expected to bear fruit in 2016 with the signing of a Partnership Agreement on Relations and Cooperation and BREXIT notwithstanding a fully fledged EU NZ Free Trade Agreement before 2020 This collection of lectures ends just as the rise in Euroscepticism became evident and the first serious murmurings of BREXIT could be detected within British politics The impact the UK's decision will have on EU New Zealand relations remains uncertain although as the introductory chapter to this volume suggests since 2015 New Zealand's media have seemingly begun to conflate coverage of the EU as being tantamount to BREXIT If this trend does come to dominate the New Zealand media landscape then Kiwi perceptions towards Europe run a risk of becoming unbalanced and a Back to the Future perspective reflecting the difficulties of the 1970s may again come shape perceptions
