Regional Capitals Pim Kooij, P. H. Pellenburg, 1994      Towns, Regions and Industries Jon Stobart, Neil Raven, 2005-06-04 Focusing on the Midlands this book examines urban and industrial change from 1700 1830 arguing that a complex urban system and its individual constituents both responded to and shaped wider processes of industrialisation the nature of urban and indu      European Cities in the Modern Era, 1850-1914 Friedrich Lenger, 2012-08-17 In European Cities in the Modern Era 1850 80 1914 Friedrich Lenger offers an account of Europe's major cities in a period crucial for the development of much of their present shape and infrastructure      Regional Development Strategies Jeremy Alden, Philip Boland, 2013-10-18 Regional development strategies have become the focus of attention in many countries in the 1990s This textbook provides a conceptual theoretical and empirical analysis of regional development strategies within a European context It examines the various regional development strategies which are currently being pursued within the regions of Europe defined in its loosest term to include East and West The book describes how many different European regions are attempting to reduce regional disparities by engaging themselves in coherent and focused regional development strategies and there is also private sector approach to regional economic development There are many case studies from Europe and from other parts of the world including Japan thereby providing lessons that different countries and regions can learn from each other      Integrated Spatial and Transport Infrastructure Development Hansjörg Drewello, Bernd Scholl, 2015-09-16 The challenge of growth in transport especially in freight transport and scarce resources in money landscape and local opposition against new infrastructure investment require new solutions from transport policy This book deals with these issues taking as an example the transport corridor Rotterdam Genoa one of the most heavily used in Europe In 2010 the INTERREG project Code24 with partners from five European countries started with the aim to develop a transnational strategy to strengthen and to develop the corridor The main objective was to accelerate and jointly develop the transport capacity of the entire corridor by ensuring optimal economic benefits and spatial integration while reducing negative impacts on the environment at local and regional level These issues are highlighted in the book from an interdisciplinary perspective taking into account spatial economic environmental and political aspects      Regional Economic Change in Europe Gert-Jan Hospers, 2004 In this era of ongoing globalization a coherent vision on Europe's changing geo economy is more important than ever before Drawing on the work of Schumpeter Fourastié and Perroux the book at hand offers a new and policy oriented perspective on regional economic change in Europe Conceptually it develops a middle range theory by extending Schumpeter's vision with a sectoral and spatial dimension This neo Schumpeterian framework is concretized by exploring fifty years of structural change in Sardinia the Ruhrgebiet and the resund      The City's Hinterland Keith Hoggart, 2016-03-16 Despite the fact that the rural commuter belts of cities are major loci of population change economic growth and dynamic social change within city regions most research tends to ignore this area while focusing on the built up city core However with the current emphasis on the role of rural areas in policy debates it is vital to recognize the importance of the commuter belt By comparing four major European cities in England France Germany and Spain this book offers the first comparative investigation of the dynamism of city rural hinterlands It assesses whether rural areas will become effectively integrated into quality of life improvements as a result of their inter dependencies with cities focusing on the critical arenas of employment change housing and service provision In doing so it investigates how change in these three fields impact on the quality of life and physical environment of rural hinterlands Norwich Since 1550 Carole Rawcliffe,2004-11-01 Norwich remained the second largest city in England until the eighteenth century Its history over the last 450 years is one of exceptional interest Norwich since 1550 is a full account of the post medieval history of the city and covers all aspects of Norwich life including its population housing churches and chapels politics work education arts architecture and medical care It brings out Norwich's individuality and shows how it became the city it is today While Norwich changed and developed in many ways over the centuries its textiles could not compete with those of the northern boom towns of the Industrial Revolution Instead it found a role as a regional and banking capital 'Whither regional studies?' Andy Pike,2013-09-13 Regional studies are at a vibrant conjuncture Regions continue to provide a conceptual and analytical focus for often overlapping concerns with economic social political cultural and ecological change In the context of increased interest in inter and multi disciplinary approaches regions remain an arena in which synthesis across disciplines economics geography planning politics and sociology can take place Yet recent work has raised fundamental questions about how we think about and research regions and regional change development governance and regulation First emergent conceptual ideas have introduced new thinking about space place and scale that interprets regions as unbounded relational spaces This work has disturbed notions of regions as bounded territories and questioned hierarchical systems of scale through more complex multi scalar approaches Second research methodology has grown in sophistication and sensitivity but remains somewhat polarised between the binaries of positivist often quantitative and more theoretically diverse typically qualitative approaches Last regional governance policy and politics are wrestling with the conceptual methodological and political complexities of new modes and geographies of governance and emergent multi agent and multi level institutional architectures This book brings together important voices in regional studies to contribute to and reflect upon these current issues and debates While we are at an early stage in beginning to think through what such conceptual theoretical methodological governance policy and political innovations and developments mean for regional studies the magnitude and resonance of such issues underpin the vitality of research on the region This book was published as a special issue of Regional Studies Cities in Globalization Peter Taylor,Ben Derudder,Pieter Saey,Frank Witlox,2006-11-20 Despite traditionally being a strong research topic in urban studies inter city relations had become grossly neglected until recently when it was placed back on the research agenda with the advent of studies of world global cities More recently the external relations of cities have taken their place alongside internal relations within cities to constitute the full nature of cities This collection of essays on how and why cities are connecting to each other in a globalizing world provides evidence for a new city centered geography that is emerging in the twenty first century Cities in Globalization covers four key themes beginning with the different ways of measuring a world city network ranging from analyses of corporate structures to airline passenger flows Second is the recent European advances in studying urban systems which are compared to the Anglo American city networks approach These chapters add conceptual vigour to traditional themes and provide findings on European cities in globalization Thirdly the political implications of these new geographies of flows are considered in a variety of contexts the localism of city planning specialist political world cities and the war on terror Finally there are a series of chapters that critically review the state of our knowledge on contemporary relations between cities in globalization Cities in Globalization provides an up to date assembly of leading American and European researchers reporting their ideas on the critical issue of how cities are faring in contemporary globalization and is highly illustrated throughout with over forty figures and tables
